Union Head Sees Steel Settlement Before Weekend

Talks Believed In Final Stage

NEW YORK, July 26 (AP) — A settlement of the 26-day-old steel strike before this weekend was predicted today by David J. McDonald, president of the United Steelworkers of America.

He made the prediction during a recess in meetings between union and industry representatives and after reports that the negotiators were having trouble with contract language. The broad outlines of the contract are known to have been hammered out.

There had been hope of a settlement today. McDonald had summoned the union's executive board and wage policy committee for meetings, but the meetings were postponed until tomorrow.

Steel Price Boost Seen

McDonald was asked specifically if he expected a settlement of the strike before the weekend.

"I think so," he replied.

Then he said he believed the settlement would be "noninflationary" and would be in the best interests of labor, management and the country. He said he expected the settlement would result in "substantial" price increases in steel.

McDonald's comments came after negotiators had met from 9:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. and then recessed until 4:30 p.m. They recessed again at 7:50 p.m., announcing they would meet again tomorrow at 9:30.

50-Cent Hourly Package

As the negotiators emerged from the morning meeting John A. Stephens of U. S. Steel, the industry's number one negotiator, was asked if there was any significance in the apparent delay of final settlement.

"It just means we have not concluded an agreement," he said.

The reported pact, covering 650,000 steelworkers, is said to contain a 50-cent hourly package increase spread over a 3-year period. From 20 to 25 cents of this would be given in the first year—9 cents as direct wages, 5 cents toward a 52-week layoff pay plan, and the balance for pensions, insurance, premium pay for Sunday and other benefits.

House Approves $3,766,570,000 Aid Compromise

WASHINGTON, July 26 (AP)—The House accepted a compromise version of the foreign aid bill today. The bill appropriates $3,766,570,000 for the program during the fiscal year which began July 1.

House passage came on a voice vote, after which the legislation went to the Senate for expected speedy approval.

A few House members complained that the amounts agreed on yesterday by a Senate-House Conference Committee were still too large. Rep. Gross (R-Iowa), said there shouldn't be any new money voted when the administration still has large sums unspent from various appropriations.

President Eisenhower asked originally for about five billion dollars to carry the mutual security program through another 12 months.

Congress made deep cuts in his requests, but nevertheless the compromise bill is a billion dollars higher than last year's appropriation.

The new money will be spent for military and economic aid to foreign nations. A main aim of the program is to prevent expansion of Soviet communism.

A Senate amendment, made part of the compromise, bans the use of any of the new funds for military aid to Communist Yugoslavia, although economic assistance is allowed. Sponsors of the amendment contended Yugoslavia is friendlier to Russia than to this country.

As the bill reached the Senate, Sen. Ellender (D-La) announced he will leave shortly for the Near East and Asia to see for himself how foreign aid is being administered.

Mail Rate Hike Bill Is Shelved

WASHINGTON, July 26 (AP) — A bill to increase postal rates was ditched today until next year.

A five-man Senate Post Office subcommittee decided unanimously it could not complete hearings on the measure in time for action before adjournament.

The bill, requested by the Eisenhower administration and passed by the House, would have raised the letter rate to four cents and boosted other rates as well.

President Eisenhower and Postmaster General Summerfield urged the increases, totaling about 430 million dollars a year, to end a chronic deficit in post office operations.

Chairman Olin D. Johnston (D-SC) announced the subcommittee would take up the question again early next year in the new Congress. Other members of the subcommittee this year are Scott (D-NC), Laird, (D-WVa), Carlson (R-Kan) and Langer (R-ND).

When the subcommittee shut off hearings, it still had nine witnesses on today's schedule and dozens of other requests to testify later. Most of the opposition came from critics of proposed increases in second-class newspapers and magazines, and third-class advertising circulars.

Huge Navy Blimp Burns After Hit By Lightning Bolt

BRUNSWICK, Ga., July 26 (AP)—Lightning struck one of the Navy's new huge blimps and the craft was quickly burned to a crisp.

The bolt ignited some 1,000 gallons of gasoline just placed aboard the 285-foot long craft for a night training flight.

The blimp parked on the landing strip at the Glynco Naval Air Station here with two men aboard and a pilot outside directing a ballasting operation. The men escaped with only a minor injury to one.

The airship was inflated with helium, which does not burn, but the flames from the gasoline quickly consumed the fabric of the bag, allowing the gas to escape.

The lightning struck during a heavy rainstorm. It was the first such loss recorded at the station, a center for naval blimp operations.

Officer Swears McKeon Sober Night Of March

PARRIS ISLAND, S.C. July 26 (AP)—S.Sgt. Matthew C. McKeon today was cleared of any taint of drunkenness on the April 8 death march of his recruit platoon. Shortly thereafter, the prosecution rested its case.

The end of prosecution testimony came at 3:53 p.m. after 36 witnesses had been heard. The court-martial of McKeon for the drowning of six recruits in a night march into Ribbon Creek began July 16 in a school building converted into a court house.

After the prosecution wound up, the court-martial was adjourned until Monday to allow the defense to make another of its weekend mystery trips out of town. Then the defense is scheduled to call the first of its more than 30 witnesses.

Doctor Reverses Finding

Earlier, a medical officer swore not once but several times that McKeon was sober an hour after he led the death march of Platoon 71.

Dr. Robert J. Atcheson, 27, of Memphis, Tenn., reversed a previous finding of "possible intoxication." He testified any suggestion the sergeant was drunk could not be borne out medically.

The prosecution, for the first time, had raised the possibility yesterday that McKeon may have been floundering around drunk at the head of his platoon.

"My opinion was that Sgt. McKeon was not clinically (by medical testing standards) drunk, intoxicated or under the influence of alcohol," said Dr. Atcheson, a sandy-haired, bespectacled Navy doctor with 14 months active medical experience.

Statement Repeated

He repeated the statement in different form several times.

McKeon is charged with manslaughter, oppression of recruits and drinking on duty. If convicted, he can be dishonorably discharged and imprisoned for about six years.

Defense attorney Emile Zola Berman contends McKeon was sober and using accepted Parris Island tactics in marching an undisciplined platoon into the creek. The sergeant said after his arrest he had taken three or four drinks of vodka during the afternoon before the march.

'Taking Back What's Ours,' Nasser Says

British Reaction To Natiqnalization Decree Is Awaited

ALEXANDRIA, Egypt, July 26 (AP) — Egypt is seizing the Suez Canal under a nationalization decree, President Gamal Abdel Nasser announced tonight.

Its revenues will be used to build the Aswan Dam, he said.

Nasser declared his government through taking over the canal could receive 100 million dollars a year in revenue.

"We don't have to seek American and British aid for building our dam," he said. "We'll build the dam ourselves and with our own money."

The dam has been projected to cost $1,130,000,000.

Eden Calls Emergency Talks

In London, Prime Minister Eden called in the U.S. Charge d'affaires and the French Ambassador for emergency talks.

The 101-mile canal is operated by the Suez Canal Co., under a concession due to expire in 1968. Th company is an Egyptian joint-stock company. The British government holds about 350,000 of its 800,000 shares. Half its board of directors is made up of Frenchmen.

British armed forces occupied the Suez Canal zone for 74 years, but withdrew gradually over the last few years.

"Taking Back What Is Ours"

Nasser said Britain and America together had offered, prior to their withdrawal, 70 million dollars toward construction of the project to harness the Nile River at Aswan.

"In five years, we will be able to acquire 500 million dollars after nationalization," he added.

Nasser said the nationalization decree has been published in today's Official Gazette and is therefore law.

"Egyptian officials are now taking over the company," he added. "We are taking back what is rightfully ours. The Suez Canal was dug by Egyptian workers with Egyptian money."

Hammarskjold Reminds Israel, Jordan Of Truce

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., July 26 (AP) — Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold has directed a new appeal to Israel and Jordan to observe the cease-fire along their frontier, his headquarters here disclosed today.

He sent a message from Geneva that he is flying to New York immediately to take a hand in trying to ease tension built up by a succession of Arab-Israeli incidents.

An Israeli spokesman in Jerusalem today reported two new incidents along the Jordan-Israeli border. He said an Israeli border patrol killed a man trying to cross from Israel into Jordan who failed to halt when challenged. In the other incident an Israeli aircraft flying west of Jerusalem was forced down by fire from Jordanian territory last night. The crew escaped unhurt.

Maj. Gen. E. L. M. Burns, U.N. truce supervisor in Palestine, conferred in the Jordan sector of Jerusalem with Maj. Gen. Ali Abu Nawar, chief of staff of the Jordan army. Earlier Nawar and King Hussein visited Beit Surik village near Jerusalem where Jordan and Israeli forces clashed yesterday. Nine Jordanians—five soldiers, one officer and three civilians—were wounded.

Iran Flood Toll Soars

TEHRAN, Iran, July 26 (AP)—The unofficial death toll from floods in central, southern and eastern Iran rose today to 302. Authorities expressed fear the count might go higher still.

More than 17,000 persons were reported homeless.

Stassen Halts Nixon Attack For New Poll

WASHINGTON, July 26 (AP) — Harold E. Stassen came out of a meeting with Republican National Chairman Leonard Hall today and announced he would "re-evaluate the facts" behind his dump-Nixon drive.

For that purpose, Stassen said, a new, nationwide poll will be taken next week to get a fresh test of public sentiment on a GOP vice presidential candidate. Until the results are in he indicated he will take no more pot shots at Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

Stassen Backs Herter

Stassen has called on Republicans to nominate Gov. Christian Herter of Massachusetts as President Eisenhower's running mate instead of Nixon. GOP Chairman Hall countered this Stassen move by lining up Herter to place Nixon in nomination for a second term.

Stassen has said he is in favor of dumping Nixon on the basis of previous polls paid for by himself and some unidentified associates. Preliminary results of these polls, Stassen said, show Nixon running last in a field of eight potential candidates.

Stassen had breakfast with Hall this morning, meeting him face to face for the first time since he jolted Republican leaders by demanding Nixon be sidetracked in favor of Herter.

Poll Discussed With Hall

"It is now my intention to take a new nationwide poll next week to carefully re-evaluate the facts involved," Stassen said. "It will be taken by a professional polling organization, on a scientific sample basis."

Stassen, Eisenhower's disarmament aide, did not disclose who suggested the new poll. But he said he had discussed it with Hall. He declined to give Hall's reaction other than to say the GOP chief offered no suggestions.

"No commitments were requested or given by either of us," Stassen said.

Hall is a Nixon man, as are most of the other Republican leaders.

$1,825 Winner Is $4,175 Loser

Rooney told detectives he went to the track with his "nest egg" of $6,000. He made one $500 bet and won the $1,825, then started home with the $6,000 in $100 bills tucked in an inside coat pocket and the $1,825 in a pants pocket.

As he pushed his way through a crowd at the railroad station here, he was jostled and instinctively reached for his wallet in his coat pocket. He was too late. The wallet and the $6,000 were gone. Still safe in his other pocket was his $1,825 winnings.

Edward Fox Heads Coal Operator Group

WASHINGTON, July 26 (AP)—Edward G. Fox, chief contract negotiator for the hard coal industry, has been chosen president of the Bituminous Coal Operators Assn., the Evening Star said today.

The presidency of the association has been vacant since April, when Harry M. Moses died.

The Star said Fox was chosen for the position by George Love, president of Pittsburgh-Consolidation Coal Co.; Ben Moreell, chairman of Jones & Laughlin Steel Co., and Charles J. Potter, president of Rochester & Pittsburgh Coal Co. The three were appointed a committee to choose a successor to Moses.

Social Security Measure Given House Approval

WASHINGTON, July 26 (AP)—The House passed and sent to the Senate today a compromise Social Security bill allowing qualified women to draw retirement benefits at age 62 and disabled workers to receive payments at age 50.

The House acted by voice vote and without debate.

The bill is a compromise of differing measures previously passed by the Senate and House.

It calls for an increase of one-half of one per cent in payroll taxes of employers and employes effective Jan. 1, 1957.

The tax will apply to the first $4,200 of annual income.

The additional ½ of one per cent will be divided between employers and employes. That is, each will pay ¼ of one per cent.

For the worker earning $4,200, it means his annual tax will be $94.50 instead of $84 at at present. His employer will also pay $94.50. So the Social Security System will receive $189 a year for "coverage" of the worker.

Payments to the disabled are an addition.

The bill makes no changes in the present requirement that men cannot normally receive benefits until they are 65.

The maximum benefit age for women now is 65, which was fixed in the original law enacted in 1935.

For the first time since the law was inacted, osteopaths will be included in coverage. Senate House conferees added them in a last-minute move. However, doctors still are excluded from coverage.

Andrea Doria Passengers Charge Crew Negligence

NEW YORK, July 26 — (INS) — The rusty cargo ship Cape Ann pulled heavily into the ill-starred Andrea Doria's Hudson River pier today, laden with 129 exhausted, injured, angry passengers.

Blasting its horns raucously, the first rescue ship to reach the stricken luxury liner returned to safety 20 hours after the Andrea Doria collided with the Stockholm.

Ninety of the persons who were taken from the sinking liner onto the Cape Ann presented to reporters a statement all had signed, charging "complete negligence on the part of the crew and officers" toward their safety.

The passengers' statement said: "We, the undersigned, survivors of the 'Andrea Doria', who were picked up by the SS Cape Ann of New York, feel impelled to present the facts we witnessed prior to and during the disaster which occurred July 25th and 26th.

"It is our intent to show that there existed a state of complete negligence on the part of the crew and officers towards its obligations and responsibilities to the safety of the passengers of the ship."

The statement said that "when disaster struck at 11:22 p. m., no alarm of any sort was sounded and no instructions were received by loudspeaker or word of mouth by crewmembers."

The petition declared that passengers "on the impact of the collision and at the reversal of the motors" rushed to muster stations—as they had been drilled to do the day before—and found no crew members present. They then rushed to lifeboats and "waited for instructions which never came."

Ship Survivors Reach Port With Tales Of Heroism, Tragedy In Dead Of Night

NEW YORK, July 26 (AP) — The liner Ile de France brought 760 survivors of the sunken Andrea Doria safely to port today, hardly more than 12 hours after plucking them from the grip of death at sea.

And with the stately rescue ship, as she moved through a tumultuous, sometimes cheering, sometimes tearful welcome, came tales of heroism and stark tragedy in the dead of night.

In the French vessel's infirmary were more than 30 of the injured survivors.

One survivor reported that Camille Cianfarra, the New York Times' chief correspondent in Spain, had perished with his two children in the crash.

In the infirmary also was Cianfarra's wife, Jane.

Dr. T. S. Peterson of Upper Montclair, N.J., reported the deaths of the Cianfarras.

Then Dr. Peterson sadly added that his own wife had died in the midnight, fog-shrouded collision between the Doria and the Swedish liner Stockholm.

The Petersons and the Cianfarras had occupied adjoining cabins.

The welcome given the French liner befitted a rescuer in the great sea collision.

Outbound from New York yesterday, she had been one of the first to reach the stricken vessels south of Nantucket Island, off Massachusetts.

Nearly all of the Doria's 1,600 passengers and crew were saved by the Ile and other ships.

As the Ile de France steamed through the harbor, returning from a miracle rescue that probably will rank as the greatest in history, harbor craft large and small sounded a frenzied greeting. The noise of welcome found echo in the throats of thousands who jammed the Hudson River pier at which the Ile docked at 5:35 p.m.

Slowly the survivors streamed off the ship toward the arms of friends and relatives.

And with them came tales of tragedy to wring the heart.

His wife, Dr. Peterson said, was crushed to death in the collision, and he was unable to free her.

"She went down with the ship," he said.

Peterson then went next door and discovered the Cianfarras' plight. Mrs. Cianfarra had been pinned down by broken timbers. It took hours before Peterson and crewmen could free her. Her legs probably were broken, he said.

Mayor Richardson Dilworth of Philadelphia was among the returning survivors.

The tall, deeply tanned mayo was coming back with his wif

Five Dead, 50 Unaccounted For In Sinking

Many Of Survivors Injured; Cause Of Collision Mystery

NEW YORK, July 26 (AP)—Italy's pride of the seas, the 30,000-ton luxury liner Andrea Doria, sank today in the Atlantic after an unexplained collision with the Swedish liner Stockholm. A Herculean rescue operation saved most of the 1,709 persons aboard the Italian vessel.

There were five known dead and many injured in the collision of the two transatlantic ships in dense fog at 11:20 last night, 45 miles south of Nantucket off the coast of Massachusetts.

About 50 persons were still missing and unaccounted for, but Coast Guardsmen said there may have been an error in the count.

The Andrea Doria, inbound from Mediterranean ports, and the Stockholm, outbound from New York for Europe, were traveling the Great Circle route when they crashed. The Stockholm, although severely damaged, picked up 533 survivors and limped back to New York.

Ships Radar-Equipped

Cause of the collision was a mystery. Both ships were equipped with radar.

Meanwhile, in Washington, Rep. Bonner (D-NC), chairman of the House Merchant Marine Committee, called on the U.S. Coast Guard for an investigation of the crash.

Bonner said reports available so far indicate that "the supposed safeguards of the lives of passengers embodied in radar and ship design and compartmentation may be insufficient."

"If this be so," Bonner said, "we must take immediate steps to determine and cure their shortcomings to avoid such future casualties which might result in great loss of life."

More than a score of stretcher cases were carried off the Ile de France after it docked in New York with its throng of shaken, survivors. Many of them were cut or bruised, their faces haggard from tension.

Awesome Rescue Operation

The collision occurred in darkness and fog, touching off one of the most awesome rescue undertakings in sea history.

While confusion and peril reigned aboard the crippled Andrea Doria, a fleet of mercy vessels—military and merchant craft—converged on the scene.

At 11:09 a.m. today, about 11 hours after the crash, the 29-million-dollar Andrea Doria was swallowed by the sea.

In the fear-filled interim, the throng of frantic passengers, many of them awakened from sleep and only partially dressed, crawled up the slanting decks and got down swaying nets to lifeboats sent to the ship's side.

The Andrea Doria was listing so badly she was able to launch only a few lifeboats.

Nuns Hurled From Bunks

"Everybody was screaming and yelling," said Valerio Monestera, a Moroccan newspaper man. "I slid down in darkness not knowing where—and then my feet touched something—it was a lifeboat."

A group of Catholic nuns, among the survivors, said they were asleep when the impact hurled them from their bunks. The same thing happened to Philadelphia Mayor Richardson Dilworth and his wife.

"We put on life jackets and crawled to the boat deck," he said.

The ship was listing so heavily, passengers had to crawl on their hands and knees through the corridors and up the decks before they could get over the side, he said.

Legs of several of the injured survivors were in casts as they were carried ashore in New York to a waiting fleet of ambulances. Some had bandages about their heads. Many wept. Some stood silently in their hurriedly donned, mismatched clothing.

"I still don't believe it happened," said Betsy Drake, actress wife of actor Cary Grant.

Doctor Reverses Finding

Earlier, a medical officer swore not once but several times that McKeon was sober an hour after he led the death march of Platoon 71.

Dr. Robert J. Atcheson, 27, of Memphis, Tenn., reversed a previous finding of "possible intoxication." He testified any suggestion the sergeant was drunk could not be borne out medically.

The prosecution, for the first time, had raised the possibility yesterday that McKeon may have been floundering around drunk at the head of his platoon.

"My opinion was that Sgt. McKeon was not clinically (by medical testing standards) drunk, intoxicated or under the influence of alcohol," said Dr. Atcheson, a sandy-haired, bespectacled Navy doctor with 14 months active medical experience.

Statement Repeated

He repeated the statement in different form several times.

McKeon is charged with manslaughter, oppression of recruits and drinking on duty. If convicted, he can be dishonorably discharged and imprisoned for about six years.

Defense attorney Emile Zola Berman contends McKeon was sober and using accepted Parris Island tactics in marching an undisciplined platoon into the creek. The sergeant said after his arrest he had taken three or four drinks of vodka during the afternoon before the march.

'Taking Back What's Ours,' Nasser Says

British Reaction To Natiqnalization Decree Is Awaited

ALEXANDRIA, Egypt, July 26 (AP) — Egypt is seizing the Suez Canal under a nationalization decree, President Gamal Abdel Nasser announced tonight.

Its revenues will be used to build the Aswan Dam, he said.

Nasser declared his government through taking over the canal could receive 100 million dollars a year in revenue.

"We don't have to seek American and British aid for building our dam," he said. "We'll build the dam ourselves and with our own money."

The dam has been projected to cost $1,130,000,000.

Eden Calls Emergency Talks

In London, Prime Minister Eden called in the U.S. Charge d'affaires and the French Ambassador for emergency talks.

The 101-mile canal is operated by the Suez Canal Co., under a concession due to expire in 1968. Th company is an Egyptian joint-stock company. The British government holds about 350,000 of its 800,000 shares. Half its board of directors is made up of Frenchmen.

British armed forces occupied the Suez Canal zone for 74 years, but withdrew gradually over the last few years.

"Taking Back What Is Ours"

Nasser said Britain and America together had offered, prior to their withdrawal, 70 million dollars toward construction of the project to harness the Nile River at Aswan.

"In five years, we will be able to acquire 500 million dollars after nationalization," he added.

Nasser said the nationalization decree has been published in today's Official Gazette and is therefore law.

"Egyptian officials are now taking over the company," he added. "We are taking back what is rightfully ours. The Suez Canal was dug by Egyptian workers with Egyptian money."

Hammarskjold Reminds Israel, Jordan Of Truce

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., July 26 (AP) — Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold has directed a new appeal to Israel and Jordan to observe the cease-fire along their frontier, his headquarters here disclosed today.

He sent a message from Geneva that he is flying to New York immediately to take a hand in trying to ease tension built up by a succession of Arab-Israeli incidents.

An Israeli spokesman in Jerusalem today reported two new incidents along the Jordan-Israeli border. He said an Israeli border patrol killed a man trying to cross from Israel into Jordan who failed to halt when challenged. In the other incident an Israeli aircraft flying west of Jerusalem was forced down by fire from Jordanian territory last night. The crew escaped unhurt.

Maj. Gen. E. L. M. Burns, U.N. truce supervisor in Palestine, conferred in the Jordan sector of Jerusalem with Maj. Gen. Ali Abu Nawar, chief of staff of the Jordan army. Earlier Nawar and King Hussein visited Beit Surik village near Jerusalem where Jordan and Israeli forces clashed yesterday. Nine Jordanians—five soldiers, one officer and three civilians—were wounded.

Iran Flood Toll Soars

TEHRAN, Iran, July 26 (AP)—The unofficial death toll from floods in central, southern and eastern Iran rose today to 302. Authorities expressed fear the count might go higher still.

More than 17,000 persons were reported homeless.

"Is the world round?" the teacher asked the boy.

"No, ma'm."

"Is it flat, then?"

"No, ma'm."

"Are you crazy, child? If it isn't round and it isn't flat what is it?"

"Pop says it's crooked."

Stassen Halts Nixon Attack For New Poll

WASHINGTON, July 26 (AP) — Harold E. Stassen came out of a meeting with Republican National Chairman Leonard Hall today and announced he would "re-evaluate the facts" behind his dump-Nixon drive.

For that purpose, Stassen said, a new, nationwide poll will be taken next week to get a fresh test of public sentiment on a GOP vice presidential candidate. Until the results are in he indicated he will take no more pot shots at Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

Stassen Backs Herter

Stassen has called on Republicans to nominate Gov. Christian Herter of Massachusetts as President Eisenhower's running mate instead of Nixon. GOP Chairman Hall countered this Stassen move by lining up Herter to place Nixon in nomination for a second term.

Stassen has said he is in favor of dumping Nixon on the basis of previous polls paid for by himself and some unidentified associates. Preliminary results of these polls, Stassen said, show Nixon running last in a field of eight potential candidates.

Stassen had breakfast with Hall this morning, meeting him face to face for the first time since he jolted Republican leaders by demanding Nixon be sidetracked in favor of Herter.

Poll Discussed With Hall

"It is now my intention to take a new nationwide poll next week to carefully re-evaluate the facts involved," Stassen said. "It will be taken by a professional polling organization, on a scientific sample basis."

Stassen, Eisenhower's disarmament aide, did not disclose who suggested the new poll. But he said he had discussed it with Hall. He declined to give Hall's reaction other than to say the GOP chief offered no suggestions.

"No commitments were requested or given by either of us," Stassen said.

Hall is a Nixon man, as are most of the other Republican leaders.

$1,825 Winner Is $4,175 Loser

Rooney told detectives he went to the track with his "nest egg" of $6,000. He made one $500 bet and won the $1,825, then started home with the $6,000 in $100 bills tucked in an inside coat pocket and the $1,825 in a pants pocket.

As he pushed his way through a crowd at the railroad station here, he was jostled and instinctively reached for his wallet in his coat pocket. He was too late. The wallet and the $6,000 were gone. Still safe in his other pocket was his $1,825 winnings.

Edward Fox Heads Coal Operator Group

WASHINGTON, July 26 (AP)—Edward G. Fox, chief contract negotiator for the hard coal industry, has been chosen president of the Bituminous Coal Operators Assn., the Evening Star said today.

The presidency of the association has been vacant since April, when Harry M. Moses died.

The Star said Fox was chosen for the position by George Love, president of Pittsburgh-Consolidation Coal Co.; Ben Moreell, chairman of Jones & Laughlin Steel Co., and Charles J. Potter, president of Rochester & Pittsburgh Coal Co. The three were appointed a committee to choose a successor to Moses.

Social Security Measure Given House Approval

WASHINGTON, July 26 (AP)—The House passed and sent to the Senate today a compromise Social Security bill allowing qualified women to draw retirement benefits at age 62 and disabled workers to receive payments at age 50.

The House acted by voice vote and without debate.

The bill is a compromise of differing measures previously passed by the Senate and House.

It calls for an increase of one-half of one per cent in payroll taxes of employers and employes effective Jan. 1, 1957.

The tax will apply to the first $4,200 of annual income.

The additional ½ of one per cent will be divided between employers and employes. That is, each will pay ¼ of one per cent.

For the worker earning $4,200, it means his annual tax will be $94.50 instead of $84 at at present. His employer will also pay $94.50. So the Social Security System will receive $189 a year for "coverage" of the worker.

Payments to the disabled are an addition.

The bill makes no changes in the present requirement that men cannot normally receive benefits until they are 65.

The maximum benefit age for women now is 65, which was fixed in the original law enacted in 1935.

For the first time since the law was inacted, osteopaths will be included in coverage. Senate House conferees added them in a last-minute move. However, doctors still are excluded from coverage.

Ship Survivors Reach Port With Tales Of Heroism, Tragedy In Dead Of Night

NEW YORK, July 26 (AP) — The liner Ile de France brought 760 survivors of the sunken Andrea Doria safely to port today, hardly more than 12 hours after plucking them from the grip of death at sea.

And with the stately rescue ship, as she moved through a tumultuous, sometimes cheering, sometimes tearful welcome, came tales of heroism and stark tragedy in the dead of night.

In the French vessel's infirmary were more than 30 of the injured survivors.

One survivor reported that Camille Cianfarra, the New York Times' chief correspondent in Spain, had perished with his two children in the crash.

Dr. T. S. Peterson of Upper Montclair, N.J., reported the deaths of the Cianfarras.

Then Dr. Peterson sadly added that his own wife had died in the midnight, fog-shrouded collision between the Doria and the Swedish liner Stockholm.

The Petersons and the Cianfarras had occupied adjoining cabins.

The welcome given the French liner befitted a rescuer in the great sea collision.

Outbound from New York yesterday, she had been one of the first to reach the stricken vessels south of Nantucket Island, off Massachusetts.

Nearly all of the Doria's 1,600 passengers and crew were saved by the Ile and other ships.

As the Ile de France steamed through the harbor, returning from a miracle rescue that probably will rank as the greatest in history, harbor craft large and small sounded a frenzied greeting. The noise of welcome found echo in the throats of thousands who jammed the Hudson River pier at which the Ile docked at 5:35 p.m.

Slowly the survivors streamed off the ship toward the arms of friends and relatives.

And with them came tales of tragedy to wring the heart.

His wife, Dr. Peterson said, was crushed to death in the collision, and he was unable to free her.

"She went down with the ship," he said.

Peterson then went next door and discovered the Cianfarras' plight. Mrs. Cianfarra had been pinned down by broken timbers. It took hours before Peterson and crewmen could free her. Her legs probably were broken, he said.

Mayor Richardson Dilworth of Philadelphia was among the returning survivors.

The tall, deeply tanned mayor was coming back with his wife

Many Of Survivors Injured; Cause Of Collision Mystery

NEW YORK, July 26 (AP)—Italy's pride of the seas, the 30,000-ton luxury liner Andrea Doria, sank today in the Atlantic after an unexplained collision with the Swedish liner Stockholm. A Herculean rescue operation saved most of the 1,709 persons aboard the Italian vessel.

There were five known dead and many injured in the collision of the two transatlantic ships in dense fog at 11:20 last night, 45 miles south of Nantucket off the coast of Massachusetts.

About 50 persons were still missing and unaccounted for, but Coast Guardsmen said there may have been an error in the count.

The Andrea Doria, inbound from Mediterranean ports, and the Stockholm, outbound from New York for Europe, were traveling the Great Circle route when they crashed. The Stockholm, although severely damaged, picked up 533 survivors and limped back to New York.

Ships Radar-Equipped

Cause of the collision was a mystery. Both ships were equipped with radar.

Meanwhile, in Washington, Rep. Bonner (D-NC), chairman of the House Merchant Marine Committee, called on the U.S. Coast Guard for an investigation of the crash.

Bonner said reports available so far indicate that "the supposed safeguards of the lives of passengers embodied in radar and ship design and compartmentation may be insufficient."

"If this be so," Bonner said, "we must take immediate steps to determine and cure their shortcomings to avoid such future casualties which might result in great loss of life."

More than a score of stretcher cases were carried off the Ile de France after it docked in New York with its throng of shaken, survivors. Many of them were cut or bruised, their faces haggard from tension.

Awesome Rescue Operation

The collision occurred in darkness and fog, touching off one of the most awesome rescue undertakings in sea history.

While confusion and peril reigned aboard the crippled Andrea Doria, a fleet of mercy vessels—military and merchant craft—converged on the scene.

At 11:09 a.m. today, about 11 hours after the crash, the 29-million-dollar Andrea Doria was swallowed by the sea.

In the fear-filled interim, the throng of frantic passengers, many of them awakened from sleep and only partially dressed, crawled up the slanting decks and got down swaying nets to lifeboats sent to the ship's side.

The Andrea Doria was listing so badly she was able to launch only a few lifeboats.

Nuns Hurled From Bunks

"Everybody was screaming and yelling," said Valerio Monestera, a Moroccan newspaper man. "I slid down in darkness not knowing where—and then my feet touched something—it was a lifeboat."

A group of Catholic nuns, among the survivors, said they were asleep when the impact hurled them from their bunks. The same thing happened to Philadelphia Mayor Richardson Dilworth and his wife.

"We put on life jackets and crawled to the boat deck," he said.

The ship was listing so heavily, passengers had to crawl on their hands and knees through the corridors and up the decks before they could get over the side, he said.

Legs of several of the injured survivors were in casts as they were carried ashore in New York to a waiting fleet of ambulances. Some had bandages about their heads. Many wept. Some stood silently in their hurriedly donned, mismatched clothing.

"I still don't believe it happened," said Betsy Drake, actress wife of actor Cary Grant.

Ike Can't Play Golf For 'Few Weeks Yet'

WASHINGTON, July 26 (AP) — President Eisenhower said today it will be "a few weeks yet" before his doctors will let him resume golf.

The President made the remark to representatives of Boys' Nation, gathered in the White House rose garden. The youngsters come here from all over the country every year to see government in operation.

Newsman Watches Liner Go To Bottom

Editor's Note—A pool reporter flew over the scene of the collision of the Andrea Doria and the Stockholm in a Coast Guard plane. Here is his story.

By EDWARD MCCARTHY

NEW YORK, July 26 (AP) — We hugged the shore line of Long Island until we arrived at Nantucket. The ships in distress were located without any trouble and at 9:50 a.m. we circled over the scene. We noted that the Andrea Doria was listing 45 degrees on her starboard side with her bow partially submerged, the water line up to the main deck.

The photographers took their pictures and we made a three-mile circle of the area. The second time we went over the Andrea Doria, about five minutes later, the list had increased to about 65 degrees. The Stockholm was about three miles away and around the Stockholm was about a mile-square area of oil slick.

The entire area of three miles was littered with debris. Three lifeboats drifted empty and aimlessly. In the area we could make out two destroyer escorts, four Coast Guard cutters and one merchant ship. They were some distance from the Andrea Doria.

We circled the ship a third time. It was about 10 a.m. She was now on her side, apparently just sinking. We could see six lifeboats ripped loose and floating freely. We saw huge geysers coming from the sides of the ship; apparently the air pressure had blown out the portholes.

Debris was blown high in the air. She keeled over and we could see both screws free of the water. In our fourth pass over the ship at 10:10 a.m., the ship had turned turtle. Her nose was forward in the water with her stern completely out of the water. She hung on for three or four minutes and then disappeared.

The force of the suction caused a tremendous whirlpool and, with it, debris poured out and to the surface from the whirlpool. For about 15 minutes, this suction continued, changing the water into varied colors—a million different colors.

We watched and then made our way to the Stockholm which had begun to move. We could see numbers of passengers on the deck and we could see her bow. It appeared to have been struck by a bomb.

Monroney Raps Treasury Chief

WASHINGTON, July 26 (AP) — A demand that Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey quit a political campaign post or leave the Cabinet was made in the Senate today by Sen. Monroney (D-Okla).

Monroney said Humphrey had shown "poor political judment" in taking a job as chairman of the campaign committee for re-election of Sen. Bender (R-Ohio).

Anyone with his "great power" over banks and the banking business and direction over income tax agents "has no right to participate in a managerial capacity in a senatorial campaign," Monroney told the Senate.

Bender, in reply, said he resented any implication that Humphrey would use his Treasury office to influence the election. He said the only reason Humphrey took the campaign post is that he loves George Bender." He said Humphrey would have nothing to do with raising funds.

Humphrey, himself, was out of town and not immediately available for comment.

Bender is opposed in the Senate race by Frank J. Lausche, Democratic governor of Ohio.

Convicted Teen-Age Killer Wins Hearing

UPPER MARLBORO, Md., July 26 (AP) — Edward E. Marcionette, convicted teen-age killer, today won a hearing to determine whether he will serve his 18 year jail term or be confined in a mental institution.

Granting a defense motion in Prince Georges Circuit Court, Judge Charles Marbury set no date for the non-jury hearing.

Marcionette, who has been found "a defective delinquent" by a board of state psychiatrists, was convicted of murdering a youth who captured him after Marcionette had stolen a car that belonged to the victim's brother.

Government Intervenes In British Auto Strike

LONDON, July 26 (AP)—The government tonight moved to try to end the four-day-old strike of 22,000 workers against the British Motor Corp.

The ministry of labor announced the 15 unions involved in the strike and the Engineering and Allied Employers' National Federation, of which BMC is a member, would be invited to talks next week with Sir Wilfred Neden, chief industrial commissioner.

The strike protested dismissals of 6,000 workers in economy moves.

Twelve thousand men are out in a similar strike against Briggs Motor Bodies, a subsidiary of Ford.

Five Dead

ready for bed when the crash came and "part of the ceiling came down on us." He, like others, said there was no panic as passengers streamed topside.

A crowd of relatives and friends lined the New York dock as the survivors came ashore. "My baby! My baby!" screamed a woman as she spotted her daughter on the rescue ship.

Others alternately wept and embraced each other.

Survivors said a few lifeboats were lowered by the Andrea Doria although the Coast Guard had said the steep list made this impossible.

An officer said survivors may have seen lifeboats that broke loose when the ship was knocked askew.

In the fog-blanketed darkness, lifeboats from rescue craft moved to the side of the doomed ship, while passengers — women and children first — swarmed down her high port side.

Bubbles, Litter Mark Spot

A gurgling expanse of bubbles and litter marked the spot where the liner went down.

Only the swift, concerted rescue effort prevented a mass loss of life which could have surpassed the disastrous sinking of the Titanic in 1912 when 1,517 perished.

The collision ripped an enormous hole in the starboard side of the Andrea Doria and smashed the bow of the Stockholm like a flattened tin bucket.

The ship, a floating mansion of plush furnishings and modern equipment, had safety features in its structure supposed to make it almost unsinkable.

But where she went down, an observer from the air said "all there was were bubbles rising from the water" and a "lot of wreckage about and some overturned lifeboats."

It was the end of a night of peril and heroism.

Cussin' Mynah Bird Banished

DETROIT, July 26 (AP)—Blackie, the talking mynah bird, has been banished from the Detroit Children's Zoo until he cleans up his language.

Somewhere Blackie picked up some words that aren't fit for little ears. Frank McInnis, director of the zoo, said today the bird must have heard some workmen talking about their relatives.

"We don't know how long it will take to tone down his language, but he's coming along," McInnis said. "He doesn't use as many of those words any more."

from a five-week European vacation.

He was grim-faced as he met newsmen, but he spoke calmly.

"We turned in about ten o'clock. We were suddenly awakened and knocked to our feet. Anne said, 'We must have hit an iceberg — it's like the Titanic story.' There was an immediate bad list and when I opened the door to the hallway, there was heavy smoke.

"We put on our life jackets, crawled to the boat deck. There, six boats were being lowered. They couldn't get any more into the water. We went down a rope ladder as near as we could to the boats and hung on until the women and children were taken off the ship.

"About 4 a.m., we got into one of the last boats and at 5:30 we were aboard the Ile de France.

"The Ile de France was about a mile away."

He praised the passengers aboard the Andrea Doria, describing them as "wonderful" during the tragedy.

"The crew did a teriffic job," he said. He said he and his wife occupied an upper deck cabin about 60 or 70 feet from the impact of collision.

"There was no panic and very little crying or screaming," he said.

Convicted Teen-Age Killer Wins Hearing

UPPER MARLBORO, Md., July 26 (AP) — Edward E. Marcionette, convicted teen-age killer, today won a hearing to determine whether he will serve his 18 year jail term or be confined in a mental institution.

Granting a defense motion in Prince Georges Circuit Court, Judge Charles Marbury set no date for the non-jury hearing.

Marcionette, who has been found "a defective delinquent" by a board of state psychiatrists, was convicted of murdering a youth who captured him after Marcionette had stolen a car that belonged to the victim's brother.

Government Intervenes In British Auto Strike

LONDON, July 26 (AP)—The government tonight moved to try to end the four-day-old strike of 22,000 workers against the British Motor Corp.

The ministry of labor announced the 15 unions involved in the strike and the Engineering and Allied Employers' National Federation, of which BMC is a member, would be invited to talks next week with Sir Wilfred Neden, chief industrial commissioner.

The strike protested dismissals of 6,000 workers in economy moves.

Twelve thousand men are out in a similar strike against Briggs Motor Bodies, a subsidiary of Ford.

Five Dead

ready for bed when the crash came and "part of the ceiling came down on us." He, like others, said there was no panic as passengers streamed topside.

A crowd of relatives and friends lined the New York dock as the survivors came ashore. "My baby! My baby!" screamed a woman as she spotted her daughter on the rescue ship.

Others alternately wept and embraced each other.

Survivors said a few lifeboats were lowered by the Andrea Doria although the Coast Guard had said the steep list made this impossible.

An officer said survivors may have seen lifeboats that broke loose when the ship was knocked askew.

In the fog-blanketed darkness, lifeboats from rescue craft moved to the side of the doomed ship, while passengers — women and children first — swarmed down her high port side.

Bubbles, Litter Mark Spot

A gurgling expanse of bubbles and litter marked the spot where the liner went down.

Only the swift, concerted rescue effort prevented a mass loss of life which could have surpassed the disastrous sinking of the Titanic in 1912 when 1,517 perished.

The collision ripped an enormus hole in the starboard side of the Andrea Doria and smashed the bow of the Stockholm like a flattened tin bucket.

The ship, a floating mansion of plush furnishings and modern equipment, had safety features in its structure supposed to make it almost unsinkable.

But where she went down, an observer from the air said "all there was were bubbles rising from the water" and a "lot of wreckage about and some overturned lifeboats."

It was the end of a night of peril and heroism.

Cussin' Mynah Bird Banished

DETROIT, July 26 (AP)—Blackie, the talking mynah bird, has been banished from the Detroit Children's Zoo until he cleans up his language.

Somewhere Blackie picked up some words that aren't fit for little ears. Frank McInnis, director of the zoo, said today the bird must have heard some workmen talking about their relatives.

"We don't know how long it will take to tone down his language, but he's coming along," McInnis said. "He doesn't use as many of those words any more."

Ship Survivors

from a five-week European vacation.

He was grim-faced as he met newsmen, but he spoke calmly.

"We turned in about ten o'clock. We were suddenly awakened and knocked to our feet. Anne said, 'We must have hit an iceberg — it's like the Titanic story.' There was an immediate bad list and when I opened the door to the hallway, there was heavy smoke.

"We put on our life jackets, crawled to the boat deck. There, six boats were being lowered. They couldn't get any more into the water. We went down a rope ladder as near as we could to the boats and hung on until the women and children were taken off the ship.

"About 4 a.m., we got into one of the last boats and at 5:30 we were aboard the Ile de France.

"The Ile de France was about a mile away."

He praised the passengers aboard the Andrea Doria, describing them as "wonderful" during the tragedy.

"The crew did a teriffic job," he said. He said he and his wife occupied an upper deck cabin about 60 or 70 feet from the impact of collision.

"There was no panic and very little crying or screaming," he said.

Bethlehem Record

NEW YORK, July 26 (AP)—Bethlehem Steel Corp., the world's second largest steel maker, today reported record sales and production for the first six months of 1956.

Profits, however, failed to match the all-time high made in the second half of 1955.

Over 2,500 Russian Tourist Visas Issued To Americans

By STANLEY JOHNSON

MOSCOW, July 26 (AP)—The Soviet government this year has issued more than 2,500 tourist visas to Americans.

Informed sources reporting this figure today, indicated Russian tourist authorities regret they've given more than 1,500. They cited the strain the American influx has put on limited Soviet tourist facilities—used also by tourists and invited guests of other nationalities.

The number of Americans visiting the Soviet Union is at its highest point since the mid-30s when Leningrad was a point of call on some North Cape cruises. Tonight there were 300 transient U.S. citizens in this city alone. Scores of others are in other parts of the country.

Most of the Americans are traveling in groups. Restaurants of two of the capital's best hotels are reserved for them, to the anonyance of Moscow's permanent residents.

Many of the U.S. visitors say they are seriously interested in Soviet life. They eagerly seek information on conditions here not only from the local population but from resident foreigners as well.

The top sight-seeing attractions is the mausoleum of Lenin and Stalin. Visitors can see the bodies of the two Soviet leaders preserved in glass cases. The Kremlin also is a top attraction. Nearly all Americans visit the vast Agriculture Fair in the capital.

Most of the U.S. travelers visit Leningrad and some go considerably farther—to Central Asia, Black Sea resorts, Kiev, Kharkhov, etc.

Generally speaking the admission of American tourists seems to be psychologically successful from the Soviet point of view. Most of the Americans have expected to find things so bad that everything in the least bit good has impressed them.

The American tourists include all kinds of people—many of them business, social and economic leaders.

The Cosmos Travel Bureau in New York, one of the travel agencies engaged in the business of trips to the U.S.S.R., says it had handled approximately 1,000 journeys to the Soviet Union by Americans so far this year. An agency representative said that so far no visa requested by it had been refused outright. Some were held up so long that the persons requesting canceled their proposed trips.

The period of waiting, said the agency, runs from a few days up to "months." In general tourist agencies doing business with the U.S.S.R. advise prospective clients to allow from six weeks to two months. The Cosmos representative said that the speed of issuance of visas has recently improved.

Americans traveling to the Soviet Union purchase their trip tickets, including hotel space, transportation and meals, in dollars from the Soviet tourists monopoly Intourist at rates ranging from $10 to $30 daily plus tickets into and out of Russia. The $30 rate is reportedly crowding out the cheaper rates rapidly.

Travelers are largely limited to places where Intourist has facilities—about a dozen cities. To go to other cities travelers must have special permission which is not always given.

GI Misbehavior Furore Subsiding

STUTTGART, Germany, July 26 (AP)—The furore over GI misbehavior in Germany appeared to be subsiding today.

High German officials said joint American-German efforts seem to be paying off. Headquarters for U. S. Army troops in Europe reported at Heidelberg that today marked the first time in nine weeks no queries about incidents had been lodged by German or American newspapers.

Severe criticism in the German press and complaints by government officials prompted Gen. H. I. Hodes, head of U. S. troops in Europe, to impose a midnight curfew on all enlisted men.

Speeder Warned, Dead Quarter-Hour Later

RIVERSIDE, Calif., July 26 (AP)—Trooper E. H. Kenyon stopped an Air Force serviceman yesterday to warn him against speeding.

He said he reminded Airman 1.C. Jacobo T. Garcia, 22, "remember, you're dead a long time."

Fifteen minutes later Garcia was fatally injured when his automobile overturned into a field near here. He was from Las Alamos, N. M.

The earliest religion in India was a form of animism, the ancient Hindus believing in animal-gods and tree-gods.

The first reformatory in the United States was established in New York in 1824.

MAYOR, WIFE SURVIVE SHIP SINKING—Richardson Dilworth, mayor of Philadelphia, and his wife, who suffered a black eye during rescue operations on the Andrea Doria, are shown aboard the liner Ile de France as it arrived in New York yesterday. The Dilworths were on the incoming Andrea Doria, which collided with the liner Stockholm and sank off New England yesterday.

Pia Assured Funds For Education In U.S.

LOS ANGELES, July 26 (AP) — Actress Ingrid Bergman's 17-year-old daughter, Pia Lindstrom, today was assured of funds for an education at Stanford University.

Superior Court Judge Walter H. Odermar approved a petition to allow her $2,500 a year for education and $1,000 for an automobile while in school.

The money will come from a $20,000 trust fund. The petition was filed by Miss Lindstrom's father, Dr. Peter Lindstrom, divorced husband of the actress. Miss Bergman is now married to Roberto Rosselini, Italiam film director.

Cattle Rustler Sent To Prison For Three Years

BALTIMORE, July 26 (AP)—William D. Cole, 37, was sentenced to two years in federal prison yesterday for rounding up three cows from a Woodbine, Md., farm and selling them to a North Carolina slaughter house.

Cole admitted loading the cows on a truck after breaking down a fence on the farm of Howard C. Nicodemus in Howard County.

Asst. U.S. Atty. John H. Somerville said the cows included a prize brown Swiss, a Guernsey and a Holstein. They were sold for about $280 in Salisbury, N.C. The slaughterhouse owner recognized them as dairy cows and identified them by neck tags. They later were returned to Nicodemus.

Pearson "Best Man"

OTTAWA, July 26 (AP)—The Rockcliffe Lawn Tennis Club recently ran short of woman entries for a round robin tournament. Foreign Secretary L. B. Pearson of Canada was drafted, along with others to play in the women's section. He won the prize for best man in the women's list.

Over 2,500 Russian Tourist Visas Issued To Americans

By STANLEY JOHNSON

MOSCOW, July 26 (AP)—The Soviet government this year has issued more than 2,500 tourist visas to Americans.

Informed sources reporting this figure today, indicated Russian tourist authorities regret they've given more than 1,500. They cited the strain the American influx has put on limited Soviet tourist facilities—used also by tourists and invited guests of other nationalities.

The number of Americans visiting the Soviet Union is at its highest point since the mid-30s when Leningrad was a point of call on some North Cape cruises. Tonight there were 300 transient U.S. citizens in this city alone. Scores of others are in other parts of the country.

Most of the Americans are traveling in groups. Restaurants of two of the capital's best hotels are reserved for them, to the anonyance of Moscow's permanent residents.

Many of the U.S. visitors say they are seriously interested in Soviet life. They eagerly seek information on conditions here not only from the local population but from resident foreigners as well.

The top sight-seeing attractions is the mausoleum of Lenin and Stalin. Visitors can see the bodies of the two Soviet leaders preserved in glass cases. The Kremlin also is a top attraction. Nearly all Americans visit the vast Agriculture Fair in the capital.

Most of the U.S. travelers visit Leningrad and some go considerably farther—to Central Asia, Black Sea resorts, Kiev, Kharkhov, etc.

Generally speaking the admission of American tourists seems to be psychologically successful from the Soviet point of view. Most of the Americans have expected to find things so bad that everything in the least bit good has impressed them.

The American tourists include all kinds of people—many of them business, social and economic leaders.

The Cosmos Travel Bureau in New York, one of the travel agencies engaged in the business of trips to the U.S.S.R., says it had handled approximately 1,000 journeys to the Soviet Union by Americans so far this year. An agency representative said that so far no visa requested by it had been refused outright. Some were held up so long that the persons requesting canceled their proposed trips.

The period of waiting, said the agency, runs from a few days up to "months." In general tourist agencies doing business with the U.S.S.R. advise prospective clients to allow from six weeks to two months. The Cosmos representative said that the speed of issuance of visas has recently improved.

Americans traveling to the Soviet Union purchase their trip tickets, including hotel space, transportation and meals, in dollars from the Soviet tourists monopoly Intourist at rates ranging from $10 to $30 daily plus tickets into and out of Russia. The $30 rate is reportedly crowding out the cheaper rates rapidly.

Travelers are largely limited to places where Intourist nas facilities—about a dozen cities. To go to other cities travelers must have special permission which is not always given.

GI Misbehavior Furore Subsiding

STUTTGART, Germany, July 26 (AP)—The furore over GI misbehavior in Germany appeared to be subsiding today.

High German officials said joint American-German efforts seem to be paying off. Headquarters for U. S. Army troops in Europe reported at Heidelberg that today marked the first time in nine weeks no queries about incidents had been lodged by German or American newspapers.

Severe criticism in the German press and complaints by government officials prompted Gen. H. I. Hodes, head of U. S. troops in Europe, to impose a midnight curfew on all enlisted men.

Speeder Warned, Dead Quarter-Hour Later

RIVERSIDE, Calif., July 26 (AP)—Trooper E. H. Kenyon stopped an Air Force serviceman yesterday to warn him against speeding.

He said he reminded Airman I.C. Jacobo T. Garcia, 22, "remember, you're dead a long time."

Fifteen minutes later Garcia was fatally injured when his automobile overturned into a field near here. He was from Las Alamos, N. M.

The earliest religion in India was a form of animism, the ancient Hindus believing in animal-gods and tree-gods.

The first reformatory in the United States was established in New York in 1824.

By J. M. ROBERTS
Associated Press News Analyst

Nobody can read the speeches in Britain's foreign affairs debate this week without wondering whether Russia is making progress with her smile offensive.

Anthony Eden announced Britain would adopt a friendlier, more flexible attitude toward Russia.

Hugh Gaitskell, the Labor party leader, has accepted the theory that the hydrogen bomb has made a general war next to impossible.

Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd said there may be a trend toward freedom in Russia.

American officials have been swinging back and forth between expressions of hope and warnings against relaxation of defenses.

Both Britain and the United States profess to be in the midst of a reappraisal of policy in the light of developments in Russia.

Secretary Dulles has gone so far as to attribute changes in Russia to the pressures of Allied policy, and to express considerable hope.

He has pointed out, however, that the Kremlin is still occupied by the same people who worked with Stalin, that they show no signs of liberating the satellites, and that they have not produced proof of the sincerity of their smiles.

Indeed, recent asides by Nikita Khrushchev have done much to enhance long-standing doubts as to what goes on behind the smile.

Both Britain and the United States are moving to reduce their military manpower before the policy appraisals are complete. Part of this is based on basic military interpretations of atomic field weapons. Part of it is budgetary politics in both cases.

And part of it seems to be a risky interpretation of what the reappraisal will show when complete. Actually, these reappraisals are nothing more than keeping up with the times, a process which has been going on almost continually for years.

Both the United States and Britain are making plans for reduction of their forces in Europe, forces which were allotted as guarantees, especially between France and Germany, when Europe was persuaded to organize the Western European Union in lieu of a European Defense Community.

Eden was careful to point out that Britain's reappraisal was not a unilateral one, but was being made with her allies and within her alliances.

Cortes Route Retraced

MEXICO CITY, July 26 (AP)—Two young Americans have retraced on foot the tortuous 360-mile route taken by Hernan Cortes when he conquered Mexico with a handful of men 400 years ago. Daniel Gallagher, an agricultural student of Anacortes, Wash., and John Gregg a journalism student of Darnien, Conn., walked from Vera Cruz to Mexico City in 26 days. They plan to write a book.

U.S. Plans Exhibit Of American Life

WASHINGTON, July 26 (AP)—The State Department hopes to present an exhibit at the 1958 Worlds Fair in Brussels, Belgium, showing a broad panorama of American life.

Officials said today, however, that fulfillment of this hope depends on action by Congress to authorize American participation in the fair and to provide funds to make that possible. The administration has asked for 10 million dollars.

If and when the legislation is passed, Secretary of State Dulles is expected to name an American who will have charge of preparing plans for an exhibit. Officials said the exhibit will reflect United States history, culture, industry, commerce, education, government and foreign policy.

Alice Marie Meconi Names Attendants For Wedding

Miss Alice Marie Meconi, fiancee of Ronald A. Clites, has selected Miss Nancy Murphy for her maid of honor and Miss Sally Beck as bridesmaid for their wedding Saturday. Thomas Carroll is to serve as Mr. Clites' best man, while Cread Sions will be the groomsman.

The wedding ceremony will be solemnized at 2 p. m. in SS. Peter and Paul Catholic Church, with Prof. Peter Schumacher playing a program of nuptial music, the traditional wedding march from the opera "Lohengrin," and Mendelssohn's recessional.

A daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ugo Meconi, 459 Walnut Street, the bride-elect is a graduate of Catholic Girls Central High School, class of 1950, and of Frostburg State Teachers College, class of 1954, where she was a member of Phi Omicron Delta sorority; Alpha Psi Omega, Little Theatre Group, Woman's Recreation Association, and Future Teachers of America. For the past two years she was a member of the West Rockville Elementary School faculty.

Her fiance is a graduate of Allegany High School, class of 1950, and attended Army Service schools. He served two years in the Far East and is employed by the Cumberland Engraving Company.

Mr. and Mrs. Meconi will entertain with a wedding reception honoring their daughter and her bridal party at their home following the ceremony.

Miss Meconi was entertained at two surprise parties in Rockville, one by members of the faculty and the other by the parents of the children.

The faculty entertained with a buffet dinner at the home of Albert Gibson, principal, and presented the bride-elect with a gift of a set of dishes. The bridal motif was carried out in the all-white decorations.

The parents held a kitchen shower in the form of a garden party for Miss Meconi.

Personals

Mrs. W. F. Williams, 750 Washington Street, is a patient in Memorial Hospital.

Mrs. Frances E. Mouse, 420 Valley Street, is a patient in Sacred Heart Hospital.

Mrs. Eugene Kelly, 36 Boone Street, is ill at Memorial Hospital.

Mrs. Pope Is Entertained

A luncheon in honor of Mrs. Mabel Pope, Piggott, Ark., was given by a group of friends yesterday in the private dining room of the Fort Cumberland Hotel.

Mrs. Pope, a former partner in the Cumberland Music Shop, is the guest of Mrs. Harry Simpson, LaVale, en route to Chautauqua, N. Y.

Summer flowers were used in the decorations and a corsage of pink roses was presented to the honor guest. Covers were laid for 30. Mrs. Simpson, Mrs. J. W. Kirk, and Mrs. Frank Wright were in charge of arrangements.

Sorority Picnic Is Tonight

Iota Epsilon Chapter, Tau Phi Lambda of the Supreme Forest Woodmen Circle, will entertain with a family picnic as its July social.

It will be held this evening at 6:30 in Grove 4 of Constitution Park.

A scavenger hunt will feature the entertainment, following the supper.

Mrs. Jane Frederick is chairman of arrangements, assisted by Mrs. Hilda Van Meter and Mrs. Betty Dean.

Union Grove Club To Meet Saturday

The Union Grove Homemakers will meet at the Union Grove camp grounds Saturday at 4 o'clock for a covered dish supper, preceding the annual Farmer's Picnic, at which the club will have a booth to sell beverages and desserts.

Each member is to bring a covered dish, place setting and a pound of home made candy.

Group Attends Course

A group of 11 from St. John's Lutheran Church attended a course at Hood College, Frederick, last week.

The group included Rev. and Mrs. F. J. Eckert, Mrs. Eugene Alexander, Dorothy Eckert, Billie Joyce Snyder, Ronna Grim, Sondra K. Weltman, Fred Eichner, Thomas Rizer, Kathryn Ort and Gorman Davis.

Eight Girls Will Compete For Co. Farm Queen Title

Eva Mae Helmstetter and Sara Adams, qualifying for the Farm Queen contest, have raised the number of contestants to eight, Mrs. Edgar Matthews, president of the Associated Women of the Allegany County Farm Bureau, sponsors of the contest, announces.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Adams, RD 1, Breakneck Road, Flintstone, Sara is a graduate of Fort Hill High School, class of 1956, where she was active in dramatics, sports, home economics, served two years on the yearbook staff, was senior editor in her senior year, was a member of the Glee Club, Fort Hill Players, a member of the cast of the senior class play, in the Junior Town Meeting, served on two public panels and in September plans to enter nursing training.

A graduate of Allegany High School, class of 1956, Eva Mae is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ferman Helmstetter, Pinto. At school she took three years of home economics and a commercial course. She was a member of the Athletic Association and the Choral Club, and was drum sergeant in the senior band. For three years she was a 4-H Girl. She is active in the Cresaptown Community Council for teenagers and was the runner-up in the Miss Queen contest. At home she helps in sewing, canning, ironing and cleaning, and her hobbies are dancing, reading, horseback riding and other sports. She is making the dress she will wear tomorrow night, and is employed at the Barton Ice Cream Bar. In the fall she expects to enter Catherman's Business College.

Other contestants are Jaretta Heavner, one of 13 children of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas B. Heavner, Bedford Road, having nine brothers and three sisters. A graduate of Fort Hill High School in June, she was a member of the Fort Hill Players, is president of the Bedford Road 4-H Girls, junior leader for the Older 4-H and secretary of the Bedford Road Teenage Club. Ellen Jane Morgan is the 16-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Morgan, RD 2, Flintstone. A student at Flintstone High School, she assists her family with gardening at their Bean's Cove Road farm. Helen Paxton is the 17-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James B. Paxton, Williams Road. She will be a senior at Fort Hill in September, where she is a member of Alpha Tri-Hi-Y, the Fort Hill Senior Band, of which she is treasurer, and active in dramatics, and is taking a commercial course. Nancy Vandevort, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norval Vandevort, Danville, a student at Bruce High School, is outstanding in 4-H Club work, a junior 4-H leader, and will represent the county in the Public Speaking contest at Club Week at College Park next month. She also helps on the farm. Dolores Kifer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl W. Kifer, Flintstone, is a senior at Flintstone High School, is parliamentarian of the Future Homemakers of America at school; secretary of the Junior Extension Club; secretary of Flintstone 4-H Club; a member of the Flintstone Glee Club, Girls Trail, Youth Group of Prosperity Christian Church and assistant secretary of the church Aid Society, Edith Mallery, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence W. Mallery, Town Creek, is a student at Oldtown High School, where she is taking home economics. She is secretary of her 4-H Club and is active in church work.

The annual Farm Bureau picnic and Farm Queen contest will be held tomorrow evening at the Union Grove camp grounds. A covered dish supper will be held cafeteria style at 6:30, followed by a program and the contest for the Allegany County Farm Queen.

An entertainment program and the contest will be held at 8:30. Mrs. K. O. Nelson is to serve as mistress of ceremonies and Norman Yoder, Pinto, will interview the contestants. Mrs. Matthews will introduce Wilbur Smith, Baltimore, field director of the organization; and Mrs. Harry Day, Washington County Associated Women's president. Group singing is to be under the direction of Mrs. Harry Barton. Sondra Myers, Cresaptown Teen-age Queen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clement Myers, Rawlings; and Judy Warner, Cresaptown Miss Tot, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Warner, will be introduced. The former will play a piano solo. The program also includes vocal solos by Joan Lutrell, "Side by Side," Susan and Mark Mackert; selections by the Pinto Mennonite Octet, Miss Lois Dayton, Mrs. Nelson, Mrs. Viola Johnson, Mrs. Barton, Robert Dayton, Norman Yoder, K. O. Nelson and Robert Johnson. Linda Heavner will sing, accompanied at the piano by her mother, Mrs. Robert Heavner. A comedy skit with guitar will be presented by Michael Shaffer, Potomac Park.

Splash Party Is Tomorrow

Dancing on the terrace and swimming by moonlight as well as water games will feature the entertainment at the "Splash Party" tomorrow evening at the Cumberland Country Club pool.

Sponsored by the Club Playground Association, the party will be held at 9 o'clock.

There will be an "Ice Breaker" ball game in the pool, swimming exhibitions by the lifeguards and playground counselors, free style races for men and women, and a "Dress 'n' Dunk" relay race.

Prizes and trophies will be awarded by Mrs. James Hallinan, past president of the association.

Mrs. Leonard Schwab is mistress of ceremonies.

Alice Marie Meconi Names Attendants For Wedding

Miss Alice Marie Meconi, fiancee of Ronald A. Clites, has selected Miss Nancy Murphy for her maid of honor and Miss Sally Beck as bridesmaid for their wedding Saturday. Thomas Carroll is to serve as Mr. Clites' best man, while Cread Sions will be the groomsman.

The wedding ceremony will be solemnized at 2 p. m. in SS. Peter and Paul Catholic Church, with Prof. Peter Schumacher playing a program of nuptial music, the traditional wedding march from the opera "Lohengrin," and Mendelssohn's recessional.

A daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ugo Meconi, 459 Walnut Street, the bride-elect is a graduate of Catholic Girls Central High School, class of 1950, and of Frostburg State Teachers College, class of 1954, where she was a member of Phi Omicron Delta sorority; Alpha Psi Omega, Little Theatre Group, Woman's Recreation Association, and Future Teachers of America. For the past two years she was a member of the West Rockville Elementary School faculty.

Her fiance is a graduate of Allegany High School, class of 1950, and attended Army Service schools. He served two years in the Far East and is employed by the Cumberland Engraving Company.

Mr. and Mrs. Meconi will entertain with a wedding reception honoring their daughter and her bridal party at their home following the ceremony.

Miss Meconi was entertained at two surprise parties in Rockville, one by members of the faculty and the other by the parents of the children.

The faculty entertained with a buffet dinner at the home of Albert Gibson, principal, and presented the bride-elect with a gift of a set of dishes. The bridal motif was carried out in the all-white decorations.

The parents held a kitchen shower in the form of a garden party for Miss Meconi.

Scientist Offers Glimpse Into World Of Tomorrow

PARIS, July 26 (AP) — A U. S scientist threw out a "calculate guess" today that in 50 years ma may be able to light the night sky turn rain on and off, farm the se: and knock out hurricanes as they are being born.

This glimpse into the world of tomorrow was given by Dr. Athelstan F. Spilhaus. He is a member of the U. N. Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization Executive Board, and dean of the University of Minnesota's Institute of Technology.

Dr. Spilhaus told newsmen that, based on the rate of present scientific development, such bizarre developments as these may soon come about:

1. Illuminating the night sky by increasing the nitric oxide which acts as a catalyst in the high atmosphere. This would boost the power of a "night glow" which has already been observed in the sky.

2. Stimulating or inhibiting rainll, benefiting arid or overly wet eas of the world. Substances ould be introduced into the upper tmosphere to induce or prevent ormation of raindrops. The availble amount of water may also be spread more evenly by towing vast icebergs from the polar regions to warm, dry areas and letting them melt.

3. Farming the sea, by placing nutrients in the water to produce the desire type of fish in desired areas. Referring to a scientist he said is studying porpoise noises in an attempt to "talk back" to them, Dr. Spilhaus said "porpoises may even be trained to herd fish like collies herd sheep."

4. Controlling hurricanes by treating them in their early formative stages, perhaps by regulating the absorption or reflection of sunshine at the ocean surfaces where hurricanes generate.

Dr. Spilhaus was describing to reporters some scientific possibilities of the future, following approval by the UNESCO Executive Board of research into arid zone problems as a major UNESCO project.

"Secret Revolt" Reported In U.S. Health Service

WASHINGTON, July 26 (AP) — Newsweek magazine said today "secret revolt is seething in the U.S. Public Health Service." But Secretary of Welfare Folsom says his information is that "the morale is good."

The magazine said "discontent is most serious among the 1,200 regular officers" of the service's commissioned corps.

Asked for comment, the Welfare Department gave out a letter which Folsom wrote to a senator March 1 dealing with several points raised earlier by the Commissioned Officers' Assn. The organization had brought up the items in a letter to Surgeon General Leonard A. Scheele.

Newsweek said that last summer some 946 of the service's officers agreed in unsigned statements that the service had "reached a critical point in its long history."

The magazine also said the service had lost 240 doctors through resignations; that only 20 per cent of the young internes who joined the service to discharge their draft obligations decided to stay, and that an official confessed last week that "recruiting has gone haywire."

Seymour Vestermark, president of the Commissioned Officer's Assn., declined to comment on the article.

Folsom said in his letter that he had consulted with Dr. Lowell T. Coggeshall, his special assistant on health and medical affairs, and reported:

"It is the conclusion of both Dr. Coggeshall and myself that the summary of replies to the questionnaire, which the association received from one-third of the commissioned officers, does not accurately reflect the conditions in the Public Health Service.

"No actual facts are presented to substantiate the statement that there is a steady ebbing of morale, and the following is quoted from a memorandum from Dr. Coggeshall:

" 'Among my colleagues, I can state that the general opinion is held that the prestige of the corps is extremely high and the morale is good.' "

Folsom said health service resignations in the last two years in ranks above the equivalent to Army captain were 11 per cent of the force, compared with 33 per cent in the Army Medical Corps.

Only about seven per cent of the people who "go swimming" each year really can swim.

Religion Today

Scope, Tempo Of Pastor's Job Shows Big Increase

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

"Swamped!" That's the way many pastors feel today in the midst of the modern-day whirl of church activities.

The scope—and the tempo—of the job has increased.

Churches have taken on a myriad accumulation of chores, ranging from special week-day religious classes and personal problem counseling to camps, clubs and countless conferences.

In a way, it's a sign of vigor, but some ministers are worried about the heavy-packed schedule, lest the secondary functions becloud the primary ones.

The church's worst enemy, says Dr. John Heuss of New York's Trinity Episcopal Church, is its own "day-to-day triviality" — its round of fund drives, bazaars, luncheons, dinners and bake sales.

All this, he said, is "admirable but it is not religion."

The Rev. Dr. Hugh Hartshorne of Yale Divinity School says the churches have kept adding "odds and ends of new responsibilities until they resemble a modern drugstore or shopping center . . ."

Clergymen, he adds, are "ill prepared for the tasks they actually have to do" — which have been extended in this country far beyond religious duties.

In Audubon, Iowa, recently, the Rev. Grant Elford, then pastor of a flourishing Methodist church, resigned and left the ministry to go into the insurance business, declaring:

"Pressures on a minister's family, particularly his children, prevent them from living a normal life.

"A minister not only must be a pastor, he must also be an administrator, a counselor, a conciliator, a salesman, a psychologist, an educator and a community and civic leader.

"The demands upon his time are almost unlimited."

A noted European churchman, Bishop Eivind Berggrav of Norway, after a visit here some time ago, suggested that American churches in a way resemble "people's clubs."

He said the situation — much different from Europe, where the churches are more aloof from social activities — contains both advantages and risks.

The risk, he said, is that the churches become so involved in wordly affairs that they lose their distinctive character, while the advantage is that they have closer contact with people's everyday lives.

A mother wrote in the nondenominational Christian Herald that "our church is destroying our home" by its constant, week-long rush of meetings, recreation, fellowships and other activities.

Scientist Offers Glimpse Into World Of Tomorrow

PARIS, July 26 (AP) — A U. S scientist threw out a "calculate guess" today that in 50 years ma may be able to light the night sky turn rain on and off, farm the se and knock out hurricanes as they are being born.

This glimpse into the world of tomorrow was given by Dr. Athelstan F. Spilhaus. He is a member of the U. N. Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization Executive Board, and dean of the University of Minnesota's Institute of Technology.

Dr. Spilhaus told newsmen that, based on the rate of present scientific development, such bizarre developments as these may soon come about:

1. Illuminating the night sky by increasing the nitric oxide which acts as a catalyst in the high atmosphere. This would boost the power of a "night glow" which has already been observed in the sky.

2. Stimulating or inhibiting rainll, benefiting arid or overly wet eas of the world. Substances ould be introduced into the upper tmosphere to induce or prevent ormation of raindrops. The availble amount of water may also be spread more evenly by towing vast icebergs from the polar regions to warm, dry areas and letting them melt.

3. Farming the sea, by placing nutrients in the water to produce the desire type of fish in desired areas. Referring to a scientist he said is studying porpoise noises in an attempt to "talk back" to them, Dr. Spilhaus said "porpoises may even be trained to herd fish like collies herd sheep."

4. Controlling hurricanes by treating them in their early formative stages, perhaps by regulating the absorption or reflection of sunshine at the ocean surfaces where hurricanes generate.

Dr. Spilhaus was describing to reporters some scientific possibilities of the future, following approval by the UNESCO Executive Board of research into arid zone problems as a major UNESCO project.

"Secret Revolt" Reported In U.S. Health Service

WASHINGTON, July 26 (AP) — Newsweek magazine said today "secret revolt is seething in the U.S. Public Health Service." But Secretary of Welfare Folsom says his information is that "the morale is good."

The magazine said "discontent is most serious among the 1,200 regular officers" of the service's commissioned corps.

Asked for comment, the Welfare Department gave out a letter which Folsom wrote to a senator March 1 dealing with several points raised earlier by the Commissioned Officers' Assn. The organization had brought up the items in a letter to Surgeon General Leonard A. Scheele.

Newsweek said that last summer some 946 of the service's officers agreed in unsigned statements that the service had "reached a critical point in its long history."

The magazine also said the service had lost 240 doctors through resignations; that only 20 per cent of the young internes who joined the service to discharge their draft obligations decided to stay, and that an official confessed last week that "recruiting has gone haywire."

Seymour Vestermark, president of the Commissioned Officer's Assn., declined to comment on the article.

Folsom said in his letter that he had consulted with Dr. Lowell T. Coggeshall, his special assistant on health and medical affairs, and reported:

"It is the conclusion of both Dr. Coggeshall and myself that the summary of replies to the questionnaire, which the association received from one-third of the commissioned officers, does not accurately reflect the conditions in the Public Health Service.

"No actual facts are presented to substantiate the statement that there is a steady ebbing of morale, and the following is quoted from a memorandum from Dr. Coggeshall:

" 'Among my colleagues, I can state that the general opinion is held that the prestige of the corps is extremely high and the morale is good.' "

Folsom said health service resignations in the last two years in ranks above the equivalent to Army captain were 11 per cent of the force, compared with 33 per cent in the Army Medical Corps.

Only about seven per cent of the people who "go swimming" each year really can swim.

Religion Today

Scope, Tempo Of Pastor's Job Shows Big Increase

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

"Swamped!" That's the way many pastors feel today in the midst of the modern-day whirl of church activities.

The scope—and the tempo—of the job has increased.

Churches have taken on a myriad accumulation of chores, ranging from special week-day religious classes and personal problem counseling to camps, clubs and countless conferences.

In a way, it's a sign of vigor, but some ministers are worried about the heavy-packed schedule, lest the secondary functions beclqud the primary ones.

The church's worst enemy, says Dr. John Heuss of New York's Trinity Episcopal Church, is its own "day-to-day triviality" — its round of fund drives, bazaars, luncheons, dinners and bake sales.

All this, he said, is "admirable but it is not religion."

The Rev. Dr. Hugh Hartshorne of Yale Divinity School says the churches have kept adding "odds and ends of new responsibilities until they resemble a modern drugstore or shopping center . . ."

Clergymen, he adds, are "ill prepared for the tasks they actually have to do" — which have been extended in this country far beyond religious duties.

In Audubon, Iowa, recently, the Rev. Grant Elford, then pastor of a flourishing Methodist church, resigned and left the ministry to go into the insurance business, declaring:

"Pressures on a minister's family, particularly his children, prevent them from living a normal life.

"A minister not only must be a pastor, he must also be an administrator, a counselor, a conciliator, a salesman, a psychologist, an educator and a community and civic leader.

"The demands upon his time are almost unlimited."

A noted European churchman, Bishop Eivind Berggrav of Norway, after a visit here some time ago, suggested that American churches in a way resemble "people's clubs."

He said the situation — much different from Europe, where the churches are more aloof from social activities — contains both advantages and risks.

The risk, he said, is that the churches become so involved in wordly affairs that they lose their distinctive character, while the advantage is that they have closer contact with people's everyday lives.

A mother wrote in the nondenominational Christian Herald that "our church is destroying our home" by its constant, week-long rush of meetings, recreation, fellowships and other activities.

"It is swallowing our family whole," she wrote. "The entire week is a race between home and the church. Just how much actual religion anyone gets out of the race is a question . . ."

Two Officials Defend Md. Tobacco Agency

NORTH BEACH, Md., July 26 (AP) —Two State officials told Southern Maryland tobacco growers today that operations of the State Tobacco Warehouse in Baltimore have been criticized unjustly.

"Conditions are not as bad as the public has been led to believe," State Comptroller J. Millard Tawes assured a crowd of 1,500 people at the Maryland Tobacco Growers Assn.'s annual picnic.

He said the warehouse serves a greater need now than when it was first constructed in 1843.

State Tobacco Inspector John F. McNulty labeled as "unfounded" the charges by his predecessor, George Eierman of Baltimore, that warehouse operations were a "disgusting mess."

The charges arose after the warehouse finished the fiscal year with a deficit. McNulty said at the time it would have been in the black if accounts still due it were considered as in other businesses.

He told growers that "there is no dissatisfaction and no discontent" with warehouse operations.

In addition to the speeches, the growers crowned a queen and king of tobacco, awarded prizes for the best tobacco exhibited and took time out to recognize the oldest growers present from each county.

Seventeen-year-old Jean Burgess of Gambrills was crowned tobacco queen by McNulty. Sen. H. Winship Wheatley (D-Prince Georges) crowned the king, Thomas Van Garlem of Marlboro.

The top tobacco prize of $20 went to Ernest Keller of Charles County, who also received a $10 award for submitting the finest exhibit for his county. Other winners by counties were Roland Windsor of Calvert, Mrs. Esther Hutchins of Calvert, Roger A. Hyde of Prince Georges and Willard Graves of St. Marys.

Carol N. Hutchins of Calvert County won the 4-H contest.

Given special recognition as the oldest growers present were Dawson Armstrong, 95, of Anne Arundel County; Hyde, 87, Prince Georges; Harry D. Lane, 85, of Calvert County; Ernest Lane, 75, St. Marys and Samuel Purdue, 69, Charles.

Cement Firm Plans Frederick Co. Plant

FREDERICK, July 26 (AP) — A building permit—the largest ever issued in Frederick County—was approved today for the Alpha Portland Cement Co. to build a 3 million dollar cement plant in the Limekiln - Buckeystown - Adamstown area.

M. W. Auckaitis, construction engineer from Easton, Pa., said construction would begin shortly, with completion of the works set for 1958.

The cement firm recently exercised an option to buy the tract, about 900 acres, after completing tests that took about nine months.

Marylanders Aboard Liners Reported Safe

BALTIMORE, July 26 (AP) — A Hagerstown couple making their first trip to their native Denmark in 30 years were aboard the Stockholm when it collided in the fog last night with the Italian liner Andrea Doria.

Aboard the Andrea Doria were the 25-year-old bride of a Cumberland factory worker and six Baltimoreans, including Stanley Sagner, clothing manufacturer known in racing circles. His horse Saggy once defeated Citation.

None of the Marylanders was injured so far as had been determined.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Wolffsen of Hagerstown had left Monday for New York and a brief visit to a small island off Denmark which they left nearly 30 years ago. They have three children, all married and residents of Hagerstown where Wolffsen is foreman in a pipe organ concern.

The Andrea Doria was returning to the United States from Italy with a full load of passengers in the midst of a successful tourist season.

In addition to Sagner and his wife, Baltimoreans aboard included Mr. and Mrs. Irving Perellis, Mrs. Joseph Torre and Mrs. Ellen Dean. Perellis owns a chain of department stores in Baltimore. Mrs. Torre and Mrs. Dean, her daughter, had just completed a two-month tour of Italy.

Also rescued from the sinking Italian liner was Mrs. Luigi Marinello, who was married three months ago in Italy to a Cumberland factory worker. Marinello went to New York yesterday to meet his bride.

Gambling Crackdown At Navy Gun Factory

WASHINGTON, July 26 (AP) — Rear Adm. David M. Tylee, superintendent of the Naval Gun Factory here, announced "open warfare" today against numbers writing and other forms of gambling at the government plant.

His statement followed the arrest yesterday of three men who reportedly operated a $1,000-a-week numbers writing business in the factory.

The three, free under $1,000 bail each, were charged with operating a lottery.

Hagerstown Dump Foes Go To Court

HAGERSTOWN, July 26 (AP) — Angry residents near the site of Hagerstown's proposed new city dump went to court today to try to keep the dump out of their area.

Circuit Judge D. K. McLaughlin gave the city until Aug. 18 to answer the petition for an injunction against using the section to handle refuse.

The city announced yesterday it had cleared the last obstacle in relocating the dump about six miles west of town, near Huyetts.

Judge McLaughlin acted after 94 residents of Huyetts, all property owners within a mile of the dump site, petitioned him to stop the city's program.

The site was approved by the State Water Policy Commission and the State Health Department after the city assured them it planned to bury the refuse as it was collected.

West Virginians Fight Oak Wilt

CHARLESTON, W. Va., July 26 (AP)—Airplanes and ground crews have been fighting oak wilt throughout West Virginia for more than a month, the State Agriculture Dept. announced today.

Commissioner J. E. Johnson said the state-wide program for detecting and controlling the tree disease began June 4. He explained that low-flying planes spot trees suspected of having oak wilt and that ground crews move in later to process them.

Johnson added that although oak wilt is "a very serious threat" to oak trees in the state, there definitely is no epidemic.

The survey teams, he said, have processed about 400 trees throughout the state. They cut a deep girdle around each tree and peel all bark from the stump. He explained that if action is taken quickly, the tree dries out and prevents the disease from spreading by way of spore - carrying bettles.

Johnson warned land owners that the first signs of oak wilt are a heavy shedding of leaves in midsummer, with a general wilted look through the trees as long as any leaves remain.

$179,500 Road Damage

BALTIMORE, July 26 (AP) —Last Friday's heavy downpour caused about $179,500 damage to roads and bridges, the State Roads Commission reported today.

Heaviest damage was in the Washington County and Baltimore sections. Southern Maryland and the Eastern Shore suffered the least.

Home Town Return

CHARLES TOWN, W. Va., July 26 (AP)—John S. Coleman, president of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, returns to his home town here next Monday to address a dinner meeting of the Jefferson County chamber.

Coleman left Charles Town as a young man, after service in World War I.

Planning Group Urges New State Police Barracks

BALTIMORE, July 26 (AP) —The State Planning Commission has recommended that a new State Police barracks in northeastern Maryland be located near U. S. 40 or the proposed Northeastern Expressway.

This is the location requested by Del. Burkley (D-Cecil) who said he understood that the State was planning to build the Cecil County barracks on U. S. 1 as a replacement for the present Conowingo barracks.

Burkley wrote Gov. McKeldin suggesting the barracks could be better used near U. S. 40 and the new expressway in order to cut down speeding.

The commission said in a letter to the governor that it had been holding up construction of the barracks until the route for the new expressway was determined. But it agreed with Burkley's proposal.

"The commission is convinced that only a site which is in close proximity to U. S. 40 and the proposed new highway would be satisfactory," director I. Alvin Pasarew said.

$25,000,000 Park Plan Is Endorsed

SILVER SPRING, Md., July 26 (AP)—A 25 million dollar proposal for school, park and recreational activities in Montgomery and Prince Georges counties, Md. had the unanimous approval today of Maryland park planners.

The Maryland-National Capital Park and Planning Commission endorsed without dissent a plan that looks 15 years into the future.

The blueprint is drawn to accommodate an estimated population in 1980 on one million persons in the two counties.

The plan recommends one gross acre of open space for each 100 persons in the region. Parks, youth centers and neighborhood play facilities are among the long-range goals.

Three Persons Seized In Capital Dope Raids

WASHINGTON, July 26 (AP) — Three persons were arrested in a series of dope raids last night.

Heroin worth up to $45,000 on the illicit retail market was seized along with enough marijuana to make about 8,000 cigarettes which would sell at from 50 to 75 cents apiece.

Capt. Karl G. McCormick identified those arrested as Melvin E. Ward, 33; Ward's wife, Jeanette, 30, and Clara Belle Wright, 30. Held as a material witness was Ward's mother, Mamie Ward, 51. All are Negroes.

Many modern scholars are of the opinion that Homer never lived and that the poems ascribed to him actually were the works of many individual poets.

Bomb Removed By Baltimore GI

VERONA, Italy, July 26 (AP) — U.S. troops quartered here as part of the NATO defenses were evacuated hastily today from a barracks they took over recently from the Italian Army.

Workman digging three feet beneath the barracks found an unexploded 500-pound British aerial bomb, apparently dropped during World War II.

A volunteer ordnance squad headed by M.Sgt. John A. Taylor of Baltimore, Md., performed the delicate job of removing the bomb. They turned it over to Italian police for destruction.

Tonight the Army moved back in.

Two Officials Defend Md. Tobacco Agency

NORTH BEACH, Md., July 26 (AP) —Two State officials told Southern Maryland tobacco growers today that operations of the State Tobacco Warehouse in Baltimore have been criticized unjustly.

"Conditions are not as bad as the public has been led to believe," State Comptroller J. Millard Tawes assured a crowd of 1,500 people at the Maryland Tobacco Growers Assn.'s annual picnic.

He said the warehouse serves a greater need now than when it was first constructed in 1843.

State Tobacco Inspector John F. McNulty labeled as "unfounded" the charges by his predecessor, George Eierman of Baltimore, that warehouse operations were a "disgusting mess."

The charges arose after the warehouse finished the fiscal year with a deficit. McNulty said at the time it would have been in the black if accounts still due it were considered as in other businesses.

He told growers that "there is no dissatisfaction and no discontent" with warehouse operations.

In addition to the speeches, the growers crowned a queen and king of tobacco, awarded prizes for the best tobacco exhibited and took time out to recognize the oldest growers present from each county.

Seventeen-year-old Jean Burgess of Gambrills was crowned tobacco queen by McNulty. Sen. H. Winship Wheatley (D-Prince Georges) crowned the king, Thomas Van Garlem of Marlboro.

The top tobacco prize of $20 went to Ernest Keller of Charles County, who also received a $10 award for submitting the finest exhibit for his county. Other winners by counties were Roland Windsor of Calvert, Mrs. Esther Hutchins of Calvert, Roger A. Hyde of Prince Georges and Willard Graves of St. Marys.

Carol N. Hutchins of Calvert County won the 4-H contest.

Given special recognition as the oldest growers present were Dawson Armstrong, 95, of Anne Arundel County; Hyde, 87, Prince Georges; Harry D. Lane, 85, of Calvert County; Ernest Lane, 75, St. Marys and Samuel Purdue, 69, Charles.

Cement Firm Plans Frederick Co. Plant

FREDERICK, July 26 (AP) — A building permit—the largest ever issued in Frederick County—was approved today for the Alpha Portland Cement Co. to build a 3 million dollar cement plant in the Limekiln - Buckeystown - Adamstown area.

M. W. Auckaitis, construction engineer from Easton, Pa., said construction would begin shortly, with completion of the works set for 1958.

The cement firm recently exercised an option to buy the tract, about 900 acres, after completing tests that took about nine months.

Marylanders Aboard Liners Reported Safe

BALTIMORE, July 26 (AP) — A Hagerstown couple making their first trip to their native Denmark in 30 years were aboard the Stockholm when it collided in the fog last night with the Italian liner Andrea Doria.

Aboard the Andrea Doria were the 25-year-old bride of a Cumberland factory worker and six Baltimoreans, including Stanley Sagner, clothing manufacturer known in racing circles. His horse Saggy once defeated Citation.

None of the Marylanders was injured so far as had been determined.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Wolffsen of Hagerstown had left Monday for New York and a brief visit to a small island off Denmark which they left nearly 30 years ago. They have three children, all married and residents of Hagerstown where Wolffsen is foreman in a pipe organ concern.

The Andrea Doria was returning to the United States from Italy with a full load of passengers in the midst of a successful tourist season.

In addition to Sagner and his wife, Baltimoreans aboard included Mr. and Mrs. Irving Perellis, Mrs. Joseph Torre and Mrs. Ellen Dean. Perellis owns a chain of department stores in Baltimore. Mrs. Torre and Mrs. Dean, her daughter, had just completed a two-month tour of Italy.

Also rescued from the sinking Italian liner was Mrs. Luigi Marinello, who was married three months ago in Italy to a Cumberland factory worker. Marinello went to New York yesterday to meet his bride.

Gambling Crackdown At Navy Gun Factory

WASHINGTON, July 26 (AP) — Rear Adm. David M. Tylee, superintendent of the Naval Gun Factory here, announced "open warfare" today against numbers writing and other forms of gambling at the government plant.

His statement followed the arrest yesterday of three men who reportedly operated a $1,000-a-week numbers writing business in the factory.

The three, free under $1,000 bail each, were charged with operating a lottery.

Hagerstown Dump Foes Go To Court

HAGERSTOWN, July 26 (AP) — Angry residents near the site of Hagerstown's proposed new city dump went to court today to try to keep the dump out of their area.

Circuit Judge D. K. McLaughlin gave the city until Aug. 18 to answer the petition for an injunction against using the section to handle refuse.

The city announced yesterday it had cleared the last obstacle in relocating the dump about six miles west of town, near Huyetts.

Judge McLaughlin acted after 94 residents of Huyetts, all property owners within a mile of the dump site, petitioned him to stop the city's program.

The site was approved by the State Water Policy Commission and the State Health Department after the city assured them it planned to bury the refuse as it was collected.

West Virginians Fight Oak Wilt

CHARLESTON, W. Va., July 26 (AP)—Airplanes and ground crews have been fighting oak wilt throughout West Virginia for more than a month, the State Agriculture Dept. announced today.

Commissioner J. E. Johnson said the state-wide program for detecting and controlling the tree disease began June 4. He explained that low-flying planes spot trees suspected of having oak wilt and that ground crews move in later to process them.

Johnson added that although oak wilt is "a very serious threat" to oak trees in the state, there definitely is no epidemic.

The survey teams, he said, have processed about 400 trees throughout the state. They cut a deep girdle around each tree and peel all bark from the stump. He explained that if action is taken quickly, the tree dries out and prevents the disease from spreading by way of spore - carrying bettles.

Johnson warned land owners that the first signs of oak wilt are a heavy shedding of leaves in midsummer, with a general wilted look through the trees as long as any leaves remain.

$179,500 Road Damage

BALTIMORE, July 26 (AP) —Last Friday's heavy downpour caused about $179,500 damage to roads and bridges, the State Roads Commission reported today.

Heaviest damage was in the Washington County and Baltimore sections. Southern Maryland and the Eastern Shore suffered the least.

Home Town Return

CHARLES TOWN, W. Va., July 26 (AP)—John S. Coleman, president of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, returns to his home town here next Monday to address a dinner meeting of the Jefferson County chamber.

Coleman left Charles Town as a young man, after service in World War I.

Planning Group Urges New State Police Barracks

BALTIMORE, July 26 (AP) —The State Planning Commission has recommended that a new State Police barracks in northeastern Maryland be located near U. S. 40 or the proposed Northeastern Expressway.

This is the location requested by Del. Burkley (D-Cecil) who said he understood that the State was planning to build the Cecil County barracks on U. S. 1 as a replacement for the present Conowingo barracks.

Burkley wrote Gov. McKeldin suggesting the barracks could be better used near U. S. 40 and the new expressway in order to cut down speeding.

The commission said in a letter to the governor that it had been holding up construction of the barracks until the route for the new expressway was determined. But it agreed with Burkley's proposal.

"The commission is convinced that only a site which is in close proximity to U. S. 40 and the proposed new highway would be satisfactory," director I. Alvin Pasarew said.

$25,000,000 Park Plan Is Endorsed

SILVER SPRING, Md., July 26 (AP)—A 25 million dollar proposal for school, park and recreational activities in Montgomery and Prince Georges counties, Md. had the unanimous approval today of Maryland park planners.

The Maryland-National Capital Park and Planning Commission endorsed without dissent a plan that looks 15 years into the future.

The blueprint is drawn to accommodate an estimated population in 1980 on one million persons in the two counties.

The plan recommends one gross acre of open space for each 100 persons in the region. Parks, youth centers and neighborhood play facilities are among the long-range goals.

Three Persons Seized In Capital Dope Raids

WASHINGTON, July 26 (AP) — Three persons were arrested in a series of dope raids last night.

Heroin worth up to $45,000 on the illicit retail market was seized along with enough marijuana to make about 8,000 cigarettes which would sell at from 50 to 75 cents apiece.

Capt. Karl G. McCormick identified those arrested as Melvin E. Ward, 33; Ward's wife, Jeanette, 30, and Clara Belle Wright, 30. Held as a material witness was Ward's mother, Mamie Ward, 51. All are Negroes.

Many modern scholars are of the opinion that Homer never lived and that the poems ascribed to him actually were the works of many individual poets.

Bomb Removed By Baltimore GI

VERONA, Italy, July 26 (AP) — U.S. troops quartered here as part of the NATO defenses were evacuated hastily today from a barracks they took over recently from the Italian Army.

Workman digging three feet beneath the barracks found an unexploded 500-pound British aerial bomb, apparently dropped during World War II.

A volunteer ordnance squad headed by M.Sgt. John A. Taylor of Baltimore, Md., performed the delicate job of removing the bomb. They turned it over to Italian police for destruction.

Tonight the Army moved back in.

WASHINGTON — Even in the rush to adjourn it is worthwhile to pause and remember the nature of our government. We, both as citizens and as members of the federal government, tend at times to overlook the essential nature of our government—that it is composed of three separate and independent branches.

The constitutional grant of powers to the Congress mark the limits within which, with few exceptions, all the branches of the government must move in the discharge of their respective duties. But here the power and the authority of a member of Congress ends. A senator or representative has no legal authority in the administration of the laws.

It is important to remember that the Constitution specifically states that the power and authority of the government comes directly from "we the people." And in the granting of power to the national government, the people retained certain basic rights. History records many incidents where a people have voted away protection of these basic rights without hesitation, yet they would bitterly have fought anyone who attempted to take away these rights by edict or force.

The people must be careful that in their efforts to correct some apparent injustices they do not vote away more freedom, or right than they preserve.

In the closing days of this Congress many items of general interest to the Sixth District are read for final consideration. Among them are the Social Security amendments, improvement in both federal employe and railroad retirement legislation, a new dental research center at Bethesda's National Institute of Health; also, the measure which would eliminate the 10 per cent tax on admissions of $1 or less; the last of the supplemental appropriations bills which contains funds for projects under the Water Pollution Act.

On My Calendar: Business of the House permitting, I plan to attend and to speak at the Montgomery County Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, installation of officers on Saturday, July 28, at the Bethesda Women's Club.

Polio Research Grants

NEW YORK, July 26 (AP) — The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis announced today grants totaling $2,952,155 to 27 institutions for virus research, prevention and treatment of after-effects of polio, and support of poliomyelitis respirator centers.

10 Area Men Join Army

Ten area men have been accepted this month for enlistment in the United States Army at the local recruiting station according to recruiters, SFC A. E. Cobb and SFC Virgil F. Smith. Some of the enlistees took advantage of the reserve program, others took advantage of the educational opportunities and some were assigned to services of their choice.

Donald K. Warnick, Shaw, W. Va., James A. Nelson, 507 Pennsylvania Avenue here, and Fay M. Butler, Grantsville, enlisted under the three-year school program.

Dorsey R. Fox, Romney, W. Va., enlisted in the Ordnance Corps for three years. Zane T. Dawson, of Cresaptown, a veteran with prior Army service, enlisted for three years in the Infantry.

Ernest L. Green, 226 South Lee Street; Henry R. Pedigrew, Benjamin Banniker Homes; James A. Courtney, 330 Estella Street, and William E. Peck, 320 Estella Street, each enlisted for six years reserve program with two years active duty.

Richard W. Oliver, 339 Henderson Avenue, enlisted for three years and requested assignment to the Finance Procedure School after he completes his basic training.

James K. Moreland Jr., 611 St. Mary's Avenue, enlisted for three years in the Regular Army.

All of these recruits are now taking their basic training at Fort Jackson, S. C.

Airlines Combat "No Show" Problem

WASHINGTON, July 26 (AP)—The scheduled airlines said today they will put a day-in-advance ticket reservation into effect Sept. 16.

The Air Transport Assn. said this will be the start of a two-phase plan to combat the "no show" problem—the failure of passengers to use airplane seat space which they have reserved. The airlines say that costs them millions of dollars annually.

Effective Sept. 16, a passenger who makes a reservation must pick up his ticket in advance, in most cases, or his reserved space will be canceled.

Rescuers Thanked

GENOA, Italy, July 26 (AP)—The president of Italina Lines today expressed "our deep recognition" to the sailors from many vessels who helped save all aboard the stricken liner Andrea Doria.

AIRLINER MAKES BELLY LANDING IN TEST FLIGHT

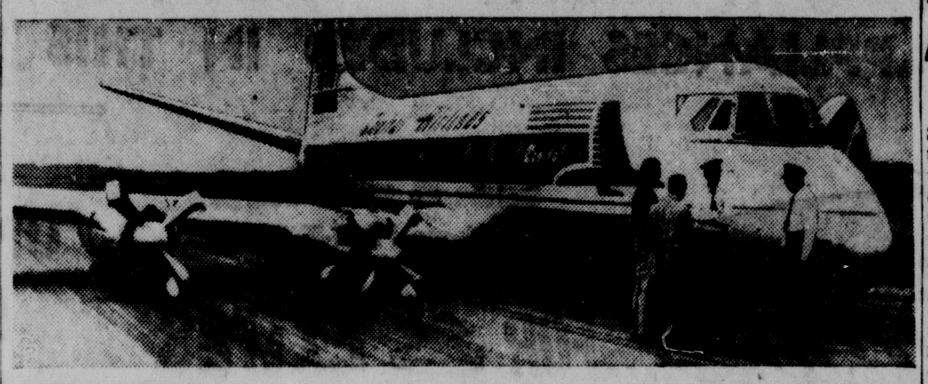

DURING A TEST FLIGHT before going into regular service, this Capital Airline's four-engined Viscount transport made a belly landing at Friendship Airport, Baltimore after failure of its landing gear. Only four crewmen were aboard the craft and all escaped with slight injuries. (International Soundphoto)

Wilkinson Will Assist Workers

County Commissioner C. N. "Jerry" Wilkinson said last night he is strongly in favor of protecting the job rights of some nine Health Department employes who passed from city to county jurisdiction effective July 1.

By his statement Wilkinson announced agreement with William H. Lemmert, president of the county commissioners, with whom he often disagrees. Lemmert announced Wednesday night that the county plans no action to jeopardize the jobs of any of the nine employes.

The Mayor and Council of Cumberland Wednesday passed a resolution asking the county commissioners to give the nine employes assurance as to their status regarding seniority and pay rate as proposed by a subcommittee which was organized to review the financing of Maryland health activities.

Wilkinson said most of the nine employes involved had devoted most of their life to aiding the health of the people of Cumberland and Allegany County. The county commissioner said he knew most of them personally, having worked with them during the period between 1938 and 1942 when he was a sanitary inspector.

Suez Offices Seized

CAIRO, Egypt, July 26 (AP) — Egyptian officials seized the offices of the Suez Canal Co. in Cairo, Ismailia, Port Said and Suez tonight, immediately after President Nasser announced nationalization of the company.

Bay Field Lab To Move

ANNAPOLIS, July 26 (AP) — The Chesapeake Bay Institute plans to relocate its field laboratory near here and move part of it back to Johns Hopkins University in Baltimore, Director Donald W. Pritchard announced today.

Dr. Pritchard said there will be no curtailment in the program because of the move. Laboratory workers have been investigating physical and chemical properties of Chesapeake Bay.

The laboratory has been located on Ridout Creek at St. Margaret's, Md., for the past seven years. The lease on the old fashioned brick house in which it is located expires next year, Dr. Pritchard said.

He said the Institute will try to find waterfront facilities for a smaller laboratory in this area and that research projects not requiring a water site will be moved back to the Baltimore campus.

Altogether, approximately 20 persons will return to Baltimore and a staff of 10 will remain with the relocated laboratory. Dr. Pritchard said the move would probably be made this fall.

Bond Sales Hit 40.3 Per Cent

Total sales of Series E and H Savings Bonds for Allegany County for the first six months and 1956 were $1,482,414, or 40.3 per cent of the assigned quota, according to Lynn C. Lashley, county chairman for the Savings Bonds Division of the Treasury Department.

The sales of Series E bonds in Maryland have increased over the same period of 1955 by nearly $1 million, or approximately 2.9 per cent. That compares favorably with the national increase of 1.3 per cent for this period.

Maryland's E and H bond sales for the first half of 1956 were $33,160,956 or just 46.18 per cent of the state's goal of $71,800,000.

The January-through-June sales of E and H bonds nationally were 4 per cent under the corresponding period of 1955. However, if Series H bond sales show any appreciable increase, 1956 will be another big year for savings bonds.

Butcher Cuts Thumb

George Miller, 24, of 414 North Mechanic Street, was admitted to Sacred Heart Hospital yesterday afternoon about 3 p. m. after cutting the tip of his left thumb while cutting meat at the Acme Market on North Centre Street, where he works as a butcher.

Foote To Discuss Art As Hobby

"Creation for Recreation" is the topic Theodore P. Foote, supervisor of art education in the Allegany County public schools, has selected for a talk at the meeting of the Cumberland Rotary Club next Tuesday at Central YMCA.

Foote's remarks will deal with the psychological need in man for creative activities outside his daily occupation or profession. It is a guide to develop a personal hobby, a creative outlet in a society that wants everything done for it.

The speaker will augment his talk with visual objects to demonstrate his point.

Officials Inspect City Dump Operation

Visiting the dump were Street Commissioner William H. Buchholtz, Mayor Roy W. Eves and City Engineer C. R. Nuzum.

Mayor Eves said the group discussed plans being made to use the landfill method of disposing of the garbage.

Some months ago, the City of Cumberland purchased a bulldozer for the dump in accordance with plans for gradual filling in of the area by compacting refuse and then covering it with earth.

Dr. Reddick's Status Same

BALTIMORE, July 26 (AP) —Dr. Clifton T. Perkins, state commissioner of mental hygiene, said today Dr. Robert H. Reddick's involvement in the homeopathic dispute has not changed his status as a state employe.

As the chief psychiatrist at Eastern Shore State Hospital in Cambridge he comes under Dr. Perkins' department. He is a merit system employe and has job protection afforded by state civil service laws. His annual salary is $10,349.

Dr. Reddick is secretary-treasurer of a so-called "rump" board of homeopathic medical examiners which the attorney general claims has been acting illegally.

Television And Radio

The Animal Kingdom

A fairly new show called "Bol Journey" on ABC-TV (7:30 p. m EDT Mondays) is introduced wit the words: "Your television pass port to the world of adventur seen through the eyes of real peo ple." That's a novelty indeed Real people are among the few things that we haven't seen much of on television this summer.

Heaven knows everything else has been on. It's been a great summer for elephants, for instance. Every time I turn on the set there seems to be an elephant mixed up in the proceedings. There was one about a small boy who acquired an elephant. The other day Ralph Edwards, the proprietor of "People Are Funny," deposited an Indian elephant on the lawn of a luckless home-owner in Los Angeles. She took it calmly. Anyone who lives in Ralph Edwardsland can hardly be surprised by anything any more. The Ed Sullivan Show had a baby elephant on it, and Sullivan this coming Sunday will present quite a lot of the Ringling Bros., Barnum & Bailey circus, which recently folded its tents in Pittsburgh. That, too, of course, will involve elephants.

On all fronts, our education about the animal kingdom is going to be greatly enlarged during the summer. Why, it was only last Sunday that Sonny Fox, Ginger McManus and Pud Flanagan of "Let's Take a Trip" journeyed out to the Army Pigeon Training Center at Fort Monmouth, N. J., where they learned that: Pigeons were first used for communications purposes around 3000 B. C., Brutus first used them in warfare in 43 B. C., and Caesar in 50 B. C., that the modern pigeon can fly about 750 miles a day and lives to e about 12 years old. What else you want to know about pigns?

For really esoteric animal inrmation you will have to wait ntil the middle of next mor h when "Disneyland" is going to nloose some of its more unusual octage in an hour-long show called 'Survival in Nature." There will be some charming sequences, including battles to death between a coyote and an armadillo, a horned toad and a rat, and a leopard and a squirrel. That is for the fight crowd. For the rest of us there'll be sequences about a rotifier, a living animal smaller than a fleck of dust, and about the coati mundi, an omniverous animal who feeds on things like scorpions and desert rats.

Those are all amateur animals, of course. There are always a good many professional animals around—Lassie, Rin Tin Tin, Trigger, and that chimp that chases Sheena of the Jungle around. This is the hep or Broadway crowd in the animal kingdom. This bunch thinks that any armadillo that would fight to death for Disney without getting paid for it is a square, maybe even an octagon.

Among the distinguished animal performances promised for next month are—let's see now—well, Lassie starts to go totally blind—shades of Bette Davis—and is rescued by delicate eye surgery. I suspect Lassie has been looking at "Medic" and decided that she could do just as well as the humans in this line. Then on General Electric Theatre there'll be a parrot who recites secret nuclear equations which gives the War Department the jitters. Another parrot, named Frances, was on the Julius LaRosa show last Saturday with a comedy act. Either his stuff is over my head or he was talking a foreign language, because I couldn't dig the act at all.

And if that doesn't slake your interest in animals, just tune in "Monitor." They're crazy about animals over there. Among other things "Monitor" has broadcast talking mynah birds from Daytona Beach, a visit to the Cincinnati Zoo opera and a look-in on a rattle snake pit in the Black Hills of South Dakota.

So much for animals. On the human front, "Open Mind," a discussion program last Saturday, dealt with the perils of alcoholism. Five minutes after it went off the air, a bibulous friend called me indignantly to say he was going to demand equal time to present his side of the case—in other words, the perils of sobriety, which he claims are much worse. It seems only fair.

The only other discussion group of note was on the "Home" show. The summer look, girls—according to a bunch of experts on that show—is gold—gold-tipped cigarets, heavy gold jewelry, gold fingernails and even gold hair.

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 diamond	1 spade	2 hearts	Pass
4 hearts	Pass	4 spades	Pass
5 clubs	Pass	6 hearts	Pass
Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Nine of spades.

When a singleton king is picked off on a hunch there's not much to tell your neighbor, but when this coup is engineered on a basis of cold calculation, he must lend his ear to you as you get it off your chest.

South tells today's story. The contract was six hearts. North to be sure, was not holding back any on his fire, but the final contract was sound enough.

West chose to open the nine of spades. Declarer won, ruffed a spade and took the trump finesse. When West showed out slight complications set in. Declarer ruffed another spade, repeated the trump finesse, and cashed the ace of trumps.

Since a trump loser was inevitable the success of the contract depended on finding the club king onside or splitting the diamonds 3-3, so that a discard could be obtained for one of declarer's clubs. Declarer, thereupon, played the ace and queen of diamonds, then led a third diamond to the king on which East discarded a spade.

Since diamonds had failed to break declarer must pick up the king of clubs, but first he gave up the trump loser to East. When a spade came back the position was this:

Declarer ruffed. West, of course, had to hold the ten of diamonds in order to take care of dummy's seven spot. His forced discard was, therefore, the nine of clubs. South led a club and when West followed with then ten, declared reached for the ace, with telling effect.

South bowed modestly before partner's generous plaudits. "What a card reader! How did you figure it out?" South's answer was down to earth. "I didn't do much figuring. I happened to remember that West's only remaining card was a diamond, therefore, it couldn't be the king of clubs. So what was the use of finessing?"

Worker Injured At Glass Plant Site

An employe of the Consolidated Engineers was injured yesterday while at work at the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company site on the North Branch.

Admitted to Memorial Hospital was Harry Gilpin, 40, of Flintstone, who sustained a back injury after falling off a cement truck.

Attaches said he was admitted for X-rays. He was taken to the hospital by Astor ambulance.

Maybe He Didn't Take Own Advice

PINE BLUFF, Ark., July 26 (AP) —Last week 15-year-old John Dobson of nearby Grady won an award from the National Safety Council for a slogan submitted in connection with National Farm Safety Week.

Today he's in a hospital here with a broken neck.

He was injured Sunday when he dived into shallow water when he went for a swim.

Man's Bank Was His Wooden Leg

LOS ANGELES, July 26 (AP) — When police arrested a one-legged man at his hot dog stand on suspicion of bookmaking, he denied the charge.

"I'm a poor man," complained Ralph Pattison, 25. "If I were a bookie I'd have lots of money and betting markers on me."

Officers searched Pattison's wooden leg. Inside, they said, was $3,233 in cash and three betting markers.

Congressional Viewpoint

by Sen. John M. Butler

WASHINGTON — Yesterday's newspapers, in reporting on Russian affairs, blazoned front-page headlines such as these: "Khrushchev Sees New Soviet Gains"—"Bulganin Admits Unrest in Satellite Countries"—"Bulganin, in Warsaw, Assails 'Vacillation' in Soviet Ranks." Each of these articles spring from comments by the two Soviet leaders, and it would certainly seem that these mouthpieces for communism are engaged in an annoying sally of double talk. Through the years, similar contradictions have been voiced to achieve some timely objective in advancing the cause of worldwide communism. There is much reason to suspect the same devious purpose in these latest instances.

In denouncing and "down-grading" Stalin—a long-time Communist idol, the Kremlin masters in the judgment of many seek "to kill two birds with one stone." First, all blame for unhappiness of life behind the iron curtain is laid firmly at the feet of the dead Stalin. And, secondly, by carefully cultivating the illusion that the Soviet Union cherishes peace, these same dictators hope to convince the free world of the absurdity of further expenditures for armaments. When viewed in these terms, all mystery is shorn from the actions of the Communist regime during the past year.

Said another way, the Communist policy has returned to the popular-front device, fashionable during the 1932-1952 period in this country of wooing and winning the cooperation of humanitarian and democratic organizations throughout the world. People of good-will are now asked to believe that communism, without Stalin, offers the only hope for a peaceful and ideal way of life. In all this, with typical propaganda deceit and thoroughness, freedom, justice and universal welfare are the major themes. But, the lasting historical fact is that communism, with or without Stalin, is still tyranny. And this tyrannical oppression of the Soviet Union extends to 11 satellite states and some 700 million enslaved persons, with what could hardly be described as durable control—witness the recent uprisings in East Germany, Poland, Hungary and elsewhere.

Transparency of these efforts "to kill two birds" is indicative in the reality that Khrushchev, while denouncing Stalin, has persistently refrained from attacking the doctrines of communism. The political philosophy of the Soviet Union is still, as always, based on Godless communism, one of the most impelling objectives of which is the destruction of all capitalistic nations like the United States.

Duke Objects To Crowds

COWES, England, July 26 (AP)—The Duke of Edinburgh has informed officials on the Isle of Wight that he will not compete in the famed Cowes Regatta next month if he is pestered again by sightseers and photographers following his yacht in motorboats. The duke skippers his own yacht.

Only One Channel?

LONDON, July 26 (AP)—Moscow radio home news program claims a man living in the Kharkov district of the Ukraine has perfected a homemade television set that brings in clear pictures from Britain — 1,500 miles away.

Dog Candy Fails To Help Postmen

DETROIT, July 26 (AP)—Detroit mailmen have stopped passing out candy to dogs with the sorry conclusion that it makes friendly dogs friendlier, and mean dogs meaner.

During June, the postmen received 2,400 packages of tasty dog candy to cut down on the hazard of dog bites. At the end of the experiment, there were 17 bites, compared with nine for the same month in 1955.

Senate Cloakroom

by Sen. J. Glenn Beall

Two constituents who wanted to know my position on a certain piece of legislation recently wrote me a joint letter saying:

"...for once, instead of writing us the usual brush-off letter that says nothing, won't you please tell us... (etc.)."

Checking on my past correspondence with the letter-writers, I found that I had communicated with them on several bills which were pending at the time before committees, of which I am not a member.

Each time I explained the situation, adding that I would keep my constituents' views in mind when voting on the measures in their final form on the Senate floor.

Not "Brush-Off"

If my letters appeared to say "nothing," I am sorry, but actually there was little more I could have said.

I can state, however, that my answers were definitely not a "brush-off."

To show the reasons why I wrote to my fellow Marylanders as I did, I would like to explain the problem concerning pending bills which confronts all legislators.

The roots of the difficulty lie in the fact that the legislation which ultimately is presented to the full Senate is frequently quite different from the bill which was originally introduced.

Here's why.

When the sponsors of a new bill present their proposed law, it is immediately referred to a committee.

Most senators serve on only two of the Senate's 15 standing committees, so it is obvious that each legislator cannot have direct contact with all of the thousands of bills under committee consideration.

Amendments And Revisions

Sometimes bills pass through subcommittees and committees without change.

More frequently, the measures are amended or almost completely revised.

Finally, they are reported to the Senate floor, where all 96 members have an opportunity to make further changes.

The system operates efficiently, but it does have the effect of making many men extra careful of their remarks about matters which might change so radically.

This is due to the fact that although a senator might be in agreement with the major portions of some new measure, he would eventually have to vote against it because of unacceptable amendments he had not foreseen.

I have always felt, therefore, that it would be misleading to make definite promises in connection with certain issues, and then be forced to reverse my announced position because of last-minute amendments which changed the character of the overall measure.

Furthermore, I have always tried to keep an open mind on the various issues which come before the Congress so that I could profit from any general debate which might precede final voting.

Maybe He Didn't Take Own Advice

PINE BLUFF, Ark., July 26 (AP) —Last week 15-year-old John Dobson of nearby Grady won an award from the National Safety Council for a slogan submitted in connection with National Farm Safety Week.

Today he's in a hospital here with a broken neck.

He was injured Sunday when he dived into shallow water when he went for a swim.

Man's Bank Was His Wooden Leg

LOS ANGELES, July 26 (AP) — When police arrested a one-legged man at his hot dog stand on suspicion of bookmaking, he denied the charge.

"I'm a poor man," complained Ralph Pattison, 25. "If I were a bookie I'd have lots of money and betting markers on me."

Officers searched Pattison's wooden leg. Inside, they said, was $3,233 in cash and three betting markers.

Congressional Viewpoint

by Sen. John M. Butler

WASHINGTON — Yesterday's newspapers, in reporting on Russian affairs, blazoned front-page headlines such as these: "Khrushchev Sees New Soviet Gains"—"Bulganin Admits Unrest in Satellite Countries"—"Bulganin, in Warsaw, Assails 'Vacillation' in Soviet Ranks." Each of these articles spring from comments by the two Soviet leaders, and it would certainly seem that these mouthpieces for communism are engaged in an annoying sally of double talk. Through the years, similar contradictions have been voiced to achieve some timely objective in advancing the cause of worldwide communism. There is much reason to suspect the same devious purpose in these latest instances.

In denouncing and "down-grading" Stalin—a long-time Communist idol, the Kremlin masters in the judgment of many seek "to kill two birds with one stone." First, all blame for unhappiness of life behind the iron curtain is laid firmly at the feet of the dead Stalin. And, secondly, by carefully cultivating the illusion that the Soviet Union cherishes peace, these same dictators hope to convince the free world of the absurdity of further expenditures for armaments. When viewed in these terms, all mystery is shorn from the actions of the Communist regime during the past year.

Said another way, the Communist policy has returned to the popular-front device, fashionable during the 1932-1952 period in this country of wooing and winning the cooperation of humanitarian and democratic organizations throughout the world. People of good-will are now asked to believe that communism, without Stalin, offers the only hope for a peaceful and ideal way of life. In all this, with typical propaganda deceit and thoroughness, freedom, justice and universal welfare are the major themes. But, the lasting historical fact is that communism, with or without Stalin, is still tyranny. And this tyrannical oppression of the Soviet Union extends to 11 satellite states and some 700 million enslaved persons, with what could hardly be described as durable control—witness the recent uprisings in East Germany, Poland, Hungary and elsewhere.

Transparency of these efforts "to kill two birds" is indicative in the reality that Khrushchev, while denouncing Stalin, has persistently refrained from attacking the doctrines of communism. The political philosophy of the Soviet Union is still, as always, based on Godless communism, one of the most impelling objectives of which is the destruction of all capitalistic nations like the United States.

On The Line

by Bob Considine

GALVESTON, Tex., July 26 (INS) (INS) — Babe Didrickson Zaharias, the greatest woman athlete of all time, has cancer of the sacrum. The sacrum is the bone plate out of which the spine extends.

Two weeks ago this remarkably courageous girl underwent a five-hour operation that severed, just below her brain, certain nerves which for weeks had been transmitting the news to her mind that her legs hurt excruciatingly.

Previously, Babe underwent massive surgery for another cancer. A year ago she was operated on for a spinal disc, which she feels was brought about by performing a little chore which would occur to comparatively few others of either sex—she lifted the back end of her car out of the sand in which it had become mired.

The pieces about Babe will be along a bit later.

This preliminary offering concerns the disease itself. Only a few years back, one seldom saw the word cancer in print. Mention of it was in whispers. People died of an "incurable malady," the obits piously reported, often at the insistence of the family. The patient more often than not was left in the dark by physician, kin and friend. Under the circumstances, raising money to combat something as rarely mentioned in the U. S. as beri-beri was plain hell.

As recently as the comparatively enlightened 1948, nine doctors and close associates of Babe Ruth kept the news from him that his trouble was cancer. They humored him to the extent of extracting several teeth, which Ruth had concluded with iron resolution was the cause of the great pains in his jaws and head.

Ruth underwent surgery by the great Dr. Hippolyte Wertheim, whose own doctors are said to have ascertained shortly before that the "ulcer" Wertheim complained about was a malignancy. The legend is that he, also, was not told.

But the break-through had already commenced. The U. S. Public Health Service was wringing a few more but still inadequate millions out of the Treasury for cancer research. In New York, where the great Sloan-Kettering Institute was rising next to Memorial Hospital, and elsewhere in the land, the exact nature of the pitiless enemy of man was being explored. Still, it was a shock to many to see the word "cancer" in the first sentence of the announcement that Sen. Brien McMahon had died.

The death of Damon Runyon and Eddie Duchin, one of cancer of the larynx, the other of the blood cancer leukemia, the emergence of the Damon Runyon Cancer Fund (which mostly through the work of Walter Winchell and Dan Parker has raised $12,000,000 without a penny's investment in administrative costs), the American Cancer Society's continued diligence, and the work of other organizations and individuals all have combined to spell out the word so that all can understand.

Today, so few years after the hushed age, it would be unthinkable to write from Galveston's superb John Sealy Hospital (a division of the medical branch of the University of Texas) that Babe Zaharias is suffering from a "lingering ailment." The Babe has cancer, bad cancer. She and her devoted husband and the staff at John Sealy and some of the most responsible wheels of the city have put their hearts and muscle into the Babe Didrickson Zaharias Fund, Inc., University Station, Galveston, Tex., to the end that others might be spared the cross this stout-hearted and struggling champion carries today.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Dorothy Manners

(Substituting for vacationing Louella Parsons)

HOLLYWOOD, July 26 (INS)—Burt Lancaster, who works miracles casting his independent pictures along with partner Harold Hecht, has both Katharine Hepburn and Audrey Hepburn for his costars in "First Love." There's a casting coup if I ever heard one, both the lovely Hepburns in one armful.

John Van Dreuten's script from the novel by Ivan Turgeniev won't go until late in the year. It's the story of an adolescent boy who "falls in love" with a woman of 23 (Audrey). She in turn falls for the boy's father (Burt). His wife is the other Miss Hepburn, Katharine, with whom Burt has become friendly making "The Rainmaker."

Want to bet that MGM hasn't the inside track for "My Fair Lady"? J. Alan Lerner checks into the Beverly Hills Hotel this week to do "Gigi" at MGM and I can't believe that while they have him cooped up in their power, there won't be many discussions about the musical which is the biggest hit Broadway has had in years.

There's also some hot talk that Rex Harrison will continue his stage role in the film. But the possibility is that Julie Andrews, so enchanting in the show, might be replaced by a "movie" name.

Keith Andes has a real reason now to be irked about the rains holding up "Interlude" in Munich. He's due back here August 15 to start "The Girl Most Likely" with Jane Powell and Carol Channing at RKO—and that date is definite.

Checking in at RKO will be like coming home to Keith. His first click was on this lot with Barbara Stanwyck and Marilyn Monroe in "Clash by Night." Funny thing about Keith's role in "The Girl Most Likely," Bill Dozier hasn't yet made up his mind which one of the three male leads Andes will play. Just get home, boy.

Nice break for Florence Marley getting herself the leading role in the Chicago and New York (repeat there) run of the stage hit, "Witness for the Prosecution." Now watch film producers start bidding for her again.

For the past two years she's been making movies away from Hollywood in Chile and Mexico City. There was one time when Paramount was touting the French-born actress as "another Garbo."

Before she goes into "Prosecution" she'll make her debut on TV in "A Girl Without a Country," both the stage and TV jobs being set by agent Paul Kohner.

Hollywood in shorts:

Mary Kaye expects her baby in January, yet she's planning to work with her trio until December.

Cleo Moore and Brad Dexter doing the town from Jack's at the Beach to the Mocambo on the Strip.

The Guy Madisons have taken Missy Erin Patricia Madison home from the hospital.

David Rose did such an outstanding job conducting Cole Porter Night at the bowl he's been signed by CBS to conduct the Cole Porter TV spectacular September 29.

Rosemary Clooney and Jose Ferrer's second bambino is due in two weeks. Then Rosie's off to Europe to shoot scenes for her TV show.

Like old home week Jackie Cooper visited Sid Miller directing "The Mickey Mouse Club" series for Walt Disney. The boys were child actors together.

Jimmy McHugh Jr. has set Harry Carey Jr. for a continuation of his "Spin and Marty" TV series at Disney's.

If you saw the "Proud and Profane" you'll remember Bill Redfield who played the chaplain. He does a switch over to comedy now for the George Gobel-Diana Dors picture at RKO "I Married a Woman."

The preview audiences are raving over "The Brave One" about, of all things, a boy and a bull—but it's Director Irving Rapper who makes it the hit it's sure to be.

That's all today.

Teen-Ager Is Sentenced For Thefts

Magistrate Morris Baron yesterday passed sentence on the two area youths who staged thefts at two Oldtown homes last Friday night.

Magistrate Baron sentenced one boy, who seemed to be the "leader," to the Maryland Training School for Boys, and placed the other teen-ager on parole.

The youngsters, both 13, broke into the homes of Lionel M. Davis and James L. Cook, both of the Oldtown section, and stole approximately $68 in cash.

After taking the money the youths went on a spending spree in Cumberland. They "went through" more than $22 in a few hours, purchasing such items as cigaret lighters, cigarets, knives, watches, soft drinks, candy, took in a movie, and played pinball machines and shuffleboard machines.

Sgt. William F. Baker, criminal investigator for the Maryland State Police, presented the case in Juvenile Court.

Tips On Dips–1

So you're going to the beach to have a good time—fine! But beware of having fun at the other fellow's expense. Horseplay like this might result in injury to one of your friends, so—resist the impulse. You can learn more about water safety from your Red Cross.

On The Line

by Bob Considine

GALVESTON, Tex., July 26 (INS) (INS) — Babe Didrickson Zaharias, the greatest woman athlete of all time, has cancer of the sacrum. The sacrum is the bone plate out of which the spine extends.

Two weeks ago this remarkably courageous girl underwent a five-hour operation that severed, just below her brain, certain nerves which for weeks had been transmitting the news to her mind that her legs hurt excruciatingly.

Previously, Babe underwent massive surgery for another cancer. A year ago she was operated on for a spinal disc which she feels was brought about by performing a little chore which would occur to comparatively few others of either sex—she lifted the back end of her car out of the sand in which it had become mired.

The pieces about Babe will be along a bit later.

This preliminary offering concerns the disease itself. Only a few years back, one seldom saw the word cancer in print. Mention of it was in whispers. People died of an "incurable malady," the obits piously reported, often at the insistence of the family. The patient more often than not was left in the dark by physician, kin and friend. Under the circumstances, raising money to combat something as rarely mentioned in the U. S. as beri-beri was plain hell.

As recently as the comparatively enlightened 1948, nine doctors and close associates of Babe Ruth kept the news from him that his trouble was cancer. They humored him to the extent of extracting several teeth, which Ruth had concluded with iron resolution was the cause of the great pains in his jaws and head.

Ruth underwent surgery by the great Dr. Hippolyte Wertheim, whose own doctors are said to have ascertained shortly before that the "ulcer" Wertheim complained about was a malignancy. The legend is that he, also, was not told.

But the break-through had already commenced. The U. S. Public Health Service was wringing a few more but still inadequate millions out of the Treasury for cancer research. In New York, where the great Sloan-Kettering Institute was rising next to Memorial Hospital, and elsewhere in the land, the exact nature of the pitiless enemy of man was being explored. Still, it was a shock to many to see the word "cancer" in the first sentence of the announcement that Sen. Brien McMahon had died.

The death of Damon Runyon and Eddie Duchin, one of cancer of the larynx, the other of the blood cancer leukemia, the emergence of the Damon Runyon Cancer Fund (which mostly through the work of Walter Winchell and Dan Parker has raised $12,000,000 without a penny's investment in administrative costs), the American Cancer Society's continued diligence, and the work of other organizations and individuals all have combined to spell out the word so that all can understand.

Today, so few years after the hushed age, it would be unthinkable to write from Galveston's superb John Sealy Hospital (a division of the medical branch of the University of Texas) that Babe Zaharias is suffering from a "lingering ailment." The Babe has cancer, bad cancer. She and her devoted husband and the staff at John Sealy and some of the most responsible wheels of the city have put their hearts and muscle into the Babe Didrickson Zaharias Fund, Inc., University Station, Galveston, Tex., to the end that others might be spared the cross this stout-hearted and struggling champion carries today.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

(Substituting for vacationing Louella Parsons)

HOLLYWOOD, July 26 (INS)—Burt Lancaster, who works miracles casting his independent pictures along with partner Harold Hecht, has both Katharine Hepburn and Audrey Hepburn for his costars in "First Love." There's a casting coup if I ever heard one, both the lovely Hepburns in one armful.

John Van Dreuten's script from the novel by Ivan Turgeniev won't go until late in the year. It's the story of an adolescent boy who "falls in love" with a woman of 23 (Audrey). She in turn falls for the boy's father (Burt). His wife is the other Miss Hepburn, Katharine, with whom Burt has become friendly making "The Rainmaker."

Want to bet that MGM hasn't the inside track for "My Fair Lady"? J. Alan Lerner checks into the Beverly Hills Hotel this week to do "Gigi" at MGM and I can't believe that while they have him cooped up in their power, there won't be many discussions about the musical which is the biggest hit Broadway has had in years.

There's also some hot talk that Rex Harrison will continue his stage role in the film. But the possibility is that Julie Andrews, so enchanting in the show, might be replaced by a "movie" name.

Keith Andes has a real reason now to be irked about the rains holding up "Interlude" in Munich. He's due back here August 15 to start "The Girl Most Likely" with Jane Powell and Carol Channing at RKO—and that date is definite.

Checking in at RKO will be like coming home to Keith. His first click was on this lot with Barbara Stanwyck and Marilyn Monroe in "Clash by Night." Funny thing about Keith's role in "The Girl Most Likely," Bill Dozier hasn't yet made up his mind which one of the three male leads Andes will play. Just get home, boy.

Nice break for Florence Marley getting herself the leading role in the Chicago and New York (repeat there) run of the stage hit, "Witness for the Prosecution." Now watch film producers start bidding for her again.

For the past two years she's been making movies away from Hollywood in Chile and Mexico City. There was one time when Paramount was touting the French-born actress as "another Garbo."

Before she goes into "Prosecution" she'll make her debut on TV in "A Girl Without a Country," both the stage and TV jobs being set by agent Paul Kohner.

Hollywood in shorts:

Mary Kaye expects her baby in January, yet she's planning to work with her trio until December.

Cleo Moore and Brad Dexter doing the town from Jack's at the Beach to the Mocambo on the Strip.

The Guy Madisons have taken Missy Erin Patricia Madison home from the hospital.

David Rose did such an outstanding job conducting Cole Porter Night at the bowl he's been signed by CBS to conduct the Cole Porter TV spectacular September 29.

Rosemary Clooney and Jose Ferrer's second bambino is due in two weeks. Then Rosie's off to Europe to shoot scenes for her TV show.

Like old home week Jackie Cooper visited Sid Miller directing "The Mickey Mouse Club" series for Walt Disney. The boys were child actors together.

Jimmy McHugh Jr. has set Harry Carey Jr. for a continuation of his "Spin and Marty" TV series at Disney's.

If you saw the "Proud and Profane" you'll remember Bill Redfield who played the chaplain. He does a switch over to comedy now for the George Gobel-Diana Dors picture at RKO "I Married a Woman."

The preview audiences are raving over "The Brave One" about, of all things, a boy and a bull—but it's Director Irving Rapper who makes it the hit it's sure to be.

That's all today.

Teen-Ager Is Sentenced For Thefts

Magistrate Morris Baron yesterday passed sentence on the two area youths who staged thefts at two Oldtown homes last Friday night.

Magistrate Baron sentenced one boy, who seemed to be the "leader," to the Maryland Training School for Boys, and placed the other teen-ager on parole.

The youngsters, both 13, broke into the homes of Lionel M. Davis and James L. Cook, both of the Oldtown section, and stole approximately $68 in cash.

After taking the money the youths went on a spending spree in Cumberland. They "went through" more than $22 in a few hours, purchasing such items as cigaret lighters, cigarets, knives, watches, soft drinks, candy, took in a movie, and played pinball machines and shuffleboard machines.

Sgt. William F. Baker, criminal investigator for the Maryland State Police, presented the case in Juvenile Court.

The boys were apprehended last Saturday by City Police.

A woman should act her age, otherwise she forfeits her most valuable asset — her mature, patrician charm — and makes herself utterly ridiculous.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Be Your Age

Life may certainly begin at forty and does for many. But one should cross the line graciously and not in a giddy manner. Some of the most fascinating and attractive women I know are well over 35. They all act their age and have cultivated great charm.

Many of these same women have exercised and followed a sensible beauty diet that helps them retain their youthful figures. That doesn't mean they try to dress as they did in their 20's. Nothing is more appalling or so pathetic as the woman who appears in too youthful clothes or has a too-young behavior. It fools no one and actually makes them look older. I have seen it bring great embarrassment to their teen-age daughters and family.

A woman after forty should remember she isn't as attractive uncovered as she is covered — and leave the strapless daring, exotic evening dresses or extreme bathing suits to the young. Not only does it look better, but it is more subtle to be covered up with becoming, appropriate costumes — than daring low-cut decolletes. Emotionally and mentally as a woman passes her 40th birthday, she puts on sort of a cloak of growing up . . . physically she should do the same. Youth is outward in its expressions and revelations. But, as we mature emotionally and mentally and physically our lives are based more on a basic inward peace with ourselves and world. It should be a happy, satisfied time of our lives.

Just remember to enjoy whatever age you happen to be and let your appearance be in perfect harmony with each period of your life.

War Orphan Airlift

MADRID, July 26 (AP)—The U. S. Air Force will operate a minor airlift Aug. 2 to transport 21 German war orphans to their homes in West Berlin. The children have been vacation guests of the German colony and the Falange party Social Welfare Department. Vacation trip sponsors feared Communist seizure of the children if they went by train.

Mrs. Beneman Wins Red Cross Service Award

The Volunteer Service of Allegany County Chapter, American Red Cross, held a luncheon Wednesday at the Cumberland Country Club in honor of Mrs. Harry Beneman, who retired recently after serving ten years as chairman of the county chapter.

The affair was highlighted by the presentation of a 15-year service emblem and bar to Mrs. Beneman by Mrs. Robert F. Gerson, chairman of the chapter's Volunteer Service and general chairman of luncheon arrangements.

Guests at the affair included Mrs. George W. Legge, executive secretary of the County Red Cross Chapter, and C. M. Sanner, who succeeded Mrs. Beneman as chapter chairman. Robert Murphy, Frederick, eastern area Red Cross representative, was unable to attend because of high water in that region of the state.

Other highlights of the program included the presentation of certificates to Mrs. Ora Mae Lewis, executive secretary of the Allegany-Garrett County Heart Association, and Mrs. Harriet Boore, chairman of home nursing for the County Red Cross chapter.

The certificates signified their completion of a Red Cross course of instruction in venipuncture technique and it was pointed out that Allegany County is the only chapter among the 30 affiliated with the Johnstown (Pa.) Regional Center with any personnel qualified in this technique.

The luncheon was attended by 60 persons. Mrs. Edgar Vandegrift was luncheon chairman; Mrs. Liston Hall was in charge of reservations, and Mrs. Porter D. Collins and Mrs. James Pitkethly, chairmen of flower arrangements.

Mrs. John R. Wilkinson presented a monologue skit, "Rough Day at the Office," wearing a 1941-style of Red Cross aide uniform.

New Engle Market Opens

A second Engle's Food Market, located on the Bedford Road near Naves Crossroad, will have its formal opening today with baskets of food to be presented as prizes.

Harold (Un) Seifarth, who has been associated with his brother, Earl (Johnny) Seifarth, in the operation of the Engle Food Market at the corner of Baltimore Avenue and Decatur Street, and George W. Shallenberger, manager of the Hagan Ice Cream Company here the past three years, are in charge of the new market. Shallenberger has resigned his Hagan position.

The new location, formerly Young's Restaurant, has ample free parking space, and the market will be conducted on a self-service basis with lines of meats, produce, frozen foods and other groceries.

The first Engle Market here was opened about 35 years ago on Glenn Street by Irvin Engle, of Clarysville, an uncle of the Seifarth brothers.

The business was moved to the Baltimore Avenue-Decatur Street location in June 1953, and that operation will be continued with Earl Seifarth in charge. Engle remains with the organization in an advisory capacity.

Furnace Fires Lighted At PPG Glass Plant Here

The Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company yesterday moved another step forward in its progress to get the North Branch plant into the glass production stage.

Drying fires were lighted yesterday in the flues that carry the air and gas into the furnace.

Furnace fires were lighted in the afternoon, plant officials announced.

It will take several weeks for the 1,250,000 bricks in the flues and furnace to dry out sufficiently before the raw materials can be placed in the melting tank and production started.

Raw materials for glass making stored in silos and fed mechanically into the melting tank, are limestone, silica sand, dolomite, soda ash and "cullet."

The company reported it is hoped that the plant will be producing rough glass by the end of August.

This depends on the completion of the cooling and annealing conveyor system where construction work is being concentrated.

It has been previously announced that Pittsburgh Plate will produce a rough glass here and ship twin grinding and polishing system.

The production method that will make this glass plant the most modern in the world will be the twin grinding and polishing system.

In other plants, the procedure is to grind one side of the glass and then turn it over to finish the other side.

The North Branch plant will have a grinder and polisher and will handle both sides of the plate glass at one time.

Odom Convicted In Swindle Of Industrialist

A New York man held here several weeks last fall during the investigation of the A. Lee Green safecracking case was found guilty Wednesday by a federal court jury in Rochester, N. Y., on charges of participating in the $423,771 swindle of a Rochester industrialist.

Harold P. Odom, 60, of Valley Stream, Long Island, was found guilty on four counts of conspiracy and mail fraud.

Another man was also convicted in the case. He was George V. Arlen, 56, of Dobbs Ferry, N. Y., who was found guilty on 12 counts of conspiracy and mail fraud.

The government charged the men with defrauding Augustine J. Cunningham over a four-year period by means of false documents which showed him to be the heir to electronics patents supposedly worth $60,000,000.

Three others were indicted with Arlen and Odum.

Leo F. Hampton, 70, pleaded guilty to charges against him and was remanded to Monroe County, N. Y., jail to await sentence.

Patrick Lennon, 50, of New York City, and Aldus Turner, 62, of Hollywood, Fla., recently were given trial delays.

Cunningham, 77, is president of the James Cunningham and Son Co., Inc., makers of electronic equipment.

Odom was arrested in Baltimore on October 12 by FBI agents along with James Walter Golden, 45. They were arrested on warrants obtained by Paul M. Fletcher, state's attorney for Allegany County.

They were held in the city jail for eight days and then transferred to the county jail while being questioned by the state's attorney and his staff in connection with the Green safecracking in October 1949.

Green's safe in his LaVale home was opened and $27,000 in cash and bonds was removed. None of the stolen goods ever was recovered.

Odom and Golden were released November 9 by the state's attorney, who stated that there was insufficient evidence at that time to file charges against them.

Odom was immediately arrested by postal authorities on a federal warrant charging him with mail fraud. After a hearing before U .S. Commissioner James A. Avirett here, he was taken on November 15 by a U. S. marshal to Rochester to face arraignment in the embezzlement case.

County Schools To Try Phonovisual Teaching Method

A conference was held yesterday by Ralph R. Webster, superintendent of Allegany County Schools, and the three supervisors of elementary education on the use of a phonovisual method of teaching reading and spelling in the first and second grades of the public schools the next school term.

The supervisors, Miss Winifred Greene, Miss Elizabeth I. Flake and Miss Mildred E. Willison, led a group of 50 teachers and principals of elementary schools on a trip to the Primary Day School in Bethesda on Tuesday to see a demonstration of how the method works.

The phonovisual method was originated by Miss Lucille D. Schoolfield and Miss Josephine B. Timberlake. They founded the Primary Day School about 10 years ago with Mrs. Marie S. Buckley to prove that reading failure in the first two years of school is unnecessary for children of average intelligence.

Their contention is that the ability to read is the very foundation of learning, and without that ability no child can hope to understand, much less assimilate, the other elements of education.

The phonovisual method will be used along with other methods in use for some time in the county elementary schools, according to the three supervisors.

At the demonstration in Bethesda on Tuesday a class of children who were taking a summer course gave a graphic illustration of the system. Several "alumni" of the school took part in the demonstration. The Primary Day School is a privately operated institution.

In addition to the demonstration by the children, the Allegany County educators conferred with the parents of some of the children at a meeting. They outlined some of the problems which their children had in reading and spelling and how the instruction at the school improved them in these two phases of school work.

Furnace Fires Lighted At PPG Glass Plant Here

The Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company yesterday moved another step forward in its progress to get the North Branch plant into the glass production stage.

Drying fires were lighted yesterday in the flues that carry the air and gas into the furnace.

Furnace fires were lighted in the afternoon, plant officials announced.

It will take several weeks for the 1,250,000 bricks in the flues and furnace to dry out sufficiently before the raw materials can be placed in the melting tank and production started.

Raw materials for glass making stored in silos and fed mechanically into the melting tank, are limestone, silica sand, dolomite, soda ash and "cullet."

The company reported it is hoped that the plant will be producing rough glass by the end of August.

This depends on the completion of the cooling and annealing conveyor system where construction work is being concentrated.

It has been previously announced that Pittsburgh Plate will produce a rough glass here and ship twin grinding and polishing system.

The production method that will make this glass plant the most modern in the world will be the twin grinding and polishing system.

In other plants, the procedure is to grind one side of the glass and then turn it over to finish the other side.

The North Branch plant will have a grinder and polisher and will handle both sides of the plate glass at one time.

Odom Convicted In Swindle Of Industrialist

A New York man held here several weeks last fall during the investigation of the A. Lee Green safecracking case was found guilty Wednesday by a federal court jury in Rochester, N. Y., on charges of participating in the $423,771 swindle of a Rochester industrialist.

Harold P. Odom, 60, of Valley Stream, Long Island, was found guilty on four counts of conspiracy and mail fraud.

Another man was also convicted in the case. He was George V. Arlen, 56, of Dobbs Ferry, N. Y., who was found guilty on 12 counts of conspiracy and mail fraud.

Market Extends Advances; Steels Continue To Climb

NEW YORK, July 26 (AP) — The stock market ran its string of daily advances to six straight today as steels continued their rise and aircrafts made a late spurt.

The word failed to come today and prices of pivotal stocks, which had run ahead up to about 2 points, settled back comfortably in the afternoon to around a 1-point range.

The aircrafts came to life after directors of General Dynamics announced a 3-for-2 stock split, pushing this stock to a new high and spurring other stocks in the division.

General Dynamics headed the most active list with a gain of 4¼ at 71½ on 79,600 shares. Second came U.S. Steel, up ⅝ at 63⅝ on 50,600 shares. Third was Sperry Rand, up ⅜ at 26⅛ on 33,000 shares.

Thirteen of the 16 most active were ahead. Republic, Armco and Crucible Steel were among them, posting fractional gains.

Inland Steel advanced 2 to a new high at 92.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose 10 cents to $190.10 with the industrials up 50 cents, the rails down 90 cents and the utilities up 40 cents to another new high for this component.

Gulf Oil, regarded in Wall Street as a prime candidate for a stock split, raced ahead as much as 6¾ and closed with gain of 5¾ at 146½. Other oils were steady. Texas Co. rose 1⅛ and Standard Oil (NJ) ⅜.

Market Extends Advances; Steels Continue To Climb

NEW YORK, July 26 (AP) — The stock market ran its string of daily advances to six straight today as steels continued their rise and aircrafts made a late spurt.

The word failed to come today and prices of pivotal stocks, which had run ahead up to about 2 points, settled back comfortably in the afternoon to around a 1-point range.

The aircrafts came to life after directors of General Dynamics announced a 3-for-2 stock split, pushing this stock to a new high and spurring other stocks in the division.

General Dynamics headed the most active list with a gain of 4¼ at 71½ on 79,600 shares. Second came U.S. Steel, up ⅝ at 63⅝ on 50,600 shares. Third was Sperry Rand, up ⅜ at 26⅛ on 33,000 shares.

Thirteen of the 16 most active were ahead. Republic, Armco and Crucible Steel were among them, posting fractional gains.

Inland Steel advanced 2 to a new high at 92.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose 10 cents to $190.10 with the industrials up 50 cents, the rails down 90 cents and the utilities up 40 cents to another new high for this component.

Gulf Oil, regarded in Wall Street as a prime candidate for a stock split, raced ahead as much as 6¾ and closed with gain of 5¾ at 146½. Other oils were steady. Texas Co. rose 1⅛ and Standard Oil (NJ) ⅜.

Henry Was Razzed But He Was Right

When Commerce Secretary Henry Wallace said in 1945 that America could and should provide 60 million jobs for its people, he got raspberries from both the right and the left. There were those on the right who called Wallace an impractical dreamer and his talk about 60 million jobs fantastic. On the left it was then fashionable to say that America would have something like 10 million unemployed within a year after the war ended.

But this prediction, unlike many of Mr. Wallace's other vagaries, has stood up. In 1950, his dream of the vague future was fulfilled and more than 60 million Americans had paying jobs. In every year since 1950 employment has remained above the 60-million level, and only the most confirmed pessimist expects to see it drop below 60 million again. The latest available employment figure is 66.5 million jobs, almost 11 per cent higher than Wallace's "impractical dream."

What was it the late Arthur Brisbane used to keep saying? "Don't sell America short." When Mr. Wallace took that advice, he did all right.

In fairness to those who sneered in 1945, however, it should be pointed out that Wallace spoke of 60 million jobs when the estimated population of the United States was a bit under 140 million. Today it has risen to about 168 million, which is 20 per cent higher. Today's equivalent of 60 million jobs in 1945 would therefore be about 72 million jobs, and we're still almost eight per cent short of that figure.

But don't sell America short. The 60-million figure is outdated. Economic seers can raise their sights now, and confidently predict at least 70 million jobs by 1960.

Chief Enemy Of Communism

Now that the Communists have lost their popularity, there are many, even among those who in the 1930s and 1940s were either pro-Communist or neutral about the entire subject, who set claim to astounding success in their opposition to communism. There can, of course, be no monopoly of righteousness. We are being told by some that Socialists are the most competent opponents of communism, hoping presumably that all will forget the period of the United Front, which Khrushchev is now trying to resurrect. Such organizations as the League against War and Fascism and the League for Peace and Democracy included more Socialists than Communists. The League for Peace and Democracy developed a membership of about 4,000,000 at a time when the highest estimate for the Communist party was a little over 100,000. It was a United Front group that conducted the Communist side of the Spanish Civil War and that brought Czechoslovakia into the Soviet fold.

Pravda differs with those who announce their own importance. It seems to regard John Foster Dulles as the "sworn enemy of communism." In a long and bitter argument, attacking Dulles and the American State Department, Pravda not only denounced Dulles's fight on communism but admits that it is achieving a measure of success.

Let me quote Pravda, the official organ of the Russian Communist party:

"The United States State Department, having abandoned diplomacy, has become the headquarters of a propaganda campaign launched by it around the personality cult. The aim of this campaign is to cast a shadow on the great ideas of Marxism-Leninism, to undermine the confidence of the working people in the first Socialist state in the world, the Soviet Union, and to introduce dissension and confusion within the ranks of the world's Communist and workers movement."

Of course, dissension and confusion were produced by Khrushchev's two speeches at the 20th Congress and by the speeches of Mikoyan and others, denouncing Stalin and admitting by implication that whatever anti-Communists anywhere in the world said against Stalin during the past 20 years, was only a hesitant approach to the horrible truth. If John Foster Dulles added much to the confusion among Communist and Socialist parties, most Americans will be proud of Dulles and not a little surprised that such praise of his efforts should first appear in Pravda, for any indication of effectiveness in this fight is a measure of praise and a subject for congratulations.

Pravda says:

"The facts show that in this case we are dealing not with a conventional propaganda campaign, of which during the years of the cold war the United States State Department organized quite a few. It is an extensively elaborated new political plan on which the United States reactionary circles are staking much."

Pravda also says:

"The United States statesmen who pretend to the leadership of the entire capitalist world have seized on the past mistakes and shortcomings in connection with Stalin's cult in the USSR, which were condemned by the 20th CPSU Congress and have been rectified already by the CPSU Central Committee."

One must rejoice over these compliments. Naturally we look forward to the breaking up of the enormous empire which Stalin had been building into a universal state. So, that is what John Foster Dulles has been doing on his trips around the world; he has apparently been Communist-busting. Surely, Americans will not hate him for that.

Look at what Pravda says:

"Similar tactics are being suggested by the ideologists of imperialism also for use against the Communist parties in capitalist countries. They are trying to undermine the international ties of the world's workers' movement. It is the same Dulles, this sworn enemy of communism, who is ready to swear that he is not against Communist parties as such, but merely against the fact that they are 'too closely' connected with the Communist party of the Soviet Union."

Did Dulles ever say that he is not against Communist parties? Pravda must be making that up. There may be folks in the State Department who think only in terms of external affairs. Such men may say that only Russia is wicked but that the American Communist party is just a political party like the Democrats and more so than the ADA. But I hope that Dulles never said that.

And He Was All Set For A Picnic

Stassen's Vice Presidential Choice Not Herter

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — Who really is the vice presidential candidate that Harold Stassen is backing? It certainly isn't Governor Herter of Massachusetts, who, it now develops, wasn't consulted by Mr. Stassen before launching the boom for him. In fact, Governor Herter will make the speech placing Mr. Nixon in nomination at the convention.

The objective of Mr. Stassen and those who are in league with him is to bring about the removal of Vice President Nixon from the ticket. It isn't so much a pro-Herter move as an anti-Nixon maneuver. For one thing, there is some doubt as to whether the Massachusetts governor is constitutionally eligible, since he was born abroad. It would take a Supreme Court decision to clear up the doubt, and that would only give the Democrats a campaign argument because no such decision probably could be obtained between August and November.

Nixon Gaining Strength

But who are the people back of the Stassen coup? There are all sorts of rumors afloat, and the finger points to a "left wing" coterie in New York City which put up money for the polls with the avowed object of developing statistical data to force Mr. Nixon out of the race.

The so-called polls or how they were taken and what the questions were have not been revealed, but the Gallup Polls in recent months have actually shown Mr. Nixon to have gained steadily in strength over the last year as compared to a year ago.

This correspondent has known Mr. Nixon for many years. He is a modest, hard-working, conscientious and straightforward individual wohse principal "sin" seems to have been that he helped to expose Alger Hiss and fought the Communists. Another "sin" is that he told the voters frankly what he thought of the Communist infiltration in government. This apparently is the kind of campaigning which some of the Democrats don't like, though Harry Truman never handled any issue with kid gloves and went so far as to question the integrity and patriotism of General Eisenhower in the 1952 campagn — something Mr. Nixon never did with respect to any opponent.

The attempt to "get Nixon" will not succeed. It will boomerang. In some respects, it is better that the insidious campaign has come out into the open so that the voters can learn the whys and wherefores of the anti-Nixon smears and just who in the so-called "liberal" wing of the Republican party has fallen for the anti-Nixon propaganda stirred up by the Democrats.

Target Of Democrats

Certainly the Democrats have been keeping up a steady attack in the hope of creating friction for the Republicans. In fact, 95 per cent of the criticism of Mr. Nixon has come from Democrats, who resent his effectiveness as a campaigner. For, singlehanded, he saved many a seat for the Republicans in Congress during the 1954 campaign.

The adroitness of the anti-Nixonites is emphasized by the way Harold Stassen referred to his conversation last Friday with the President. He gave at first to the newsmen the impression that Mr. Eisenhower had no objection and hence really favored Stassen's move for Herter. Now it turns out that the President made it clear to Mr. Stassen that he would be acting as an individual "and not as a member of the President's official family." This was a palpable disavowal.

No sooner was the annuoncement made on Tuesday afternoon that Governor Herter would make the speech nominating Mr. Nixon at San Francisco than Mr. Stassen issued a comment implying it was a kind of cooked-up deal and that one had agreed to nominate the other. No such understanding, however, has been reached with Mr. Nixon.

Even more disingenuous was Mr. Stassen's statement to the press on Monday. He gave the impression that he had tactfully and politely notified Mr. Nixon as a matter of courtesy. Yet the letter sent to Mr. Nixon on Monday, a few hours before the press conference, was about as discourteous a piece of writing as has been noted between supposedly friendly members of the same administration.

Ike Not So Naive

It looks odd to have Stassen, special assistant to the President, writing to a member of the same cabinet that the nomination of the vice president would hurt the "prospects of a lasting peace" and would not satisfy the "uncommitted nations." This is taken to mean that the speeches made by Mr. Nixon about "neutral" nations recently, with the full approval of Secretary Dulles and the President, are opposed by Mr. Stassen and his group. It means some kind of declaration of war against the leadership of the President himself.

Mr. Stassen assumed that Mr. Eisenhower will sit back and let a factional fight develop on a "let the better man win" basis just a few weeks before the national convention. Mr. Eisenhower may be unfamiliar with the ways of party politics, but he isn't as naive as the Stassen clique thinks he is. To date many of the friends of the late Senator Taft, whom Stassen antagonized in the bitter 1952 primary campaign in Ohio, and the members of Congress of every shade of Republicanism have rallied to Mr. Nixon's side. It could gain further momentum when the President himself speaks out for Mr. Nixon, as he is certainly expected to do before long.

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

The keynote at Chicago and San Francisco will be, "vote early, fast and often." A platform will never take the place of a grandstand at the inaugural parade.

We're not coaching from Keynoter Clements' sidelines but everytime he bangs that gavel he should make a point or kill a roach.

He has said he would represent the Democratic party and all the people who can crowd into the stockyards auditorium. His job will be to separate the bleats from the baas.

Gov. Clements leans toward Stevenson and reconstructs no dinosaurs about it. However, when polling a delegation he can toss out an over-ripe alternate or a mildewed proxy.

The gimmick they call parliamentary procedure is the silken cord of the Borgias. High class strangulation.

Both Democratic and Republican keynoters will be successful. The ghost writers wrote in plenty of applause.

Silence never gives consent at conventions.

Too Much Exposure To Sun Can Be Detrimental

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

It may take us 100 years to acquire respect for the sun's rays. The Arab tribes living close to old Sol on the deserts of Asia and Africa protect their skin with yards and yards of cotton material. In this country, sunbathing has become a fad and that golden glow is synonymous with health and vitality.

Some Northerners get a double dose when they spend the winter in the South. There is no harm in reasonable exposure but too much is detrimental. Everyone knows that over exposure initially burns the skin. When healing occurs the increased pigment makes the skin resistant to further burning for a certain length of time.

Tanning is nature's method of screening out ultraviolet rays. Following exposure, certain cells of the skin are stimulated to produce pigment, which protects for a short time. But with continued exposure, some persons such as farmers, sailors, and bricklayers who spend most of their lives out of doors become sensitive again and develop chronic sunburn. In such instances the normal protective and reparative process is exhausted.

The skin becomes dry and wrinkled. Permanent freckling occurs and some show patches of white or depigmented areas. Continued exposure for 20 or more years leads to scaly, slightly elevated, irregular, brownish spots over the face, arms, hands and neck. Some of these lesions become cancerous.

The blue-eyed blond and pink-skinned individual suffer most along this line. Persons of Scottish and Scottish-Irish descent with a fair or ruddy complexion are in this category. When they immigrated to the Carolinas or Australia, where they were exposed to 10 times more sunlight than at home, many developed cancer of the skin. Sometimes the entire family have one or more lesions of this type.

Cancer of the skin is five times more common in the South than in the North. In some parts of Dixie and in Colorado, skin malignancies outrank all other cancers in contrast to Chicago, for example, where the rate is 12.5 per cent. The most logical explanation is the annual average temperature and the hours of sunshine.

TOMORROW: Keep minor wounds sterile.

FEVER WITH INFECTION

Mrs. L. writes: Does the temperature go up in pyelitis?

REPLY

Yes, as a rule. In addition there are many other symptoms and findings when inflammation attacks the pelvis or the kidney. We have a leaflet on pyelitis that may be obtained by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope with request.

SQUEAKING JOINTS

J. K. writes: Will olive oil replace the fluid that has burned out in my knees?

REPLY

No. Grating knee joints can not be blamed on poor lubrication. The cause is roughness or other irregularities on the capsule or surface of the joints.

WHOLE ORANGE

W. B. writes: I eat an orange a day, pulp and all. But my husband tells me I ought to discard the pulp. Will eating it affect my health?

REPLY

No. Include the skin too, if you like it.

SULFA AND WATER

W. D. writes: Why does the doctor advise drinking lots of water when he prescribes a sulfa drug?

REPLY

Because certain sulfonamides, especially sulfadiazine, crystalize in the urine unless there is ample fluid to keep them in solution.

ANNUAL COLDS

J. W. writes: What is the overall average of colds per year?

REPLY

Statisticians report an average of three; children and some adults have more than three and most adults have fewer. I have known people who average one cold in five years. Accurate statistics along this line are difficult to obtain because everyone has a different idea as to what constitutes a cold.

WHITE PLAQUES

C. T. writes: What is smoker's tongue?

REPLY

Leucoplakia, or the appearance of whitish patches on the mucous membranes. When the condition appears in the mouth, especially the tongue, the irritation from smoking is thought to be a factor. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for our leaflet on this disorder.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellan will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me!

By Bennett Cerf

Suggested bit of dialogue for Tennessee Williams' next romantic play about the magnolia-laden Southland:

"Sugar, ah think mahty highly of yo' new even' gown."

"Sho' nuff?"

"It sho does!"

Rich old coot who had been hard of hearing for years met a famous ear doctor on a ship, as a result of which he came home equipped with a fabulous new hearing aid. He told nobody about it—just moseyed along about his business with his mouth closed and his new hearing aid open.

In the next two weeks, he changed his will three times.

In Dallas, an oil man's wife had to learn to drive a car, because every morning the kids hollered, "Get the car out, mom, and drive us to the back yard so we can play!"

Stassen Had Go-Ahead, No Blessing From Ike On Dump-Nixon Proposal

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—In the shadows behind Harold Stassen and his "dump-Dick" movement are such powerful Republicans as Gen. Lucius Clay, Ike's intimate friend; Sidney Weinberg, the Wall Street banker; Paul Hoffman, the ex-Marshall Plan administrator; Jack McClow, head of the Chase Bank and former high commissioner to Germany. They don't dislike Dick, but they do consider him a drag on the ticket. With repeated attention focused on Ike's health, they know the public will be voting not alone for the President, but for the man who would replace him—if . . . These backstage bigwigs wanted someone to break the Nixon ice . . . Henry Luce's potent publications fired two shots which had the earmarks of an artillery barrage in preparation for the dump-Dick movement. Life magazine carried a penetrating, not too friendly diagnosis of Nixon. Time carried a devastating diagnosis of Ike's medical history, stating that the heart attack lessened his life expectancy 30 per cent, that recurrence of ileitis was 50 per cent . . . Though Eisenhower didn't encourage Stassen, inside fact is that he didn't discourage him. Ike was quite willing to have a trial balloon launched by others with no responsibility by him . . . Stassen has shown courage in various moves around the White House. He was the first to tangle with McCarthy. But he doesn't go out on such an important political limb without a green light from Mr. Big . . . Chris Herter Jr., son of the Massachusetts governor whom Stassen is booming to replace Nixon, was once an administrative assistant to Nixon. After that he became counsel to Stassen's Foreign Operations Administration.

Texas Tantrums—The Lone Star State goes into its big election battle Saturday with some interesting candidates on the ballot . . . Warren G. Harding is running for state treasurer against Jesse James . . . Two men are running who are under indictment. J. Roy Ramsour, under indictment for murder and facing trial, is running for justice of the peace in Edinburg . . . George Parr, who has served time for income tax evasion and is now under a new federal indictment, is running for sheriff of Duval County. Last week he was arrested for threatening a county official with a rifle. . . . In Brownsville, Sen. Roger Kelley, law partner of county political boss J. C. Looney, is being opposed by Hubert Hudson, scion of Oklahoma-Texas oil millions. The Kelley-Looney law firm accepted and kept a $4,800 retainer from U. S. Trust, the now bankrupt Texas insurance company . . . Royce Oxford is running for district judge on a platform of permitting lawyers to take off their coats in the courtroom . . . It's hot in Texas!

Cautious Ike—Careful examination of Eisenhower's Nixon statements shows that he personally never went overboard for Dick . . . His first statement was that he had told Nixon to "chart his course"—not exactly a warm embrace for a running mate. Nixon then phoned various GOP state leaders, said he was taking soundings to see what course he should chart, wanted their opinion. Flattered, most said they favored him. Nixon kept a score-sheet, let it come to Ike's attention . . . Suddenly, just before Murray Chotiner, his campaign manager, was scheduled to appear before a Senate committee, Nixon rushed into the White House for a late-afternoon, unscheduled visit. He had not been on the calling list. He told Ike he had charted his course, would like to run . . . Nixon's friend Hagerty said Ike was "delighted." . . . But there was no personal statement from the President, no posing together for photographers, as is customary . . . . After the second illness, word came from Len Hall that the ticket would be the same. But there was no statement from Ike himself . . . . He did not deny, but also did not affirm. His tactics in other disputes, such as the Army-McCarthy row, the State Department - McCarthy row, have been to let those around him battle things out . . . . Len Hall's strategy has been to avoid a nomination dispute, keep a united front at San Francisco and before. Len was never personally enthusiastic about Nixon, but he has been Nixon's best political friend because he believes in unity.

Adlai Had To Choose — Adlai Stevenson had to choose between Mrs. Mahoney and Mrs. Monroney the other night after the Senator George dinner. Mrs. Florence Mahoney had invited him to a reception after the dinner. Mrs. Mike Monroney, wife of the senator from Oklahoma, invited him to meet a distinguished group of senators, also after the dinner. He chose Mrs. Mahoney . . . . At her party were George Killion, president of the American President Lines, who raised many thousands for Adlai's campaign in California; also Tom Finletter, who will be Stevenson's secretary of defense if elected . . . . Col. Jake Arvey, the Chicago politician who has been Stevenson's close confidant, spent time with dark-horse Sen. Stuart Symington of Missouri on his recent visit to Washington. Arvey thinks Symington would make a good candidate . . . . Some Democratic diehards are maneuvering not only to block Senator Kefauver from getting the vice presidency but to ruin him in Tennessee. Speaker Sam Rayburn, who hates Kefauver, is prompting the idea of nominating Sen. Albert Gore, the other senator from Tennessee, for vice president —as a slap at Kefauver. They've been checking on Gore's war record—to see why he didn't serve in World War II . . . . Congressman with one of the best attendance records in Washington is Lester Johnson of Wisconsin. He hasn't missed an important vote or roll call.

The Boomerang

By Joseph and Stewart Alsop

WASHINGTON

The inside story of Harold Stassen's abortive effort to start a "dump-Nixon" movement is so very strange and so richly comic that it deserves to be told in full and in detail. Like any good comedy, it can be divided into highly actable scenes.

Scene 1: The grand organizer of the drive to renominate Vice President Nixon, Republican National Chairman Len Hall, telephones Nixon's obvious strongest potential rival, Massachusetts Gov. Christian Herter about 12 days ago. Hall says he wants Herter to put Nixon's name in nomination for the vice presidency, and intimates that President Eisenhower shares this wish. Herter who is perhaps not quite sure about the second part of Hall's statement, says that he is not adverse to the idea, but would like to think it over and talk about it with the President himself before giving his decision.

Day-Dreamer Too?

Scene II: On Friday a week ago the greatest edger-into-other-people's-political-pictures in recent American history, Harold Stassen, drops in the see the President, and tells him that he thinks an Eisenhower-Herter ticket would be a lot stronger than an Eisenhower-Nixon ticket. The President presumably answers "ummm, ummm." (What the President in fact answered is the only part of the story that is still mysterious. But he must have made some sort of misleading non-committal noise, unless Harold Stassen also deserves the title of our history's greatest political day-dreamer.)

Scene III: Stassen then telephones Gov. Herter, to announce that he has broached the idea of an Eisenhower-Herter ticket to the President. The President's response, declares Stassen, was decidedly encouraging. Gov. Herter also answers "umm, umm." He still wants to see the President face-to-face and makes plans to come to Washington for that purpose immediately after the President's return from Panama.

Scene IV: Edger-in Stassen holds his now-celebrated press conference, proposing the dumping of Dick Nixon in favor of Chris Herter. Total consternation ensues, both at the White House and at the Republican National Committee.

Stassen Grabs Spotlight

The President's Panama trip has been planned, by the very best Madison Avenue experts, as a splendid exhibition of a President glowing with health in his great role as peace-maker. The President himself, by admitting that he feels lousy in Panama, has caused one part of the Madison Avenue plans to "gang a-glea." And now here is Stassen, not only going after Nixon, but also seizing the moment when the damage already done in Panama ought to be undone by banner headlines announcing the success of the President's mission.

Scene V: The news of Stassen's press conference finally catches up with Gov. Herter on the golf course. As soon as he can get to a telephone he calls the President's chief of staff, Sherman Adams. Herter explains that he had no warning whatever of the great edger-in's intentions, and asks what the devil he ought to do now. More than one conversation is needed for Adams and Herter to decide that Herter must now agree to become Nixon's chief nominator.

Scene VI: Herter than telephones Len Hall, to disclose that he has now made up his mind to grant Hall's earlier request without further delay. The overjoyed Hall agrees with Herter on the plan for successive statements — an announcement by himself that Herter will place Nixon's name before the San Francisco convention, and a subsequent, confirmatory statement by Herter. Hall also suggests that Herter ought to break the glorious news to Nixon in person and immediately. Herter then calls Nixon who is, not unnaturally, even more overjoyed than his great and good friend Len.

Assures Nixon's Renomination

That was the real end of the comedy, although Harold Stassen has been playing a sort of obstinate epilogue, telling everyone who will listen that he has unnamed but powerful co-conspirators, boasting of unidentified but fervent support for his proposal, and so on and so on. If he had wanted to do everything possible to insure Vice President Nixon's re-nomination, he could have found no better way.

Herter, meanwhile, has handled his difficult position of the man-in-the-middle with conspicous good sense. Last spring, he sent word to the President that he did not want to run again for governor of Massachusetts, but hoped to return to service in the Eisenhower administration on the foreign affairs front. Vice President Nixon was the chosen messenger, and Nixon was also asked to persuade the President not to press Herter to make another campaign for the governorship. After this episode, Herter seems more than ever likely to get what he really wants after the election is over.

Let me quote Pravda, the official organ of the Russian Communist party:

"The United States State Department, having abandoned diplomacy, has become the headquarters of a propaganda campaign launched by it around the personality cult. The aim of this campaign is to cast a shadow on the great ideas of Marxism-Leninism, to undermine the confidence of the working people in the first Socialist state in the world, the Soviet Union, and to introduce dissension and confusion within the ranks of the world's Communist and workers movement."

Of course, dissension and confusion were produced by Khrushchev's two speeches at the 20th Congress and by the speeches of Mikoyan and others, denouncing Stalin and admitting by implication that whatever anti-Communists anywhere in the world said against Stalin during the past 20 years, was only a hesitant approach to the horrible truth. If John Foster Dulles added much to the confusion among Communist and Socialist parties, most Americans will be proud of Dulles and not a little surprised that such praise of his efforts should first appear in Pravda, for any indication of effectiveness in this fight is a measure of praise and a subject for congratulations.

Pravda says:

"The facts show that in this case we are dealing not with a conventional propaganda campaign, of which during the years of the cold war the United States State Department organized quite a few. It is an extensively elaborated new political plan on which the United States reactionary circles are staking much."

Pravda also says:

"The United States statesmen who pretend to the leadership of the entire capitalist world have seized on the past mistakes and shortcomings in connection with Stalin's cult in the USSR, which were condemned by the 20th CPSU Congress and have been rectified already by the CPSU Central Committee."

One must rejoice over these compliments. Naturally we look forward to the breaking up of the enormous empire which Stalin had been building into a universal state. So, that is what John Foster Dulles has been doing on his trips around the world; he has apparently been Communist-busting. Surely, Americans will not hate him for that.

Look at what Pravda says:

"Similar tactics are being suggested by the ideologists of imperialism also for use against the Communist parties in capitalist countries. They are trying to undermine the international ties of the world's workers' movement. It is the same Dulles, this sworn enemy of communism, who is ready to swear that he is not against Communist parties as such, but merely against the fact that they are 'too closely' connected with the Communist party of the Soviet Union."

Did Dulles ever say that he is not against Communist parties? Pravda must be making that up. There may be folks in the State Department who think only in terms of external affairs. Such men may say that only Russia is wicked but that the American Communist party is just a political party like the Democrats and more so than the ADA. But I hope that Dulles never said that.

And He Was All Set For A Picnic

Stassen's Vice Presidential Choice Not Herter

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — Who really is the vice presidential candidate that Harold Stassen is backing? It certainly isn't Governor Herter of Massachusetts, who, it now develops, wasn't consulted by Mr. Stassen before launching the boom for him. In fact, Governor Herter will make the speech placing Mr. Nixon in nomination at the convention.

The objective of Mr. Stassen and those who are in league with him is to bring about the removal of Vice President Nixon from the ticket. It isn't so much a pro-Herter move as an anti-Nixon maneuver. For one thing, there is some doubt as to whether the Massachusetts governor is constitutionally eligible, since he was born abroad. It would take a Supreme Court decision to clear up the doubt, and that would only give the Democrats a campaign argument because no such decision probably could be obtained between August and November.

Nixon Gaining Strength

But who are the people back of the Stassen coup? There are all sorts of rumors afloat, and the finger points to a "left wing" coterie in New York City which put up money for the polls with the avowed object of developing statistical data to force Mr. Nixon out of the race.

The so-called polls or how they were taken and what the questions were have not been revealed, but the Gallup Polls in recent months have actually shown Mr. Nixon to have gained steadily in strength over the last year as compared to a year ago.

This correspondent has known Mr. Nixon for many years. He is a modest, hard-working, conscientious and straightforward individual wohse principal "sin" seems to have been that he helped to expose Alger Hiss and fought the Communists. Another "sin" is that he told the voters frankly what he thought of the Communist infiltration in government. This apparently is the kind of campaigning which some of the Democrats don't like, though Harry Truman never handled any issue with kid gloves and went so far as to question the integrity and patriotism of General Eisenhower in the 1952 campagn — something Mr. Nixon never did with respect to any opponent.

The attempt to "get Nixon" will not succeed. It will boomerang. In some respects, it is better that the insidious campaign has come out into the open so that the voters can learn the whys and wherefores of the anti-Nixon smears and just who in the so-called "liberal" wing of the Republican party has fallen for the anti-Nixon propaganda stirred up by the Democrats.

Target Of Democrats

Certainly the Democrats have been keeping up a steady attack in the hope of creating friction for the Republicans. In fact, 95 per cent of the criticism of Mr. Nixon has come from Democrats, who resent his effectiveness as a campaigner. For, singlehanded, he saved many a seat for the Republicans in Congress during the 1954 campaign.

The adroitness of the anti-Nixonites is emphasized by the way Harold Stassen referred to his conversation last Friday with the President. He gave at first to the newsmen the impression that Mr. Eisenhower had no objection and hence really favored Stassen's move for Herter. Now it turns out that the President made it clear to Mr. Stassen that he would be acting as an individual "and not as a member of the President's official family." This was a palpable disavowal.

No sooner was the annuoncement made on Tuesday afternoon that Governor Herter would make the speech nominating Mr. Nixon at San Francisco than Mr. Stassen issued a comment implying it was a kind of cooked-up deal and that one had agreed to nominate the other. No such understanding, however, has been reached with Mr. Nixon.

Even more disingenuous was Mr. Stassen's statement to the press on Monday. He gave the impression that he had tactfully and politely notified Mr. Nixon as a matter of courtesy. Yet the letter sent to Mr. Nixon on Monday, a few hours before the press conference, was about as discourteous a piece of writing as has been noted between supposedly friendly members of the same administration.

Ike Not So Naive

It looks odd to have Stassen, special assistant to the President, writing to a member of the same cabinet that the nomination of the vice president would hurt the "prospects of a lasting peace" and would not satisfy the "uncommitted nations." This is taken to mean that the speeches made by Mr. Nixon about "neutral" nations recently, with the full approval of Secretary Dulles and the President, are opposed by Mr. Stassen and his group. It means some kind of declaration of war against the leadership of the President himself.

Mr. Stassen assumed that Mr. Eisenhower will sit back and let a factional fight develop on a "let the better man win" basis just a few weeks before the national convention. Mr. Eisenhower may be unfamiliar with the ways of party politics, but he isn't as naive as the Stassen clique thinks he is. To date many of the friends of the late Senator Taft, whom Stassen antagonized in the bitter 1952 primary campaign in Ohio, and the members of Congress of every shade of Republicanism have rallied to Mr. Nixon's side. It could gain further momentum when the President himself speaks out for Mr. Nixon, as he is certainly expected to do before long.

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

The keynote at Chicago and San Francisco will be, "vote early, fast and often." A platform will never take the place of a grandstand at the inaugural parade.

We're not coaching from Keynoter Clements' sidelines but everytime he bangs that gavel he should make a point or kill a roach.

He has said he would represent the Democratic party and all the people who can crowd into the stockyards auditorium. His job will be to separate the bleats from the baas.

Gov. Clements leans toward Stevenson and reconstructs no dinosaurs about it. However, when polling a delegation he can toss out an over-ripe alternate or a mildewed proxy.

The gimmick they call parliamentary procedure is the silken cord of the Borgias. High class strangulation.

Both Democratic and Republican keynoters will be successful. The ghost writers wrote in plenty of applause.

Silence never gives consent at conventions.

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

It may take us 100 years to acquire respect for the sun's rays. The Arab tribes living close to old Sol on the deserts of Asia and Africa protect their skin with yards and yards of cotton material. In this country, sunbathing has become a fad and that golden glow is synonymous with health and vitality.

Some Northerners get a double dose when they spend the winter in the South. There is no harm in reasonable exposure but too much is detrimental. Everyone knows that over exposure initially burns the skin. When healing occurs the increased pigment makes the skin resistant to further burning for a certain length of time.

Tanning is nature's method of screening out ultraviolet rays. Following exposure, certain cells of the skin are stimulated to produce pigment, which protects for a short time. But with continued exposure, some persons such as farmers, sailors, and bricklayers who spend most of their lives out of doors become sensitive again and develop chronic sunburn. In such instances the normal protective and reparative process is exhausted.

The skin becomes dry and wrinkled. Permanent freckling occurs and some show patches of white or depigmented areas. Continued exposure for 20 or more years leads to scaly, slightly elevated, irregular, brownish spots over the face, arms, hands and neck. Some of these lesions become cancerous.

The blue-eyed blond and pink-skinned individual suffer most along this line. Persons of Scottish and Scottish-Irish descent with a fair or ruddy complexion are in this category. When they immigrated to the Carolinas or Australia, where they were exposed to 10 times more sunlight than at home, many developed cancer of the skin. Sometimes the entire family have one or more lesions of this type.

Cancer of the skin is five times more common in the South than in the North. In some parts of Dixie and in Colorado, skin malignancies outrank all other cancers in contrast to Chicago, for example, where the rate is 12.5 per cent. The most logical explanation is the annual average temperature and the hours of sunshine.

TOMORROW: Keep minor wounds sterile.

FEVER WITH INFECTION

Mrs. L. writes: Does the temperature go up in pyelitis?

REPLY

Yes, as a rule. In addition there are many other symptoms and findings when inflammation attacks the pelvis or the kidney. We have a leaflet on pyelitis that may be obtained by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope with request.

SQUEAKING JOINTS

J. K. writes: Will olive oil replace the fluid that has burned out in my knees?

REPLY

No. Grating knee joints can not be blamed on poor lubrication. The cause is roughness or other irregularities on the capsule or surface of the joints.

WHOLE ORANGE

W. B. writes: I eat an orange a day, pulp and all. But my husband tells me I ought to discard the pulp. Will eating it affect my health?

REPLY

No. Include the skin too, if you like it.

SULFA AND WATER

W. D. writes: Why does the doctor advise drinking lots of water when he prescribes a sulfa drug?

REPLY

Because certain sulfonamides, especially sulfadiazine, crystalize in the urine unless there is ample fluid to keep them in solution.

ANNUAL COLDS

J. W. writes: What is the overall average of colds per year?

REPLY

Statisticians report an average of three; children and some adults have more than three and most adults have fewer. I have known people who average one cold in five years. Accurate statistics along this line are difficult to obtain because everyone has a different idea as to what constitutes a cold.

WHITE PLAQUES

C. T. writes: What is smoker's tongue?

REPLY

Leucoplakia, or the appearance of whitish patches on the mucous membranes. When the condition appears in the mouth, especially the tongue, the irritation from smoking is thought to be a factor. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for our leaflet on this disorder.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellan will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me!

By Bennett Cerf

Suggested bit of dialogue for Tennessee Williams' next romantic play about the magnolia-laden Southland:

"Sugar, ah think mahty highly of yo' new even' gown."

"Sho' nuff?"

"It sho does!"

Rich old coot who had been hard of hearing for years met a famous ear doctor on a ship, as a result of which he came home equipped with a fabulous new hearing aid. He told nobody about it—just moseyed along about his business with his mouth closed and his new hearing aid open.

In the next two weeks, he changed his will three times.

In Dallas, an oil man's wife had to learn to drive a car, because every morning the kids hollered, "Get the car out, mom, and drive us to the back yard so we can play!"

Stassen Had Go-Ahead, No Blessing From Ike On Dump-Nixon Proposal

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—In the shadows behind Harold Stassen and his "dump-Dick" movement are such powerful Republicans as Gen. Lucius Clay, Ike's intimate friend; Sidney Weinberg, the Wall Street banker; Paul Hoffman, the ex-Marshall Plan administrator; Jack McClow, head of the Chase Bank and former high commissioner to Germany. They don't dislike Dick, but they do consider him a drag on the ticket. With repeated attention focused on Ike's health, they know the public will be voting not alone for the President, but for the man who would replace him—if . . . These backstage bigwigs wanted someone to break the Nixon ice . . . Henry Luce's potent publications fired two shots which had the earmarks of an artillery barrage in preparation for the dump-Dick movement. Life magazine carried a penetrating, not too friendly diagnosis of Nixon. Time carried a devastating diagnosis of Ike's medical history, stating that the heart attack lessened his life expectancy 30 per cent, that recurrence of ileitis was 50 per cent . . . Though Eisenhower didn't encourage Stassen, inside fact is that he didn't discourage him. Ike was quite willing to have a trial balloon launched by others with no responsibility by him . . . Stassen has shown courage in various moves around the White House. He was the first to tangle with McCarthy. But he doesn't go out on such an important political limb without a green light from Mr. Big . . . Chris Herter Jr., son of the Massachusetts governor whom Stassen is booming to replace Nixon, was once an administrative assistant to Nixon. After that he became counsel to Stassen's Foreign Operations Administration.

Texas Tantrums—The Lone Star State goes into its big election battle Saturday with some interesting candidates on the ballot . . . Warren G. Harding is running for state treasurer against Jesse James . . . Two men are running who are under indictment. J. Roy Ramsour, under indictment for murder and facing trial, is running for justice of the peace in Edinburg . . . George Parr, who has served time for income tax evasion and is now under a new federal indictment, is running for sheriff of Duval County. Last week he was arrested for threatening a county official with a rifle. . . . In Brownsville, Sen. Roger Kelley, law partner of county political boss J. C. Looney, is being opposed by Hubert Hudson, scion of Oklahoma-Texas oil millions. The Kelley-Looney law firm accepted and kept a $4,800 retainer from U. S. Trust, the now bankrupt Texas insurance company . . . Royce Oxford is running for district judge on a platform of permitting lawyers to take off their coats in the courtroom . . . It's hot in Texas!

Cautious Ike—Careful examination of Eisenhower's Nixon statements shows that he personally never went overboard for Dick . . . His first statement was that he had told Nixon to "chart his course"—not exactly a warm embrace for a running mate. Nixon then phoned various GOP state leaders, said he was taking soundings to see what course he should chart, wanted their opinion. Flattered, most said they favored him. Nixon kept a score-sheet, let it come to Ike's attention . . . Suddenly, just before Murray Chotiner, his campaign manager, was scheduled to appear before a Senate committee, Nixon rushed into the White House for a late-afternoon, unscheduled visit. He had not been on the calling list. He told Ike he had charted his course, would like to run . . . Nixon's friend Hagerty said Ike was "delighted." . . . But there was no personal statement from the President, no posing together for photographers, as is customary . . . . After the second illness, word came from Len Hall that the ticket would be the same. But there was no statement from Ike himself . . . . He did not deny, but also did not affirm. His tactics in other disputes, such as the Army-McCarthy row, the State Department - McCarthy row, have been to let those around him battle things out . . . . Len Hall's strategy has been to avoid a nomination dispute, keep a united front at San Francisco and before. Len was never personally enthusiastic about Nixon, but he has been Nixon's best political friend because he believes in unity.

Adlai Had To Choose — Adlai Stevenson had to choose between Mrs. Mahoney and Mrs. Monroney the other night after the Senator George dinner. Mrs. Florence Mahoney had invited him to a reception after the dinner. Mrs. Mike Monroney, wife of the senator from Oklahoma, invited him to meet a distinguished group of senators, also after the dinner. He chose Mrs. Mahoney . . . . At her party were George Killion, president of the American President Lines, who raised many thousands for Adlai's campaign in California; also Tom Finletter, who will be Stevenson's secretary of defense if elected . . . . Col. Jake Arvey, the Chicago politician who has been Stevenson's close confidant, spent time with dark-horse Sen. Stuart Symington of Missouri on his recent visit to Washington. Arvey thinks Symington would make a good candidate . . . . Some Democratic diehards are maneuvering not only to block Senator Kefauver from getting the vice presidency but to ruin him in Tennessee. Speaker Sam Rayburn, who hates Kefauver, is prompting the idea of nominating Sen. Albert Gore, the other senator from Tennessee, for vice president —as a slap at Kefauver. They've been checking on Gore's war record—to see why he didn't serve in World War II . . . . Congressman with one of the best attendance records in Washington is Lester Johnson of Wisconsin. He hasn't missed an important vote or roll call.

The Boomerang

By Joseph and Stewart Alsop

WASHINGTON

The inside story of Harold Stassen's abortive effort to start a "dump-Nixon" movement is so very strange and so richly comic that it deserves to be told in full and in detail. Like any good comedy, it can be divided into highly actable scenes.

Scene 1: The grand organizer of the drive to renominate Vice President Nixon, Republican National Chairman Len Hall, telephones Nixon's obvious strongest potential rival, Massachusetts Gov. Christian Herter about 12 days ago. Hall says he wants Herter to put Nixon's name in nomination for the vice presidency, and intimates that President Eisenhower shares this wish. Herter who is perhaps not quite sure about the second part of Hall's statement, says that he is not adverse to the idea, but would like to think it over and talk about it with the President himself before giving his decision.

Day-Dreamer Too?

Scene II: On Friday a week ago the greatest edger-into-other-people's-political-pictures in recent American history, Harold Stassen, drops in the see the President, and tells him that he thinks an Eisenhower-Herter ticket would be a lot stronger than an Eisenhower-Nixon ticket. The President presumably answers "ummm, ummm." (What the President in fact answered is the only part of the story that is still mysterious. But he must have made some sort of misleading non-committal noise, unless Harold Stassen also deserves the title of our history's greatest political day-dreamer.)

Scene III: Stassen then telephones Gov. Herter, to announce that he has broached the idea of an Eisenhower-Herter ticket to the President. The President's response, declares Stassen, was decidedly encouraging. Gov. Herter also answers "umm, umm." He still wants to see the President face-to-face and makes plans to come to Washington for that purpose immediately after the President's return from Panama.

Scene IV: Edger-in Stassen holds his now-celebrated press conference, proposing the dumping of Dick Nixon in favor of Chris Herter. Total consternation ensues, both at the White House and at the Republican National Committee.

Stassen Grabs Spotlight

The President's Panama trip has been planned, by the very best Madison Avenue experts, as a splendid exhibition of a President glowing with health in his great role as peace-maker. The President himself, by admitting that he feels lousy in Panama, has caused one part of the Madison Avenue plans to "gang a-glea." And now here is Stassen, not only going after Nixon, but also seizing the moment when the damage already done in Panama ought to be undone by banner headlines announcing the success of the President's mission.

Scene V: The news of Stassen's press conference finally catches up with Gov. Herter on the golf course. As soon as he can get to a telephone he calls the President's chief of staff, Sherman Adams. Herter explains that he had no warning whatever of the great edger-in's intentions, and asks what the devil he ought to do now. More than one conversation is needed for Adams and Herter to decide that Herter must now agree to become Nixon's chief nominator.

Scene VI: Herter than telephones Len Hall, to disclose that he has now made up his mind to grant Hall's earlier request without further delay. The overjoyed Hall agrees with Herter on the plan for successive statements — an announcement by himself that Herter will place Nixon's name before the San Francisco convention, and a subsequent, confirmatory statement by Herter. Hall also suggests that Herter ought to break the glorious news to Nixon in person and immediately. Herter then calls Nixon who is, not unnaturally, even more overjoyed than his great and good friend Len.

Assures Nixon's Renomination

That was the real end of the comedy, although Harold Stassen has been playing a sort of obstinate epilogue, telling everyone who will listen that he has unnamed but powerful co-conspirators, boasting of unidentified but fervent support for his proposal, and so on and so on. If he had wanted to do everything possible to insure Vice President Nixon's re-nomination, he could have found no better way.

Herter, meanwhile, has handled his difficult position of the man-in-the-middle with conspicous good sense. Last spring, he sent word to the President that he did not want to run again for governor of Massachusetts, but hoped to return to service in the Eisenhower administration on the foreign affairs front. Vice President Nixon was the chosen messenger, and Nixon was also asked to persuade the President not to press Herter to make another campaign for the governorship. After this episode, Herter seems more than ever likely to get what he really wants after the election is over.

You're Telling Me!

By William Ritt

Attention, international diplomats — hats off to Israel's new foreign minister. She's a woman!

A California hospital will give each set of new parents a recording of their baby's first cries. A wah-wah-ahnderful idea!

A Canadian newspaper ran a picture layout of Gov. Gen. Vincent Massey wearing an Indian war bonnet, miner's helmet, scholar's mortarboard, Eskimo parka and a trapper's fur cap. Odd angle is, we understand, he isn't running for political office.

Luncheon for the ladies? Something light and easy to prepare is the basic thought behind meal planning when the club or neighborhood women get together for luncheon. Shrimp a la King made with frozen defrosted shrimp and either homemade or packaged waffles can be made in a matter of minutes. As for the beverage, in the summertime a refreshing glass of iced tea is almost a "must". If guests have had any difficulty in reaching the hostess' home such as waiting for a babysitter, traffic, heat-exhaustion, etc., there's nothing like a glass of iced tea to refresh and relax them.

Of course, it's important to have the tea made right—not too strong—not too weak. Here's a fool proof recipe that requires fewer ice cubes and less preparation time than old-fashioned methods: First, premeasure 1/3 cup loose tea (or remove tags from 15 teabags). Bring 1 quart of freshly drawn cold water to a full rolling boil in a saucepan. Remove from heat and while water is still bubbling, add all the tea at one time. Stir. Brew 5 minutes, uncovered. Stir and strain into pitcher holding an additional quart of freshly drawn cold water. (Do not refrigerate). Serve in ice-filled glasses, with lemon and sugar to taste.

SHRIMP A LA KING
(Makes about 4 servings)

Saute ¼ cup each of minced onions, sliced mushrooms and diced green pepper in 2 tablespoons butter. Stir in ¼ cup diced pimiento and 1 package frozen shrimp which has been defrosted and cut into small pieces, ½ teaspoon salt and dash of cayenne pepper, for about 3 minutes. Set aside. Melt 2 tablespoons butter in top of a double boiler. Blend in 2 tablespoons flour. Gradually add 2 cups of milk, stirring constantly till thickened and smooth. Stir in shrimp mixture. Continue to cook 5 minutes. Serve immediately over waffles, rice or noodles.

Select Summer Meats From Cold Cut Family

In the early days when the sausage family migrated to America, it brought along all its cousins—and today we find members of the family in every city and town in the United States. Sausages, or cold cuts, as most of them are known, are available everywhere today in a wide selection of varieties.

One of the first sausages that comes to mind, and no doubt the most popular for summer serving, is the frankfurter. This member of the family came from Frankfurt, Germany and was given its name after the city of its origin.

Although franks represent 34% of the total sausage output now, America has adopted many other European sausages, too. These sausages also were often named according to the town in which they were produced. A product from Bologna, Italy, achieved the name bologna sausage. Rome was the birthplace of Romano; Braunschweig or Brunswick, Germany, of braunschweiger; and Genoa, Italy, of Genoa salami.

Everyone's taste for cold cuts can be satisfied today with the large selection of sausages which are produced. There are dry and semi-dry sausages, cooked meat specialties, cooked sausages, and cooked and smoked sausages all ready to slice and serve for snacks, picnics, lunches, and dinners.

Dry And Semi-Dry Sausages

Summer sausage, Cevelat, and the salamis are dry sausages well known today. Of the two kinds of salami, one is a rather firm product, highly seasoned and spiced and containing garlic. It is often wound with string. The larger, softer varieties of salami are made with the same ingredients, but dried a shorter length of time.

The main difference between the salamis and Thuringer summer sausage is that summer sausage contains no garlic. Thuringer is made with finely chopped meat, with a lot of pork for juiciness. Cervelat is a smoked product of both ground beef and pork.

Cooked Meat Specialties

Another large classification of the sausage family is the cooked meat specialties. This group includes a variety of products ranging from head cheese and luncheon meat to pickle and pimiento loaf. These, too, are ready for slicing and serving.

The luncheon meats, which make up a large part of this class, have the ham-like flavor of good cured pork. They come in round and loaf shapes.

Beef, pork, and veal tongue are chopped for jellied tongue, sometimes called tongue loaf. Other loaves are tasty combinations of various meats and seasonings.

Head cheese, or souse, pickle and pimiento loaf, veal loaf, and jellied corned beef are only a few of the many cooked meat specialties marketed.

Cooked Sausages

Liver sausage (liverwurst or braunschweiger), liver cheese, and blood sausage are a part of a third family, the cooked sausages.

All the important nutritional values of liver are found in liver sausage, and there are many kinds produced—all the way from the soft to the firm types, from light pink to darker pink, and sometimes even smoked types.

Liver cheese or loaf is generally loaf shaped with a coating of fresh pork fat to keep it moist. It's good served hot, too.

Cooked Smoked Sausages

In this category fit the two best-known sausages, franks and bologna. Wholesome meat delicately seasoned, these types are a pleasing combination of finely ground beef and pork, or occasionally all-beef. There are dozens of styles of both of these, but no matter what shape or size, they mean good, nutritious eating.

Sherried French Toast

A delicious summer breakfast results when you add a third of a cup of nutty amontillado or rich oloroso Spanish sherry to two slightly beaten eggs, adding a little ginger, nutmeg or cinnamon, with salt, to the batter, dipping stale bread slices in this, then frying these in butter.

Spanish Seafood Sauce

Cold shrimp, lobster and crab are wonderful summer dishes for outdoor dining and a fine chilled sauce for sea food is made by adding to half a cup of fino or amontillado Spanish sherry, a half cup of tomato catsup, a quarter cup of chili sauce, the juice of a lemon and a teaspoon of horseradish. You can add a cup of chopped celery and some chopped green peppers to two cups of the sea food, and top or mix with the sauce, chilling the mixture well in the refrigerator.

Spanish Whipped Cream

The next time you are using whipped cream on a dessert, beat in two tablespoons of nutty amontillado or rich oloroso Spanish sherry for each cup of cream, to add richness without calories.

New Note For Left-Over Chicken

You'll be using up left-overs—but the family will never guess it—when you serve these taste-tempting Chicken Squares, made with pieces of broiled or roasted chicken. The chicken is combined with cooked rice, hot chicken stock, eggs and seasonings, and then flavorfully topped with a layer of oven-toasted rice cereal blended with melted butter. Bake for about 40 minutes, and cut into squares before serving. If you wish, this recipe can be prepared in the morning and stored in the refrigerator for baking just before dinner time.

Chicken Squares

3 cups diced or sliced cooked chicken; 1 cup cooked rice; 1½ tablespoons chopped parsley; 1½ tablespoons chopped pimiento; 1 teaspoon salt; ⅛ teaspoon pepper; 3 eggs, slightly beaten; 1½ cups hot seasoned chicken stock; 1 cup Rice Krispies (oven-toasted rice cereal); 1 tablespoon melted butter or margarine.

Combine chicken, rice, parsley, pimiento, salt, pepper and eggs; mix carefully. Stir in hot chicken stock. Pour into greased 8 x 8-inch pan. Combine Rice Krispies and melted butter; sprinkle over chicken mixture. Set in pan of hot water. Bake in moderate oven (350°F.) about 40 minutes, or until set.

Yield: 9 2½ inch squares.

Luncheon for the ladies? Something light and easy to prepare is the basic thought behind meal planning when the club or neighborhood women get together for luncheon. Shrimp a la King made with frozen defrosted shrimp and either homemade or packaged waffles can be made in a matter of minutes. As for the beverage, in the summertime a refreshing glass of iced tea is almost a "must". If guests have had any difficulty in reaching the hostess' home such as waiting for a baby-sitter, traffic, heat-exhaustion, etc., there's nothing like a glass of iced tea to refresh and relax them.

Of course, it's important to have the tea made right—not too strong—not too weak. Here's a fool proof recipe that requires fewer ice cubes and less preparation time than old-fashioned methods: First, premeasure 1/3 cup loose tea (or remove tags from 15 teabags). Bring 1 quart of freshly drawn cold water to a full rolling boil in a saucepan. Remove from heat and while water is still bubbling, add all the tea at one time. Stir. Brew 5 minutes, uncovered. Stir and strain into pitcher holding an additional quart of freshly drawn cold water. (Do not refrigerate). Serve in ice-filled glasses, with lemon and sugar to taste.

SHRIMP A LA KING
(Makes about 4 servings)

Saute ¼ cup each of minced onions, sliced mushrooms and diced green pepper in 2 tablespoons butter. Stir in ¼ cup diced pimiento and 1 package frozen shrimp which has been defrosted and cut into small pieces, ½ teaspoon salt and dash of cayenne pepper, for about 3 minutes. Set aside. Melt 2 tablespoons butter in top of a double boiler. Blend in 2 tablespoons flour. Gradually add 2 cups of milk, stirring constantly till thickened and smooth. Stir in shrimp mixture. Continue to cook 5 minutes. Serve immediately over waffles, rice or noodles.

Select Summer Meats From Cold Cut Family

In the early days when the sausage family migrated to America, it brought along all its cousins—and today we find members of the family in every city and town in the United States. Sausages, or cold cuts, as most of them are known, are available everywhere today in a wide selection of varieties.

One of the first sausages that comes to mind, and no doubt the most popular for summer serving, is the frankfurter. This member of the family came from Frankfurt, Germany and was given its name after the city of its origin.

Although franks represent 34% of the total sausage output now, America has adopted many other European sausages, too. These sausages also were often named according to the town in which they were produced. A product from Bologna, Italy, achieved the name bologna sausage. Rome was the birthplace of Romano; Braunschweig or Brunswick, Germany, of braunschweiger; and Genoa, Italy, of Genoa salami.

Everyone's taste for cold cuts can be satisfied today with the large selection of sausages which are produced. There are dry and semi-dry sausages, cooked meat specialties, cooked sausages, and cooked and smoked sausages all ready to slice and serve for snacks, picnics, lunches, and dinners.

Dry And Semi-Dry Sausages

Summer sausage, Cevelat, and the salamis are dry sausages well known today. Of the two kinds of salami, one is a rather firm product, highly seasoned and spiced and containing garlic. It is often wound with string. The larger, softer varieties of salami are made with the same ingredients, but dried a shorter length of time.

The main difference between the salamis and Thuringer summer sausage is that summer sausage contains no garlic. Thuringer is made with finely chopped meat, with a lot of pork for juiciness. Cervelat is a smoked product of both ground beef and pork.

Cooked Meat Specialties

Another large classification of the sausage family is the cooked meat specialties. This group includes a variety of products ranging from head cheese and luncheon meat to pickle and pimiento loaf. These, too, are ready for slicing and serving.

The luncheon meats, which make up a large part of this class, have the ham-like flavor of good cured pork. They come in round and loaf shapes.

Beef, pork, and veal tongue are chopped for jellied tongue, sometimes called tongue loaf. Other loaves are tasty combinations of various meats and seasonings.

Head cheese, or souse, pickle and pimiento loaf, veal loaf, and jellied corned beef are only a few of the many cooked meat specialties marketed.

Cooked Sausages

Liver sausage (liverwurst or braunschweiger), liver cheese, and blood sausage are a part of a third family, the cooked sausages.

All the important nutritional values of liver are found in liver sausage, and there are many kinds produced—all the way from the soft to the firm types, from light pink to darker pink, and sometimes even smoked types.

Liver cheese or loaf is generally loaf shaped with a coating of fresh pork fat to keep it moist. It's good served hot, too.

Cooked Smoked Sausages

In this category fit the two best-known sausages, franks and bologna. Wholesome meat delicately seasoned, these types are a pleasing combination of finely ground beef and pork, or occasionally all-beef. There are dozens of styles of both of these, but no matter what shape or size, they mean good, nutritious eating.

Sherried French Toast

A delicious summer breakfast results when you add a third of a cup of nutty amontillado or rich oloroso Spanish sherry to two slightly beaten eggs, adding a little ginger, nutmeg or cinnamon, with salt, to the batter, dipping stale bread slices in this, then frying these in butter.

Spanish Seafood Sauce

Cold shrimp, lobster and crab are wonderful summer dishes for outdoor dining and a fine chilled sauce for sea food is made by adding to half a cup of fino or amontillado Spanish sherry, a half cup of tomato catsup, a quarter cup of chili sauce, the juice of a lemon and a teaspoon of horseradish. You can add a cup of chopped celery and some chopped green peppers to two cups of the sea food, and top or mix with the sauce, chilling the mixture well in the refrigerator.

Spanish Whipped Cream

The next time you are using whipped cream on a dessert, beat in two tablespoons of nutty amontillado or rich oloroso Spanish sherry for each cup of cream, to add richness without calories.

New Note For Left-Over Chicken

You'll be using up left-overs—but the family will never guess it—when you serve these taste-tempting Chicken Squares, made with pieces of broiled or roasted chicken. The chicken is combined with cooked rice, hot chicken stock, eggs and seasonings, and then flavorfully topped with a layer of oven-toasted rice cereal blended with melted butter. Bake for about 40 minutes, and cut into squares before serving. If you wish, this recipe can be prepared in the morning and stored in the refrigerator for baking just before dinner time.

Chicken Squares

3 cups diced or sliced cooked chicken; 1 cup cooked rice; 1½ tablespoons chopped parsley; 1½ tablespoons chopped pimiento; 1 teaspoon salt; ⅛ teaspoon pepper; 3 eggs, slightly beaten; 1½ cups hot seasoned chicken stock; 1 cup Rice Krispies (oven-toasted rice cereal); 1 tablespoon melted butter or margarine.

Combine chicken, rice, parsley, pimiento, salt, pepper and eggs; mix carefully. Stir in hot chicken stock. Pour into greased 8 x 8-inch pan. Combine Rice Krispies and melted butter; sprinkle over chicken mixture. Set in pan of hot water. Bake in moderate oven (350°F.) about 40 minutes, or until set.

Yield: 9 2½ inch squares.

Shish Kebab Andalucia

One of the best outdoor dishes is made by grilling chunks of veal or beef on skewers or pointed sticks, over an open fire, and the secret of wonderful flavor is a good marinade. Two pounds of one-inch pieces of meat can be soaked overnight in the refrigerator, in half a cup of dry Spanish sherry—a fino or nutty amontillado—to which has been added two tablespoons of olive oil and two teaspoons of salt, pepper, half a teaspoon of oregano and slices of two small onions. Dry the meat before skewering, using the onion slices between the pieces of veal. Baste the meat with the marinade, to which you have added another quarter cup of olive oil.

One horsepower is the strength required to lift 33,000 pounds one foot a minute.

Refreshing Breakfast

Daily food requirements in summer are just the same as in winter. Three well-balanced meals are necessary during summer just as they are in other seasons. Each summer day should begin with a good breakfast.

The cool of the morning is the ideal time of the day to make certain that the family starts the day with an adequate meal.

Scientific studies made at a prominent medical school have demonstrated that you will feel better and work and play better during the morning hours if you have eaten a basic breakfast.

A basic breakfast of fruit, cereal, milk, bread and butter is recommended by doctors and dietitians as an adequate breakfast.

More than two dozen kinds of ready-to-eat breakfast cereals provide wide variety for the easy-to-prepare, cool, and refreshing cereal and milk main dish for the morning meal. Each day serve a different combination of fresh fruits or berries with ready-to-eat cereal and milk.

It takes just a little extra effort to vary the breakfast table settings. Cool place mats, green leaves, or fresh flowers can add interest and help to perk up appetites.

Broiler Prices Aid Cookouts

Cook-outs are a popular fare this summer, and market prices of broiling chickens make it easy on the purse-strings of Maryland homemakers.

Barbecued chicken—tangy and tender—is a favorite of most picnicers. And market supplies of the lightweight birds are expected to run about 20 percent above last year. As many as 3½ million of these tender birds will probably reach the market daily.

Homemakers—when it's time to "eat out," make the meal nutritious, and make it a meal that's easy to prepare. Let the family share in the planning.

Recommended weight for "cook-out" chickens is about two pounds, ready-to-cook. Usually, each broiler half serves one adult. It's easy to split broilers. First, cut down both sides of the backbone and remove. Then, split the breast in two.

For outdoor cooking, a hot fire is needed, but one that is not flaming or smoking. A charcoal fire is suggested, or a hardwood fire that has burned to coals.

Place sauce-dipped broiler halves, or serving pieces, on grill skin side up. Turn frequently and baste with more barbecue sauce. Here is a suggested recipe:

BARBECUE SAUCE

½ teaspoon tabasco
½ teaspoon black pepper
4 tablespoons Vinegar
½ tablespoon butter
2 onions, sliced
4 tablespoons sugar
½ teaspoon dry mustard
½ cup chili sauce
½ teaspoon celery salt
½ teaspoon paprika
2 teaspoon Worcestershire Sauce
1 can tomato soup

Instructions: Cook together until onion is soft.

AND when it's over, remember your manners! Pick up all waste paper and leftover food. Put out fire, and leave grounds clean for the next party.

Sprinkle fish fillets with salt, pepper and paprika; arrange strips of onion and green pepper over the fillets; dot with butter or margarine. Wrap the fillets and vegetables in squares of aluminum foil and place on baking sheet. Bake in a moderate (375 degrees) oven about 25 minutes. Slit the foil on top with a kitchen scissors and serve in the packages.

Hostesses Freeze To Please With Banana Frozen Salad

When outdoors it's simply melting, serve a salad that's simply freezing. That's literally true of Delicious Banana Frozen Salad ideal for entertaining in warm weather.

A beautiful blend of fruits frozen in a smooth, creamy mixture is Banana Frozen Salad. When you've finished and frozen this masterpiece, cut it into squares for serving, and surround with crisp, curly greens. It's the sort of salad that just begs to be served at a ladies' luncheon, committee meeting, or supper. You can make it and forget it in the refrigerator until ready to be hostess to your guests, a decided advantage in hot weather when one likes to cook in the cool of the day.

Use Bananas Fully-Ripe

To get the utmost mellowness of flavor and sweetness in bananas for this salad, do choose those that have yellow peel flecked with brown. This is nature's signal that the banana is at peak of ripeness, flavor, sweetness and digestibility. Bananas are very popular salad ingredients because their flavor is distinctive and liked by all, and their texture lends a substantial something that is welcome in ordinarily "light" dishes such as salad. You do not always have to buy bananas at the yellow flecked with brown stage of ripeness. All-yellow or slightly green-tipped bananas will ripen to the brown flecked stage at home if you leave them at room temperature. Do not put such bananas in the refrigerator as a low temperature arrests the ripening process and impairs the banana's delicate flavor.

BANANA FROZEN SALAD

- 2 3-ounce packages cream cheese
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 2 tablespoons mayonnaise
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- ½ cup drained crushed pineapple
- ½ cup coarsely cut maraschino cherries
- ½ cup coarsely chopped nut meats
- 1 cup whipping cream
- 2 cups diced ripe bananas* (3 to 4 bananas)
- Salad greens

*Use fully ripe bananas . . . yellow peel flecked with brown

Soften cheese with a fork. Add salt, mayonnaise and lemon juice. Mix well. Fold in pineapple, cherries and nuts. Whip cream until thick and shiny but not stiff. Fold into cheese mixture. Fold in bananas. Turn into freezing trays of automatic refrigerator. Freeze, with indicator at coldest setting, about 3 hours, or until firm. Cut into squares for serving. Garnish with crisp greens. Eight to ten servings.

Michigan could provide the United States with salt at its present consumption for a million years, it is estimated.

Hostesses Freeze To Please With Banana Frozen Salad

When outdoors it's simply melting, serve a salad that's simply freezing. That's literally true of Delicious Banana Frozen Salad ideal for entertaining in warm weather.

A beautiful blend of fruits frozen in a smooth, creamy mixture is Banana Frozen Salad. When you've finished and frozen this masterpiece, cut it into squares for serving, and surround with crisp, curly greens. It's the sort of salad that just begs to be served at a ladies' luncheon, committee meeting, or supper. You can make it and forget it in the refrigerator until ready to be hostess to your guests, a decided advantage in hot weather when one likes to cook in the cool of the day.

Use Bananas Fully-Ripe

To get the utmost mellowness of flavor and sweetness in bananas for this salad, do choose those that have yellow peel flecked with brown. This is nature's signal that the banana is at peak of ripeness, flavor, sweetness and digestibility. Bananas are very popular salad ingredients because their flavor is distinctive and liked by all, and their texture lends a substantial something that is welcome in ordinarily "light" dishes such as salad. You do not always have to buy bananas at the yellow flecked with brown stage of ripeness. All-yellow or slightly green-tipped bananas will ripen to the brown flecked stage at home if you leave them at room temperature. Do not put such bananas in the refrigerator as a low temperature arrests the ripening process and impairs the banana's delicate flavor.

LET HIM BLOW HIS TOP... Children need to let off steam once in a while so let them get into a tantrum occasionally to clear the air.

BANANA FROZEN SALAD

- 2 3-ounce packages cream cheese
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 2 tablespoons mayonnaise
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- ½ cup drained crushed pineapple
- ½ cup coarsely cut maraschino cherries
- ½ cup coarsely chopped nut meats
- 1 cup whipping cream
- 2 cups diced ripe bananas* (3 to 4 bananas)
- Salad greens

*Use fully ripe bananas . . . yellow peel flecked with brown

Soften cheese with a fork. Add salt, mayonnaise and lemon juice. Mix well. Fold in pineapple, cherries and nuts. Whip cream until thick and shiny but not stiff. Fold into cheese mixture. Fold in bananas. Turn into freezing trays of automatic refrigerator. Freeze, with indicator at coldest setting, about 3 hours, or until firm. Cut into squares for serving. Garnish with crisp greens. Eight to ten servings.

Michigan could provide the United States with salt at its present consumption for a million years, it is estimated.

W.Va. Kiwanians Plan Conclave At Bluefield

Keyser Club To Send Delegation

KEYSER — Keyser Kiwanis club will be represented by a delegation of members at the annual convention of the West Virginia District of Kiwanis International in Bluefield, September 16, 17 and 18. Announcement was made by the district president this week.

A program of outstanding speakers, entertainment and Kiwanis in Action is being planned by the Bluefield Club, the host. One of the top flight speakers will be James Q. DuPont, Wilmington, Del., who will use the Kiwanis there, "Building As Free Men."

Music will play a big part in the program with guest quartets and musicians from several of the state clubs, augmented by the well known Stan Armstrong and his orchestra, who will play for the governor's ball.

An outside feature for early arrivals for the convention will be the Coal Bowl classic football game to be played on Saturday evening in the Bluefield Stadium, bringing together VPI and East Carolina College.

James M. Moler, Charles Town, governor of West Virginia District of the international body, will preside over convention meetings and for several of the Kiwanis action panel sessions. The Bluefield meeting also will mark the election of officers for the next year.

Several members of the Keyser club will be accompanied by their wives, and will include delegates and other members. There will be a special program for wives of Kiwanis members, including sightseeing trips, one of which will be a trip to the only real coal mine in the world that is prepared for visitors to enter and see coal-mining operations.

This unusual tourist attraction is within a few miles of Bluefield, at Pocahontas, Va., the home of the famed Pocahontas coal. There will also be a style show for the ladies.

W.Va. Planning Annual Dairy Cattle Show

Event Scheduled For August 14-17

MORGANTOWN — Four-H activities will be an important part of the annual West Virginia dairy cattle show, August 14-17, at the state 4-H Camp, Jackson's Mill. Some of these events are state contests with the winning individual or team going on to national or regional competitions in different parts of the country, W. L. Northern, Extension dairyman at West Virginia University, pointed out today.

On Tuesday, August 14, the state 4-H dairy cattle judging contest will be held. The winning team will represent the Mountain State in the national competition at the National Dairy Cattle Congress in Waterloo, Iowa, early in October. Tuesday evening, a fitting and showing Clinic will be held for all 4-H and FFA exhibitors who wish to participate.

On Wednesday, August 15, the 4-H health talks following the theme "Your Skin — the House You Live In" will be given. A boy and girl, representing the county adjudged to have had the best health program during the year, will be crowned state king and queen of health Wednesday evening. Four-H'ers who exhibit Holstein cattle will compete for champion ribbons Wednesday afternoon.

On Thursday, August 16, 4-H'ers will present their prize Guernsey and Jersey animals to the judge. Also, that morning and afternoon the state 4-H tractor operators' contest will be held. The winner of this contest will represent the Mountain State at the regional 4-H tractor operators' contest to be held during the Atlantic Rural Exposition at Richmond, Va., later in the year. On Thursday evening, the 4-H showmanship contest for older youth will be held.

On Friday, August 17, the last day of the show, the 4-H youngsters will show their Ayrshire cattle. On Friday afternoon, a 4-H showmanship contest will be held for members under 14 years of age, followed by the state 4-H champion showmanship contest.

Finally winning 4-H'ers, along with others, will take part in the gala dairy show review Friday evening, Northern concluded.

Keyser To Get New Band Room

KEYSER—The Mineral County Board of Education has asked for bids on building a band room at Keyser High School and an industrial arts department at Ridgeley High School.

The announcement was made by S. T. McGee, superintendent of Mineral County schools. The sum of $50,000 has been set aside for construction work.

Bids will be received until August 17.

The band room is needed as soon as possible as the band requires a separate room for practice sessions.

McGee said he hopes to have a home economics teacher and a physical science instructor at Elk Garden. He also has need for a number of elementary school teachers with degrees.

Tri-Towns Girl Scouts To Camp

PIEDMONT — Girl Scout troops of the Tri-Towns will spend a week at the Boy Scout Camp Potomac at Oldtown. The troops will leave for camp Sunday morning and return Saturday, August 4. Keyser Girl Scouts will accompany the local group.

Mrs. Alton Fortney will be in charge of the camp and Mrs. Eugene Suter will serve as assistant.

Activities at camp will include boating, canoeing, swimming, and life saving under the direction of a staff of six persons. Handicrafts, nature study, rifle shooting, moskeet, archery and other skills will be taught. The girls will also have the use of the axe yard to learn wood chopping. Striking fire by flint and steel will be taught. Games will be played on the athletic field in the evening.

Cumberland girls will have use of Camp Potomac for three weeks after August 4.

Frostburg Unit Guardsmen To Leave For Camp

FROSTBURG — Company D, 115th Infantry, will leave Saturday morning for two weeks of field training at Indiantown Gap, Pa.

The company will be in charge of First Lt. Robert M. Andres and will make the trip in a fleet of Army trucks, leaving the armory on South Water Street Extended at 9 a. m.

Sgt. Matthew Skidmore with two cooks, James Bennett and Earl Davis and three utility men, Bruce Simmons, Oliver Wittig and Richard L. Connor, left yesterday to prepare camp for more than 100 members of the company who will participate.

In addition to its regular equipment, the company will have two recently acquired recoiless rifles mounted on weapon carriers.

Homemakers Plan Picnic

ELLERSLIE — The Homemakers Club met in the Evangelical United Brethren Church basement, Monday evening. The meeting was opened by the president, Mrs. Ruth Myers. The group sang "America the Beautiful." The baby clinic will be held in Ellerslie fire hall, August 10 at 9 a. m. Plans were made to have a picnic supper for all Homemakers and their families at Constitution Park on the regular meeting night in August. Meeting was adjourned with the group singing "Let Me Call You Sweetheart."

Members present were Mesdames Mary Leydig, Effie Pierce, Mae Beal, Clara Bennett, Bessie Stahlman, Edyth Null, Anna Lowery, Jennie Diehl, Mamie Ruth Myers, Pearl See, Marie Simpkins, Ella Grace See, Grace Porter, Bertha Cook, Patti Stair, Anna Lee Stair, Grace Waltman, Dorothy Lowery, Vriginia Lybarger, Ruth Bingman, Elsie Snelson.

Westernport Bills UPRC For Water Service

Past Due Account Dates To April 1951

WESTERNPORT—Statements for $50 for a water tap and $619.08 for water furnished the Upper Potomac River Commission from April 1, 1951 to July 31, 1956 have been authorized by the Mayor and Council.

Mayor Okey E. Michael and Commissioners also instructed the town clerk, George P. DeWitt, to advise the commission in a letter that this was the second and final notice. If the amount is not paid on or before August 25 water service would be definitely discontinued.

Plans and specifications for the Greene's Addition sewer in the rear of Jake's Service Station will be presented to the Mayor and Council August 8 by a representative of Glace and Glace, engineering firm of Harrisburg, Pa.

Bids for the project will be received August 29.

No parking will be permitted for a 60-day trial period on Maryland Avenue between the intersection of Main Street and the driveway of William McIntyre. On the remainder of Maryland Avenue, parking will be permitted as before on the east side of the thoroughfare.

This action was taken by the Mayor and Council following the recommendation of Leo Herbert, police commissioner. By this action it is hoped to reduce speeding on the street.

On the recommendation of Alvin Pence, water commissioner, it was ordered that a catch basin be placed on Vine Street between Johnson and Rock Streets, and one at the intersection of Walnut, Cromer and Division Streets, providing the right of way can be secured from the property owners. It was also ordered that a manhole be constructed on Clay Street.

Council ordered that 80 gallons of paint be purchased to paint the roof of the city building.

Stone Sentenced To Year In Prison

KEYSER—Warren Stone, who escaped from a West Virginia Penitentiary road gang in 1941 while working in Mineral County, was sentenced Wednesday by Judge Ernest A. See to serve an additional year in prison.

Stone was returned here Monday after completing a term in Missouri State Penitentiary. He changed a previous plea of not guilty to guilty.

Charles Spencer Jr. entered a plea of not guilty yesterday to a charge of assaulting Harvey Oates. Indicted Tuesday, he was released under $500 bond pending action at the October term of court.

Entertains Club

MT. SAVAGE — The Cheerful Card Club met recently at the home of Mrs. Cecelia Albright. Refreshments were served and prizes won by Mrs. Delores Couter, Mrs. Adelaide Logsdon, Mrs. Alma Brailer. Miss Martha Reagan will entertain the group at her home August 1.

New Industry Launched In Garrett County

OAKLAND—A new industry has begun in Garrett County, although on a small scale. Thus far only one additional person has been employed, but there are possibilities for expansion.

The industry is the production of dairy and hog feed, produced under the label of the Grance Supply Center of Mt. Lake Park and operated by W. Blair Simmons.

Formulas used in the preparation have been approved and tested by the Ralston Purina Company. The dairy formula already is registered with the State of Maryland and the hog formula is in the process of being registered, as required by law.

Local grains are to be used in the process, it was stated. Simmons said that already several tons of the feed had been produced and that he has stated that his product can be sold at a price less than feed on the market at present.

The tests show that the feed is equal in quality to those now on the market, he said.

Kreiling Named To Draft Board

FROSTBURG — Notification has been received from Henry C. Stanwood, state director of the Selective Service System, of the appointment of G. Alvin Kreiling to membership on Draft Board 30 to fill a vacancy caused by the death of John P. Picken.

The present board, in addition to Kreiling, consists of John Stewart, 39 Water Street, and P. J. O'Brien of Luke.

Pocahontas Council Lists New Officers

MIDLAND — Newly elected officers who were recently installed by Laetta Council No. 60 Degree of Pocahontas, assumed their duties last night at a regular meeting in the Red Men's Hall.

The installing officer at the ceremony was Catherine Baker, council deputy, assisted by Anna Jenkins, past Pocahontas. The new officers include: Prophetess, Jane Hotchkiss; Pocahontas, Margaret Hendra; Wenonah, Pansy Thrasher; Powhatan, Robert Blair Sr.; collector of wampum, Joyce Broadwater; trustee, Mary Blair; first scout, Helen Blubaugh; second scout, Millie Kamauf; first runner, Marguerite Rayner; second runner, Sylvia Keller; first warrior, Agnes Monahan; second warrior, Tinnie Clise; third warrior, Edna Lease; fourth warrior, Delphia Hyde; first councilor, Anastasia Youngblood; second councilor, Ruth Sigler; guard of wigwam, Sadie Yeager; guard of forest, Edith Brinegar.

Officers held over for the next six months are keeper of records, Hazel Taylor; keeper of wampum, Nancy Lease; and trustees, Agnes Monahan and Catherine Baker.

Pocahontas Margaret Hendra appointed a new entertainment committee consisting of Anna Jenkins, Margaret Williams, and Catherine Baker. She also presented Jane Hotchkiss with a past Pocahontas pin. A vote of thanks was given to Dora Ruppert, who resigned her office as collector of wampum, after serving for three years.

Catholic Church Repairs Underway

BARTON — An extensive remodeling program has been undertaken at St. Gabriel's Catholic Church.

The church altar has been replaced, new tile flooring laid, new pews, lights and wiring installed and the building was repainted by the Seaber Decorating Service of Westernport. The church was covered with residing material last year and the exterior was repainted.

W.Va. Planning Annual Dairy Cattle Show

Event Scheduled For August 14-17

MORGANTOWN — Four-H activities will be an important part of the annual West Virginia dairy cattle show, August 14-17, at the state 4-H Camp, Jackson's Mill. Some of these events are state contests with the winning individual or team going on to national or regional competitions in different parts of the country, W. L. Northern, Extension dairyman at West Virginia University, pointed out today.

On Tuesday, August 14, the state 4-H dairy cattle judging contest will be held. The winning team will represent the Mountain State in the national competition at the National Dairy Cattle Congress in Waterloo, Iowa, early in October. Tuesday evening, a fitting and showing Clinic will be held for all 4-H and FFA exhibitors who wish to participate.

On Wednesday, August 15, the 4-H health talks following the theme "Your Skin — the House You Live In" will be given. A boy and girl, representing the county adjudged to have had the best health program during the year, will be crowned state king and queen of health Wednesday evening. Four-H'ers who exhibit Holstein cattle will compete for champion ribbons Wednesday afternoon.

On Thursday, August 16, 4-H'ers will present their prize Guernsey and Jersey animals to the judge. Also, that morning and afternoon the state 4-H tractor operators' contest will be held. The winner of this contest will represent the Mountain State at the regional 4-H tractor operators' contest to be held during the Atlantic Rural Exposition at Richmond, Va., later in the year. On Thursday evening, the 4-H showmanship contest for older youth will be held.

On Friday, August 17, the last day of the show, the 4-H youngsters will show their Ayrshire cattle. On Friday afternoon, a 4-H showmanship contest will be held for members under 14 years of age, followed by the state 4-H champion showmanship contest.

Finally winning 4-H'ers, along with others, will take part in the gala dairy show review Friday evening, Northern concluded.

Keyser To Get New Band Room

KEYSER—The Mineral County Board of Education has asked for bids on building a band room at Keyser High School and an industrial arts department at Ridgeley High School.

The announcement was made by S. T. McGee, superintendent of Mineral County schools. The sum of $50,000 has been set aside for construction work.

Bids will be received until August 17.

The band room is needed as soon as possible as the band requires a separate room for practice sessions.

McGee said he hopes to have a home economics teacher and a physical science instructor at Elk Garden. He also has need for a number of elementary school teachers with degrees.

Tri-Towns Girl Scouts To Camp

PIEDMONT — Girl Scout troops of the Tri-Towns will spend a week at the Boy Scout Camp Potomac at Oldtown. The troops will leave for camp Sunday morning and return Saturday, August 4. Keyser Girl Scouts will accompany the local group.

Mrs. Alton Fortney will be in charge of the camp and Mrs. Eugene Suter will serve as assistant.

Activities at camp will include boating, canoeing, swimming, and life saving under the direction of a staff of six persons. Handicrafts, nature study, rifle shooting, moskeet, archery and other skills will be taught. The girls will also have the use of the axe yard to learn wood chopping. Striking fire by flint and steel will be taught. Games will be played on the athletic field in the evening.

Cumberland girls will have use of Camp Potomac for three weeks after August 4.

Frostburg Unit Guardsmen To Leave For Camp

FROSTBURG — Company D, 115th Infantry, will leave Saturday morning for two weeks of field training at Indiantown Gap, Pa.

The company will be in charge of First Lt. Robert M. Andres and will make the trip in a fleet of Army trucks, leaving the armory on South Water Street Extended at 9 a. m.

Sgt. Matthew Skidmore with two cooks, James Bennett and Earl Davis and three utility men, Bruce Simmons, Oliver Wittig and Richard L. Connor, left yesterday to prepare camp for more than 100 members of the company who will participate.

In addition to its regular equipment, the company will have two recently acquired recoiless rifles mounted on weapon carriers.

Homemakers Plan Picnic

ELLERSLIE — The Homemakers Club met in the Evangelical United Brethren Church basement, Monday evening. The meeting was opened by the president, Mrs. Ruth Myers. The group sang "America the Beautiful." The baby clinic will be held in Ellerslie fire hall, August 10 at 9 a. m. Plans were made to have a picnic supper for all Homemakers and their families at Constitution Park on the regular meeting night in August. Meeting was adjourned with the group singing "Let Me Call You Sweetheart."

Members present were Mesdames Mary Leydig, Effie Pierce, Mae Beal, Clara Bennett, Bessie Stahlman, Edyth Null, Anna Lowery, Jennie Diehl, Mamie Ruth Myers, Pearl See, Marie Simpkins, Ella Grace See, Grace Porter, Bertha Cook, Patti Stair, Anna Lee Stair, Grace Waltman, Dorothy Lowery, Vriginia Lybarger, Ruth Bingman, Elsie Snelson.

Westernport Bills UPRC For Water Service

Past Due Account Dates To April 1951

WESTERNPORT—Statements for $50 for a water tap and $619.08 for water furnished the Upper Potomac River Commission from April 1, 1951 to July 31, 1956 have been authorized by the Mayor and Council.

Mayor Okey E. Michael and Commissioners also instructed the town clerk, George P. DeWitt, to advise the commission in a letter that this was the second and final notice. If the amount is not paid on or before August 25 water service would be definitely discontinued.

Plans and specifications for the Greene's Addition sewer in the rear of Jake's Service Station will be presented to the Mayor and Council August 8 by a representative of Glace and Glace, engineering firm of Harrisburg, Pa.

Bids for the project will be received August 29.

No parking will be permitted for a 60-day trial period on Maryland Avenue between the intersection of Main Street and the driveway of William McIntyre. On the remainder of Maryland Avenue, parking will be permitted as before on the east side of the thoroughfare.

This action was taken by the Mayor and Council following the recommendation of Leo Herbert, police commissioner. By this action it is hoped to reduce speeding on the street.

On the recommendation of Alvin Pence, water commissioner, it was ordered that a catch basin be placed on Vine Street between Johnson and Rock Streets, and one at the intersection of Walnut, Cromer and Division Streets, providing the right of way can be secured from the property owners. It was also ordered that a manhole be constructed on Clay Street.

Council ordered that 80 gallons of paint be purchased to paint the roof of the city building.

Stone Sentenced To Year In Prison

KEYSER—Warren Stone, who escaped from a West Virginia Penitentiary road gang in 1941 while working in Mineral County, was sentenced Wednesday by Judge Ernest A. See to serve an additional year in prison.

Stone was returned here Monday after completing a term in Missouri State Penitentiary. He changed a previous plea of not guilty to guilty.

Charles Spencer Jr. entered a plea of not guilty yesterday to a charge of assaulting Harvey Oates. Indicted Tuesday, he was released under $500 bond pending action at the October term of court.

Entertains Club

MT. SAVAGE — The Cheerful Card Club met recently at the home of Mrs. Cecelia Albright. Refreshments were served and prizes won by Mrs. Delores Couter, Mrs. Adelaide Logsdon, Mrs. Alma Brailer. Miss Martha Reagan will entertain the group at her home August 1.

New Industry Launched In Garrett County

OAKLAND—A new industry has begun in Garrett County, although on a small scale. Thus far only one additional person has been employed, but there are possibilities for expansion.

The industry is the production of dairy and hog feed, produced under the label of the Grance Supply Center of Mt. Lake Park and operated by W. Blair Simmons.

Formulas used in the preparation have been approved and tested by the Ralston Purina Company. The dairy formula already is registered with the State of Maryland and the hog formula is in the process of being registered, as required by law.

Local grains are to be used in the process, it was stated. Simmons said that already several tons of the feed had been produced and that he has stated that his product can be sold at a price less than feed on the market at present.

The tests show that the feed is equal in quality to those now on the market, he said.

Pocahontas Council Lists New Officers

MIDLAND — Newly elected officers who were recently installed by Laetta Council No. 60 Degree of Pocahontas, assumed their duties last night at a regular meeting in the Red Men's Hall.

The installing officer at the ceremony was Catherine Baker, council deputy, assisted by Anna Jenkins, past Pocahontas. The new officers include: Prophetess, Jane Hotchkiss; Pocahontas, Margaret Hendra; Wenonah, Pansy Thrasher; Powhatan, Robert Blair Sr.; collector of wampum, Joyce Broadwater; trustee, Mary Blair; first scout, Helen Blubaugh; second scout, Millie Kamauf; first runner, Marguerite Rayner; second runner, Sylvia Keller; first warrior, Agnes Monahan; second warrior, Tinnie Clise; third warrior, Edna Lease; fourth warrior, Delphia Hyde; first councilor, Anastasia Youngblood; second councilor, Ruth Sigler; guard of wigwam, Sadie Yeager; guard of forest, Edith Brinegar.

Officers held over for the next six months are keeper of records, Hazel Taylor; keeper of wampum, Nancy Lease; and trustees, Agnes Monahan and Catherine Baker.

Pocahontas Margaret Hendra appointed a new entertainment committee consisting of Anna Jenkins, Margaret Williams, and Catherine Baker. She also presented Jane Hotchkiss with a past Pocahontas pin. A vote of thanks was given to Dora Ruppert, who resigned her office as collector of wampum, after serving for three years.

Kreiling Named To Draft Board

FROSTBURG — Notification has been received from Henry C. Stanwood, state director of the Selective Service System, of the appointment of G. Alvin Kreiling to membership on Draft Board 30 to fill a vacancy caused by the death of John P. Picken.

The present board, in addition to Kreiling, consists of John Stewart, 39 Water Street, and P. J. O'Brien of Luke.

Catholic Church Repairs Underway

BARTON — An extensive remodeling program has been undertaken at St. Gabriel's Catholic Church.

The church altar has been replaced, new tile flooring laid, new pews, lights and wiring installed and the building was repainted by the Seaber Decorating Service of Westernport. The church was covered with residing material last year and the exterior was repainted.

Tough South Korean Army Faces Powerful Red Horde

American Advisors Claim Three Years Of Peace Have Been Used For Building Well-Knit, Capable Force

Editor's Note—Three years after the end of fighting in Korea, the frontline is manned by South Korean army troops facing one of the largest Communist military concentrations in the world. Here's an up-to-date report on the ROK army today.

By CHARLES CHIN

WESTERN FRONT, Korea, July 26 (AP)—Tough, well-trained South Korean soldiers now guard the Korean truce front against one of the largest concentrations of Communist troops in the world.

ROK field commanders and their American advisers will tell you with pride that "intensive training and intelligent discipline" make the native army click.

Today, three years after the armistice, the South Korean army is a well-knit, well-equipped fighting force.

"The morale is high and getting even higher," said Lt. Gen. Lee Han Lim, commander of the 6th Corps, which keeps watch on the western front north of Uijongbu, one of the shorter invasion routes to Seoul.

One morale booster, Lee said, has been improvement in vacation policy. His men now get an average of three weeks vacation a year and soon will be getting four weeks.

Another, and perhaps more significant, morale booster has been an improved diet. Expenditures for supplemental foods have been doubled with the help of U. S. foreign aid funds.

Rice is the main food, but complaints are often aired about the side dish, which frequently is a bowl of bean paste soup faintly streaked with fish or meat.

The kitchen issue for the new army has been a frequent subject of discussion in the Korean National Assembly, and among government leaders and in newspaper editorials. Efforts to provide quality food for servicemen still hinge on financial problems.

To help out, frontline divisions are assisting in the construction of civilian-owned bean sprout and bean curd plants in division areas to cut down on transportation costs.

According to Korean officers, the men seldom complain about their eight-hour-a-day intensive training, nor do they say much against the heavy construction work that often cuts into their rest and recreation time.

Monotony and boredom, the perennial enemy of an army that is not fighting, poses no problem for the ROKs.

There are many things to be done in camp—keeping trenches and roads in shape, growing potatoes, cabbages, white radishes and other crops on soldier farms to supplement diet, even building their own mud and clay huts.

And, if any time remains, the soldiers can read months-old magazines, bathe in a mountain creek or play volley ball, fast becoming their most popular sport.

The discharging of men after the three-year service period as promised has proved to be another morale builder.

But troop commanders are sorry to see the veterans go because, as one of them put it, "You get real combat wise soldiers only through actual combat."

U. S. military advisers, who live and work with the ROKs, have nothing but high praise for the Koreans.

Sunday School Picnic Scheduled Tomorrow

WESTERNPORT — The Sunday School of Christ Memorial Baptist Church will hold their annual picnic at Pleasant Valley tomorrow.

A chartered bus and cars will leave the Westernport parking lot on Main Street at 9:30 a. m. and leave from the picnic grounds to return home at 7 p. m.

Ready-Workers Bible Class of the church will be in charge of transportation, games and refreshments.

Lonaconing, Barton, Midland Need Blood Donors August 7

150 New Volunteers Needed To Meet Area Quota

LONACONING — A total of 150 new volunteer blood donors will be needed on Tuesday, August 7, if the area quota of blood donations is to be met, according to Red Cross sponsors of the blood program.

The bloodmobile from Johnstown will be here on that date from noon until 6 p. m. To date, there are no blood donors listed as volunteers.

Residents of Midland, Barton and Lonaconing, and the surrounding areas are urged to volunteer their blood. They are reminded that they are protected against the possible loss of life for need of whole blood and plasma to meet any emergency, only so long as the area continues to reach its regular blood quotas. Red Cross officials point out that the blood program is positive proof that "you cannot receive if you do not give."

Emergency situations are met almost every day at Miners Hospital, Frostburg and Memorial and Sacred Heart hospitals in Cumberland, only because the county is a part of the regional blood program.

No charge is made for blood at these hospitals, because the hospitals obtain it free from the Johnstown blood center. This program can be followed only as long as blood quotas are met here on regular visits of the bloodmobile.

The unit will be set up in the VFW Home at Lonaconing and all persons who will give blood are urged to go there on August 7.

The Red Cross blood committee urges area residents to volunteer. The Red Cross room will be open tomorrow from 2 p. m. until 3 p. m., at which time volunteers will be listed. Residents are urged to stop in and fill out a volunteer donor card.

On Friday, August 3, at 7:30 p. m. the committee will hold a final meeting at the Red Cross room to review the blood recruiting program.

In Midland, volunteers may enroll with Mrs. Gertrude Smith, Red Cross branch chairman, and at Barton, Mrs. Arthur Hoffa has volunteer donor cards.

Leaders and officials in the blood program say they cannot emphasize too strongly that this area must have more new blood donors. In the past a total of about 350 persons have given blood over and over again, but this number is not enough to meet the quota, fill the need or keep the blood bank in operation.

Bridal Shower Held For Mrs. Jack Jacoby

MT. SAVAGE — Mrs. Catherine Copleston and Miss Veronica McDermitt entertained recently with a bridal shower at their home on Church Hill in compliment to Mrs. Jack Jacoby.

The house was decorated with summer flowers. The gifts were arranged under a white wedding bell with blue streamers. Tiny blue bride's slippers were given as favors.

Among those present were members of the family and Miss Loretta McDermitt, Miss Kathleen McDermitt, Mrs. Mary Twigg, Mrs. Nellie Hotchkiss, William McDermitt, Dr. Oscar Braumer and Mrs. Catherine Hale.

Circle To Meet

PIEDMONT — Marguerite Arnold Circle of the Presbyterian Church will meet at the cottage of Mrs. James A. Hoover, Blue Beach August 6. Cars will leave from the church at 6 p. m. Mrs. Hoover and Mrs. Thomas Fahey are hostesses for the meeting.

No charge is made for blood at these hospitals, because the hospitals obtain it free from the Johnstown blood center. This program can be followed only as long as blood quotas are met here on regular visits of the bloodmobile.

The unit will be set up in the VFW Home at Lonaconing and all persons who will give blood are urged to go there on August 7.

The Red Cross blood committee urges area residents to volunteer. The Red Cross room will be open tomorrow from 2 p. m. until 3 p. m., at which time volunteers will be listed. Residents are urged to stop in and fill out a volunteer donor card.

On Friday, August 3, at 7:30 p. m. the committee will hold a final meeting at the Red Cross room to review the blood recruiting program.

In Midland, volunteers may enroll with Mrs. Gertrude Smith, Red Cross branch chairman, and at Barton, Mrs. Arthur Hoffa has volunteer donor cards.

Leaders and officials in the blood program say they cannot emphasize too strongly that this area must have more new blood donors. In the past a total of about 350 persons have given blood over and over again, but this number is not enough to meet the quota, fill the need or keep the blood bank in operation.

Circle To Meet

PIEDMONT — Marguerite Arnold Circle of the Presbyterian Church will meet at the cottage of Mrs. James A. Hoover, Blue Beach August 6. Cars will leave from the church at 6 p. m. Mrs. Hoover and Mrs. Thomas Fahey are hostesses for the meeting.

Bridal Shower Held For Mrs. Jack Jacoby

MT. SAVAGE — Mrs. Catherine Copleston and Miss Veronica McDermitt entertained recently with a bridal shower at their home on Church Hill in compliment to Mrs. Jack Jacoby.

The house was decorated with summer flowers. The gifts were arranged under a white wedding bell with blue streamers. Tiny blue bride's slippers were given as favors.

Among those present were members of the family and Miss Loretta McDermitt, Miss Kathleen McDermitt, Mrs. Mary Twigg, Mrs. Nellie Hotchkiss, William McDermitt, Dr. Oscar Braumer and Mrs. Catherine Hale.

Dapper Dan League Plays 7th All-Star Game Tonight

46 Players To Take Part In Contest

Penn Avenue Field Site Of 6:30 P. M. Little League Tilt

Forty-six members of the 12 teams in the Cumberland Dapper Dan Little League have been named to appear in tonight's seventh annual All-Star game between the Dapper and Dan divisions at Penn Avenue Field.

Ceremonies preceding the contest will get under way at 6:30 p. m. with Paul M. Fletcher, Allegany County state's attorney, listed as the principal speaker. Robert E. Pence, city recreation directors, will be the master of ceremonies at the pre-game show.

Baseball Is Prize

Officials of the league have announced that an official American League baseball, autographed by Enos "Country" Slaughter of the Kansas City Athletics, will be awarded to the first Little Leaguer to hit a homerun in the game.

Members of the Dan division are selected from the Athletics, Braves, Dodgers, Indians, Senators and Tigers while the Dappers will show stars from the Red Sox, Yankees, Pirates, Phillies, Cardinals and Giants.

Last year's game, witnessed by over 200 persons, was won by the Dans, 8-5.

Picked to appear in the all-star classic with the Dappers are:

Players Are Listed

Charles Boone, Ray Redinger, Glen Shipway and Richard Smith of the Phillies; Bucky Whiteman and Phil Ketterman of the Pirates; Michael Long, Jimmie Cox, Harold Hardinger and Homer Hardinger of the Red Sox; Allen Kaplon, Joe Ranker, William Younger and Jim Altizer of the Senators; Dick Klein, James Bowman, Gary Zembower and Larry Peters of the Tigers; Ronnie Evans, Harry Bosley, Bradley Deter and Johnny Combs of the Yankees.

Comprising the Dans will be Charles Cross, Wellington Donahue, Kenny Davis and Bill Norris of the Athletics; Jim Brinkman, Jim Stewart, Bill Stakem and John Sloan of the Braves; John Price, Donald Morgan, Terry Talley and John Nassrie of the Cardinals; Gerald Lowery, Bruce Portmess, Philip Barbe, and Ronnie Spier, Dodgers; Jimmy Seeders, Clifford Flanagan, Jerry McBride and Mike Miller, Giants; and James Stratton, Mike Morrale, John Miller and Max Duncan of the Indians.

Dodgers Defeat Dan Tigers 14-8

Scoring eight runs in the second inning the Dodgers went on to defeat the Tigers, 14-8, yesterday in the Dan Division of the Dapper Dan Little League at Stitcher field.

Bruce Portmess with two singles and a double and Bill Barbe with a triple and single, led the Dodger assault against Larry Peters. Peters had a pair of two-baggers for the Tigers who lost their ninth game. The score:

Tigers	011	305	—	8	9	5
Dodgers	081	05x	—14	8	5

Peters and Zembower, Speir and Lowery.

Tri-Towns Defeats Ridgeley, 5 To 2

Tri Towns Merchants defeated Ridgeley Legion, 5-2, yesterday at Keyser in a Mineral County Softball League game.

Rich Smith with a double, Junie Perry with a triple and single and Russ Clay with two hits paced the victors. Ronnie Phillips and Carter Harness each doubled for Ridgeley. The score:

Ridgeley	100	010	0—2	4	0
Tri Towns	011	003	x—5	7	0

Oakland Stars Lose

The Oakland Little League allstars lost the West Virginia district semi-finals to the Elkins allstars Wednesday at Oakland. The final score was 7-4, Elkins.

The visitors scored three runs in the last inning to ice the game.

Knock Losers From First In Stove Loop

Exploding for nine runs in the last three innings, the Jaycees knocked the Times-News nine out of a first place tie in the Hot Stove League last night at Penn Avenue field. The score was 10-6.

Butch Crouch pitched and batted the Jaycees to victory, recording his third mound triumph without a defeat. Crouch had a pair of three-baggers and a home run for the winners. Bob Gaffney also hit for the circuit and added a single and double for the Jaycees. The homers were the fourth for Gaffney and the fifth for Crouch this year.

Crouch, who struck out 11, was tagged for 12 hits, including three each by Roger Growden and Bob Collins. Ted McGraw smacked a double, triple and single and starred afield for the Newsies. The score:

Orioles Homers Defeat Detroit 11-6, Take Fifth Place

DETROIT, July 26 (AP)—The Baltimore Orioles rocked Billy Hoeft for seven runs in the first four innings, including a three-run homer by George Kell, and went on to defeat the Detroit Tigers 11-6 today at Briggs Stadium.

Gus Triandos and Tito Francona also smashed round-trippers for the Orioles.

Although they got to starter Bill Wight and reliefer Billy Loes for a dozen safeties, including home runs by Ray Boone and Harvey Kuenn, the Tigers kicked in with three errors and each of them figured in the Orioles' scoring.

Hoeft also walked four batters before his early departure.

Kell's blast, his sixth of the season, scored Wight, who had singled, and Hoot Evers, who had walked. It gave Wight a four-run cushion, but the Tigers fought back to within two runs until ninth inning clouts by Triandos and Francona off Steve Gromek pulled the Birds away.

The Fraternal Order of Eagles pounded out a 16-9 triumph over the Outdoor Club tossers in a battle of home runs yesterday to take the lead in the Rocking Chair Softball League.

The slugfest at Campobello saw the two teams hit five circuit blows with Chug Aman of the Eagles leading the parade with a pair in the fifth and seventh innings. Aman also collected two singles in four trips to the plate for the winners.

The Eagles tallied 11 runs in the first three innings to coast to the win behind Jim Gaffney. In addition to the two homers by Aman, Fred Colmer connected for four bases for the Eagles in the sixth with one on. Sam Brady homered in the third and Bub Porter in the seventh for the Outdoor Club is 12-6.

The Veterans of Foreign Wars stayed on the heels of the leaders with a come-from-behind 7-6 decision over the Moose at Fort Hill. Trailing 6-4, the Vets tallied three times off Charles Thompson in the fourth to win the game for Rich Klavuhn. It was the fifth straight win for the Vets.

Bob Dickle tapped Klavuhn for a bases-loaded homer when the Moose tallied five times in the second inning. Two walks and a pair of errors set the stage for the four-run blast. Phil Reuschel and Bill Clark had two hits apiece for the Vets.

The B.P.O. Elks backed Bill Underdonk's five-hit pitching with an 11-hit assault on the Celanese at Stitcher Field to win 12-1.

Ted Rowan with a double and two singles, Doc Gorman with two hits and Walter "Pooch" Orndorff with a three-run homer in the seventh paced the Elks attack. Scott had a triple and single for the Celanese. The scores:

Ted Williams' Homer Defeats A's In 10th, 5-3

KANSAS CITY, July 26 (AP)—Boston's Red Sox rallied for two runs in the eighth inning to tie the ball game at three-all today, and then defeated the Kansas City Athletics on Ted Williams' tenth inning, two-run homer, 5-3.

Bobby Shantz opened the tenth by walking Ted Lepcio, batting for Billy Klaus. Then Williams smacked his 400-foot drive over the left-center fence.

Assistant Grid Coach Is Named

Paul Cuba To Aid Payne At Allegany

Paul Joseph Cuba, 47, former collegiate grid star who later played in the National Football League, has been appointed to a teaching position at Allegany High School.

An outstanding lineman under the late John R. Sutherland at the University of Pittsburgh, Cuba will teach history at Allegany and will be assistant football coach to Chet Payne for the Campers.

Cuba is qualified to instruct in basketball, baseball, track, tennis, boxing, wrestling and other sports activities. He graduated from Pitt in 1933 and taught at Ben Franklin Junior High in New Castle, Pa., for 10 years. He served as head football coach for two seasons at Ursuline High in Youngstown, Ohio.

The new instructor played three years in the NFL, as a tackle with the Eagles and also with Pittsburgh, then known as the Pirates and now the Steelers.

Cuba received his master's degree in administrative education at Westminster College, New Wilmington, Pa., in 1951. He is married to the former Miss Mary Cavanaugh of this city.

Ellerslie Gains On Cresaptown In Bi-State Loop

Ellerslie pounded out a 17-6 victory over Barton in the Bi-State Pony League yesterday at Barton to climb within a single game of the league-leading Cresaptown nine, which was idle.

In another contest at Lonaconing, LaVale and 'Coney battled to a 10-10 tie in a game called in the seventh because of darkness.

Ellerslie's Roger Cook benefited from two big innings when his mates scored six runs in the fourth inning and eight more in the seventh. Don Lowery had three hits, including a double, and Rich Lybarger and Royce Waltman each had three singles for the winners. The big blow for Barton was Metz' triple.

At Lonaconing, LaVale scored four times in the top of the seventh to break the 10-all deadlock but the score reverted to the sixth inning when Coney did not have time to bat before darkness fell.

Dolan and Murphy hit home runs for Lonaconing while Stone had a homer and McKenzie a triple and double for LaVale. The scores:

Penn Avenue Field Site Of 6:30 P. M. Little League Tilt

Forty-six members of the 12 teams in the Cumberland Dapper Dan Little League have been named to appear in tonight's seventh annual All-Star game between the Dapper and Dan divisions at Penn Avenue Field.

Ceremonies preceding the contest will get under way at 6:30 p. m. with Paul M. Fletcher, Allegany County state's attorney, listed as the principal speaker. Robert E. Pence, city recreation directors, will be the master of ceremonies at the pre-game show.

Baseball Is Prize

Officials of the league have announced that an official American League baseball, autographed by Enos "Country" Slaughter of the Kansas City Athletics, will be awarded to the first Little Leaguer to hit a homerun in the game.

Members of the Dan division are selected from the Athletics, Braves, Dodgers, Indians, Senators and Tigers while the Dappers will show stars from the Red Sox, Yankees, Pirates, Phillies, Cardinals and Giants.

Last year's game, witnessed by over 200 persons, was won by the Dans, 8-5.

Charles Boone, Ray Redinger, Glen Shipway and Richard Smith of the Phillies; Bucky Whiteman and Phil Ketterman of the Pirates; Michael Long, Jimmie Cox, Harold Hardinger and Homer Hardinger of the Red Sox; Allen Kaplon, Joe Ranker, William Younger and Jim Altizer of the Senators; Dick Klein, James Bowman, Gary Zembower and Larry Peters of the Tigers; Ronnie Evans, Harry Bosley, Bradley Deter and Johnny Combs of the Yankees.

Comprising the Dans will be Charles Cross, Wellington Donahue, Kenny Davis and Bill Norris of the Athletics; Jim Brinkman, Jim Stewart, Bill Stakem and John Sloan of the Braves; John Price, Donald Morgan, Terry Talley and John Nassrie of the Cardinals; Gerald Lowery, Bruce Portmess, Philip Barbe, and Ronnie Spier, Dodgers; Jimmy Seeders, Clifford Flanagan, Jerry McBride and Mike Miller, Giants; and James Stratton, Mike Morrale, John Miller and Max Duncan of the Indians.

Dodgers Defeat Dan Tigers 14-8

Scoring eight runs in the second inning the Dodgers went on to defeat the Tigers, 14-8, yesterday in the Dan Division of the Dapper Dan Little League at Stitcher field.

Bruce Portmess with two singles and a double and Bill Barbe with a triple and single, led the Dodger assault against Larry Peters. Peters had a pair of two-baggers for the Tige.s who lost their ninth game. The score:

Oakland Stars Lose

The Oakland Little League allstars lost the West Virginia district semi-finals to the Elkins allstars Wednesday at Oakland. The final score was 7-4, Elkins.

The visitors scored three runs in the last inning to ice the game.

Knock Losers From First In Stove Loop

Exploding for nine runs in the last three innings, the Jaycees knocked the Times-News nine out of a first place tie in the Hot Stove League last night at Penn Avenue field. The score was 10-6.

Butch Crouch pitched and batted the Jaycees to victory, recording his third mound triumph without a defeat. Crouch had a pair of three-baggers and a home run for the winners. Bob Gaffney also hit for the circuit and added a single and double for the Jaycees. The homers were the fourth for Gaffney and the fifth for Crouch this year.

Crouch, who struck out 11, was tagged for 12 hits, including three each by Roger Growden and Bob Collins. Ted McGraw smacked a double, triple and single and starred afield for the Newsies. The score:

Orioles Homers Defeat Detroit 11-6, Take Fifth Place

DETROIT, July 26 (AP)—The Baltimore Orioles rocked Billy Hoeft for seven runs in the first four innings, including a three-run homer by George Kell, and went on to defeat the Detroit Tigers 11-6 today at Briggs Stadium.

Gus Triandos and Tito Francona also smashed round-trippers for the Orioles.

Although they got to starter Bill Wight and reliefer Billy Loes for a dozen safeties, including home runs by Ray Boone and Harvey Kuenn, the Tigers kicked in with three errors and each of them figured in the Orioles' scoring.

Hoeft also walked four batters before his early departure.

Kell's blast, his sixth of the season, scored Wight, who had singled, and Hoot Evers, who had walked. It gave Wight a four-run cushion, but the Tigers fought back to within two runs until ninth inning clouts by Triandos and Francona off Steve Gromek pulled the Birds away.

The Fraternal Order of Eagles pounded out a 16-9 triumph over the Outdoor Club tossers in a battle of home runs yesterday to take the lead in the Rocking Chair Softball League.

The slugfest at Campobello saw the two teams hit five circuit blows with Chug Aman of the Eagles leading the parade with a pair in the fifth and seventh innings. Aman also collected two singles in four trips to the plate for the winners.

The Eagles tallied 11 runs in the first three innings to coast to the win behind Jim Gaffney. In addition to the two homers by Aman, Fred Colmer connected for four bases for the Eagles in the sixth with one on. Sam Brady homered in the third and Bub Porter in the seventh for the Outdoor Club is 12-6.

The Veterans of Foreign Wars stayed on the heels of the leaders with a come-from-behind 7-6 decision over the Moose at Fort Hill. Trailing 6-4, the Vets tallied three times off Charles Thompson in the fourth to win the game for Rich Klavuhn. It was the fifth straight win for the Vets.

Bob Dickle tapped Klavuhn for a bases-loaded homer when the Moose tallied five times in the second inning. Two walks and a pair of errors set the stage for the four-run blast. Phil Reuschel and Bill Clark had two hits apiece for the Vets.

The B.P.O. Elks backed Bill Underdonk's five-hit pitching with an 11-hit assault on the Celanese at Stitcher Field to win 12-1.

Ted Rowan with a double and two singles, Doc Gorman with two hits and Walter "Pooch" Orndorff with a three-run homer in the seventh paced the Elks attack. Scott had a triple and single for the Celanese. The scores:

Ted Williams' Homer Defeats A's In 10th, 5-3

KANSAS CITY, July 26 (AP)—Boston's Red Sox rallied for two runs in the eighth inning to tie the ball game at three-all today, and then defeated the Kansas City Athletics on Ted Williams' tenth inning, two-run homer, 5-3.

Bobby Shantz opened the tenth by walking Ted Lepcio, batting for Billy Klaus. Then Williams smacked his 400-foot drive over the left-center fence.

Assistant Grid Coach Is Named

Paul Cuba To Aid Payne At Allegany

Paul Joseph Cuba, 47, former collegiate grid star who later played in the National Football League, has been appointed to a teaching position at Allegany High School.

An outstanding lineman under the late John R. Sutherland at the University of Pittsburgh, Cuba will teach history at Allegany and will be assistant football coach to Chet Payne for the Campers.

Cuba is qualified to instruct in basketball, baseball, track, tennis, boxing, wrestling and other sports activities. He graduated from Pitt in 1933 and taught at Ben Franklin Junior High in New Castle, Pa., for 10 years. He served as head football coach for two seasons at Ursuline High in Youngstown, Ohio.

The new instructor played three years in the NFL, as a tackle with the Eagles and also with Pittsburgh, then known as the Pirates and now the Steelers.

Cuba received his master's degree in administrative education at Westminster College, New Wilmington, Pa., in 1951. He is married to the former Miss Mary Cavanaugh of this city.

Ellerslie Gains On Cresaptown In Bi-State Loop

Ellerslie pounded out a 17-6 victory over Barton in the Bi-State Pony League yesterday at Barton to climb within a single game of the league-leading Cresaptown nine, which was idle.

In another contest at Lonaconing, LaVale and 'Coney battled to a 10-10 tie in a game called in the seventh because of darkness.

Ellerslie's Roger Cook benefited from two big innings when his mates scored six runs in the fourth inning and eight more in the seventh. Don Lowery had three hits, including a double, and Rich Lybarger and Royce Waltman each had three singles for the winners. The big blow for Barton was Metz' triple.

At Lonaconing, LaVale scored four times in the top of the seventh to break the 10-all deadlock but the score reverted to the sixth inning when Coney did not have time to bat before darkness fell.

Dolan and Murphy hit home runs for Lonaconing while Stone had a homer and McKenzie a triple and double for LaVale. The scores:

Roger Craig Notches Win Over Redlegs

Campanella Smacks Homer To Lead The Dodgers In 5-3 Tilt

BROOKLYN, July 26 (AP)—Catcher Roy Campanella broke his batting slump with a three-run homer and pitcher Roger Craig maintained his unbeaten skein at Ebbets Field as the Brooklyn Dodgers swept the three-game series with Cincinnati 5-3 today and moved up to within a half game of the second-place Redlegs.

Campanella's homer, his first in three weeks, was the telling blow off right hander Tom Acker. It came in the fourth inning following a single by Ransom Jackson and a walk to Sandy Amoros, boosting the Dodgers' lead to 4-0.

Craig, who never has lost at Ebbets Field since he came to Brooklyn a year ago July 17, hurled a route-going five-hitter for his 10th straight victory in Brooklyn's home park. It was his 10th triumph of the season against five losses.

Frank Robinson hit his 23rd home run in the seventh with none on, and in the ninth Ted Kluszewski blasted his 25th for the Redlegs.

Waters Wins First Game For Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH, July 26 (AP) — Southpaw Fred Waters recorded his first victory of the season today as Pittsburgh shut out the Chicago Cubs 4-0 to sweep a three-game series.

Waters, who now has a 1-1 record, gave up only four singles, fanned four and walked three in seven innings. He got into trouble in the eighth by walking two men with none out. Howie Pollet finished the game by holding the Cubs hitless.

The loss was charged to Sam Jones who gave up six hits, struck out three and walked three in the 6½ innings. Russ Meyer and Jim Davis finished the Cub pitching.

The Pirates scored their first run in the fourth on Roberto Clemente's double and Frank Thomas' single. They got two more—both unearned — when Jones fielded a bunt and threw wild past third, permitting runners to score from first and second. The Pirates tallied again in the seventh when Bob Skinner lofted a bases-loaded sacrifice fly to left field to score a runner from third.

Braves Blank Giants, 11-0, Sweep Series

Increase Lead With Fifth Straight Win, Pace NL By 5½ Games

NEW YORK, July 26 (AP) — The red-hot Milwaukee Braves maintained their perfect slate at the Polo Grounds today, as Gene Conley pitched them to an 11-0 triumph over the New York Giants that gave them a sweep of the three-game series and a record of nine victories in as many starts here this season.

It was the eighth straight defeat for the hapless Giants.

The victory, the Braves' fifth in a row and the 14th in their last 16 starts, increased their first-place margin to 5½ games over Cincinnati which lost to the Brooklyn Dodgers 5-3.

The Braves, enjoying one of their most productive days of the year, supported Conley's nine-hit pitching with a 16-hit attack that included home runs by Henry Aaron and Bobby Thomson.

Every man in the Braves' starting lineup participated in the assault on five Giant pitchers with the exception of Conley and first baseman Joe Adcock. Aaron collected a couple of singles in addition to his homer and drove in four runs. Johnny Logan contributed a triple and two singles and Thomson had a single besides his homer, a 415-foot drive that hit the facade of the upper left-field deck.

Johnny Antonelli started for the Giants and absorbed his worst pounding of the year.

None of the Giants' nine hits was longer than a single.

Yankees Use Big Inning, Defeat White Sox, 8 To 5

Larsen Wins Game In Relief Stint

CHICAGO, July 26 (AP)—The New York Yankees today shattered the Chicago White Sox with a five-run blast that knocked out starter Jack Harshman in the third inning to wrap up the rubber game of the series 8-5.

The victory before 26,741 Comiskey Park fans—which boosted attendance for the three-game set to 94,802—lowered the once contending Sox to 14½ games off the Yankee pace.

A two-run triple by Jim Rivera off Tommy Byrne in the second inning — a blow that Bob Cerv would have gotten before it hit the wall had he broken back for it faster—gave Chicago a 3-1 lead. Rookie Norm Siebern replaced Cerv in left field in the next inning.

But the Yankees took care of the Sox lead in short order. Harshman, seeking his first win over New York this season but absorbing his seventh loss against as many victories, walked Hank Bauer to open the third inning. Then Mickey Mantle, Yogi Berra, Bill Skowron and Andy Carey sprayed successive singles.

Gerry Staley was called to the rescue, but before he could retire the side, Gerry Coleman squeezed home Skowron and Byrne drove in Carey for the fifth run.

Les Moss lifted his sixth homer into the upper left field tier in the third off Byrne. Winner Don Larsen went to the mound for the Yankees starting the fourth, yielding five of the Sox 11 hits. They bunched two in the ninth for a run.

Tamburello Seeks Army Deferment

BALTIMORE, July 26 (AP) — Quarterback Frank Tamburello of the University of Maryland has appealed for deferment from an Army induction physical examination scheduled Aug. 6.

The football star from Baltimore notified his draft board that he is "making normal progress toward graduation." He asked deferment to complete his senior year next year.

The university sent the draft board a statement that Tamburello is in the upper two-thirds of his class. Miss Edna Peters, assistant registrar, said he apparently meets all qualifications for deferment.

Roger Craig Notches Win Over Redlegs

Campanella Smacks Homer To Lead The Dodgers In 5-3 Tilt

BROOKLYN, July 26 (AP)—Catcher Roy Campanella broke his batting slump with a three-run homer and pitcher Roger Craig maintained his unbeaten skein at Ebbets Field as the Brooklyn Dodgers swept the three-game series with Cincinnati 5-3 today and moved up to within a half game of the second-place Redlegs.

Campanella's homer, his first in three weeks, was the telling blow off right hander Tom Acker. It came in the fourth inning following a single by Ransom Jackson and a walk to Sandy Amoros, boosting the Dodgers' lead to 4-0.

Craig, who never has lost at Ebbets Field since he came to Brooklyn a year ago July 17, hurled a route-going five-hitter for his 10th straight victory in Brooklyn's home park. It was his 10th triumph of the season against five losses.

Frank Robinson hit his 23rd home run in the seventh with none on, and in the ninth Ted Kluszewski blasted his 25th for the Redlegs.

Allan Largent Hurls No-Hit, No-Run Tilt

Allan Largent pitched a near-perfect no-run, no-hit game as Penn Avenue defeated Johnson's Heights in the Senior Playground Softball League yesterday at Penn Avenue. The score was 16-0.

Largent faced only 23 batters, walking but two men, allowed only two balls to be hit out of the infield. He struck out 12.

Jim Beck led the Penn Avenue batters with three hits, including a double and home run. Jim Baldwin and Harold Schriver also chipped in with homers. The score:

Bucs Defeat Chicago, 4-0

Waters Wins First Game For Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH, July 26 (AP) — Southpaw Fred Waters recorded his first victory of the season today as Pittsburgh shut out the Chicago Cubs 4-0 to sweep a three-game series.

Waters, who now has a 1-1 record, gave up only four singles, fanned four and walked three in seven innings. He got into trouble in the eighth by walking two men with none out. Howie Pollet finished the game by holding the Cubs hitless.

The loss was charged to Sam Jones who gave up six hits, struck out three and walked three in the 6½ innings. Russ Meyer and Jim Davis finished the Cub pitching.

The Pirates scored their first run in the fourth on Roberto Clemente's double and Frank Thomas' single. They got two more—both unearned — when Jones fielded a bunt and threw wild past third, permitting runners to score from first and second. The Pirates tallied again in the seventh when Bob Skinner lofted a bases-loaded sacrifice fly to left field to score a runner from third.

Cleaners Wallop Naval Reserve 11-1

Tri State's league-leading Cleaners walloped Naval Reserve, 11-1, yesterday at Naval Armory field as Neil Toey pitched his 13th victory of the season with a three-hitter.

Ronnie Twigg with a triple, Wes Bridges with four hits and Fred Meeks and Bill Burke with doubles, topped the Tri-State attack. Jim McDonald doubled for Naval Reserve. The score:

Tri State	302	004	2—	11	12	1
Naval Res.	000	100	0—	1	3	2

Toey and Twigg. McDonald and Shaw.

Yankees Use Big Inning, Defeat White Sox, 8 To 5

Larsen Wins Game In Relief Stint

CHICAGO, July 26 (AP)—The New York Yankees today shattered the Chicago White So with a five-run blast that knocked out starter Jack Harshman in the third inning to wrap up the rubber game of the series 8-5.

The victory before 26,741 Comiskey Park fans—which boosted attendance for the three-game set to 94,802—lowered the once contending Sox to 14½ games off the Yankee pace.

A two-run triple by Jim Rivera off Tommy Byrne in the second inning — a blow that Bob Cerv would have gotten before it hit the wall had he broken back for it faster—gave Chicago a 3-1 lead. Rookie Norm Siebern replaced Cerv in left field in the next inning.

But the Yankees took care of the Sox lead in short order. Harshman, seeking his first win over New York this season but absorbing his seventh loss against as many victories, walked Hank Bauer to open the third inning. Then Mickey Mantle, Yogi Berra, Bill Skowron and Andy Carey sprayed successive singles.

Gerry Staley was called to the rescue, but before he could retire the side, Gerry Coleman squeezed home Skowron and Byrne drove in Carey for the fifth run.

Les Moss lifted his sixth homer into the upper left field tier in the third off Byrne. Winner Don Larsen went to the mound for the Yankees starting the fourth, yielding five of the Sox 11 hits. They bunched two in the ninth for a run.

Tamburello Seeks Army Deferment

BALTIMORE, July 26 (AP) — Quarterback Frank Tamburello of the University of Maryland has appealed for deferment from an Army induction physical examination scheduled Aug. 6.

The football star from Baltimore notified his draft board that he is "making normal progress toward graduation." He asked deferment to complete his senior year next year.

The university sent the draft board a statement that Tamburello is in the upper two-thirds of his class. Miss Edna Peters, assistant registrar, said he apparently meets all qualifications for deferment.

Jack Knight Takes First Round Lead In Eastern Open

Ill. Pro's 67 Leads Field By A Stroke

Stranahan, Last Year's Winner, Has Four-Over-Par 76

BALTIMORE, July 26 (AP)—John Knight of Springfield, Ill., traveling golf's pro circuit for the first time, putted his way into the first round lead of the Eastern Open today with 67 strokes, five under par.

The 26-year-old fidgety golfer never got into trouble once on his way around the 6,895-yard Mount Pleasant course in the 72-hole, $19,000 tournament.

He dropped five birdie putts and stuck with par on the other 13 holes to be a leader for the first time in nearly a score of tourneys he has played.

Another beginner as far as the pros go, Jack Kesselring of Tronto, was only a stroke behind. The 27-year-old Canadian also got five birdies, but landed in a trap on the 16th which led to a bogey five.

Bunched at 69 out of the field of 135 were Jay Hbert of Sanford, Fla., Dick Mayer of St. Petersburg, Fla., Ralph Blomquist of Glendale, Calif., Don Addington of Dallas, Babe Lichardus of Shackamaxon, N. J., and Dow Finsterwald of Athens, Ohio.

Mayer was the only one of three former Eastern Open winners to break par. Frank Stranahan of Toledo, Ohio, last year's winner, was four over at 76 and Bob Toski of Holyoke, Mass., the 1954 winner, was only a stroke better.

Twenty-four of the field were under par with 11 of them grouped at 70. Among this bunch were such better known names as Ansel Snow of Ft. Pierce, Fla., Doug Ford of Mahopac, N. Y., Arnold Palmer of Latrobe, Pa., Art Wall Jr. of Pocono Manor, Pa., and Dave Douglas of Newark, Del.

Knight, who turned pro in the fall of 1954 after discharge from the Army, started on his subpar way with a spectacular 28-foot putt for a birdie three on the par four, 424-yard fifth.

He dropped approach shots to within five feet on the seventh and two feet on the 10th for two more birdies. Ten foot putts went in on the 14th and 16th for two more and he missed one by a hair's breadth on the 15th.

Knight's best finish in a pro tourney has been seventh at Greensboro, N. C.

"I've won about $1,800," he said in reply to questions about his success.

Kesselring won the Ontario Open for his first pro triumph recently.

Tri-State Golf To Open Today

C. S. Catherman Jr. In Early Favorites

KINGWOOD, W. Va., July 26 (AP)—An expanded field of 120 entrants heads into qualifying play tomorrow in the ninth annual Tri-State Amateur Golf Tournament.

Amateurs from Pennsylvania, Maryland and West Virgina are on hand for the 72-hole medal play event on the nine-hole layout of the Preston Country Club, which has a par of 72.

Kermit Hutchinson of Charleston defending champion, and Evo Petri of Wheeling, the 1953 titleholder, rank among the favorites.

Other top-rated entries include Bill Dyer of Morgantown, C. S. Catherman of Cumberland, Md., Vince Martino of Clarksburg and Charlie Yearick and Maury Bailey, both of Baltimore.

There will be 18-hole qualifying rounds on Friday and Saturday. The field will be cut to 39 for the 36-hole final on Sunday.

Tourney Chairman Tom Brand said this year's tournament looks to be the biggest yet. He said it was necessary to raise the original limit of 104 entries to 120 because of widespread interest.

The first pack of playing cards of which any copy is preserved was in use in Venice, Italy, in 1125.

Boland Rides 100th Winner

Scores At Jamaica Aboard Hartsville

JAMAICA, N. Y., July 26—(AP)—Meadowhill's Hartsville came off the pace to speed to victory in the Greenpoint Purse at Jamaica race track today.

The 4-year-old son of Alquest-Anyway, ridden by Willie Boland, dashed six furlongs in the good time of 1:11 2/5 in scoring by a length and a half over B. and M. Stable's Bunny's Babe. Walter S. Horne's Finical was third.

Fifth Choice in the field of eight with the crowd of 17,627, Hartsville returned the across the board mutuels of $15.10, $8.00 and $6.70. Bunny's Babe paid $5.20 and $4.20 and Finical was $6.50 to show.

The victory was the third of the day for Boland, a native of Corpus Christi, Tex., and his 100th of the year. He is the first rider on the New York circuit to reach the century mark this year.

Woodling's Homer Wins For Lemon

CLEVELAND, July 26 (AP)—Gene Woodling's home run into the right field stands in the sixth inning today enabled the Cleveland Indians to score their sixth straight victory by beating the Washington Nationals, 1-0, in the first game of a scheduled doubleheader, which was rained out in the seventh inning. The second game was postponed.

Lefthander Chuck Stobbs had held the Indians to two hits in the first five innings in a pitchers' duel with righthander Bob Lemon. Woodling's homer, his fifth of the season, came with two outs.

The victory was Lemon's 13th victory against seven defeats. Stobbs' record is now 7-8.

W.Va. Hunting Season Opens October 12

Deer Kill Set December 3-8

KEYSER — The West Virginia Conservation Commission has released dates for the 1956-57 hunting season.

The season will open October 12 with squirrels and ruffed grouse as legal game. The squirrel daily bag limit has been raised from four, figure of recent years, to six-a-day and 36 a season. The grouse daily limit is four and 20 a season. Both squirrel and grouse seasons close January 5.

The turkey season also opens October 12 and runs to January 5 with the limit one per day and one a season.

Quail becomes legal game November 12 and the season runs until January 5, 1957, with a seven per day limit and 35 for the season.

Ringneck pheasant, males only, is statewide this year and runs from November 12-17. Two birds a day and two for the season is the limit.

Rabbit season opens November 12 and closes January 5 with four a day and 24 for the season as the bag limit.

Turkeys can be hunted only in designated counties. Berkeley, Grant, Hampshire, Hardy, Mineral, Morgan, Pendleton, Randolph and Tucker are area counties listed as legal turkey territory.

The bow and arrow season for deer begins October 12 and closes December 1.

The regular deer season opens December 3 and closes December 8 with animals of either sex permissible game in Berkeley, Hampshire, Hardy, Mineral, Morgan, Pendleton, Preston and Randolph counties. Only animals having antlers three or more inches in length may be killed in Grant and Tucker counties.

Nakaso Appointed Central College Coach

FAYETTE, Mo., July 26 (AP)—Appointment of William S. Nakaso, former star athlete at Trinity college in Hartford, Conn., as football and track coach at Central College was announced today by President Ralph L. Woodward.

Nakaso succeeds Orval F. Stiegemeier, who resigned to take a position with Kent, Ohio, State University.

W.Va. Hunting Season Opens October 12

Deer Kill Set December 3-8

KEYSER — The West Virginia Conservation Commission has released dates for the 1956-57 hunting season.

The season will open October 12 with squirrels and ruffed grouse as legal game. The squirrel daily bag limit has been raised from four, figure of recent years, to six-a-day and 36 a season. The grouse daily limit is four and 20 a season. Both squirrel and grouse seasons close January 5.

The turkey season also opens October 12 and runs to January 5 with the limit one per day and one a season.

Quail becomes legal game November 12 and the season runs until January 5, 1957, with a seven per day limit and 35 for the season.

Ringneck pheasant, males only, is statewide this year and runs from November 12-17. Two birds a day and two for the season is the limit.

Rabbit season opens November 12 and closes January 5 with four a day and 24 for the season as the bag limit.

Turkeys can be hunted only in designated counties. Berkeley, Grant, Hampshire, Hardy, Mineral, Morgan, Pendleton, Randolph and Tucker are area counties listed as legal turkey territory.

The bow and arrow season for deer begins October 12 and closes December 1.

The regular deer season opens December 3 and closes December 8 with animals of either sex permissible game in Berkeley, Hampshire, Hardy, Mineral, Morgan, Pendleton, Preston and Randolph counties. Only animals having antlers three or more inches in length may be killed in Grant and Tucker counties.

Man's first efforts to domesticate the ancestors of modern cows were made about 50,000 years ago.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:
A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

A Cryptogram Quotation

PA (VYHPX) PH ATW EKSQ XTWGB GKI YKBYKPHTWI DGBAYDW YBEK WGDAT—HVPAT.

Red Book Ban Off

COLOMBO, July 26 (AP)—Ceylon's Premier Solomon W. R. Bandaranaike has informed Parliament he will not continue the ban on import of books from the Soviet Union and other Communist countries. A ban on import of Red literature imposed by Bandaranaike's predecessor, Sir John Kotelawala, eliminated an important source of revenue for the Ceylon Communist party.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:
A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

A Cryptogram Quotation

PA (VYHPX) PH ATW EKSQ XTWGB GKI YKBYKPHTWI DGBAYDW YBEK WGDAT—HVPAT.

Red Book Ban Off

COLOMBO, July 26 (AP)—Ceylon's Premier Solomon W. R. Bandaranaike has informed Parliament he will not continue the ban on import of books from the Soviet Union and other Communist countries. A ban on import of Red literature imposed by Bandaranaike's predecessor, Sir John Kotelawala, eliminated an important source of revenue for the Ceylon Communist party.

More Farmers Suffer From Arthritis

Stating that 23 per cent of American farmers know the aches and pains of the nation's leading crippler, the foundation added that every person with a tendency toward arthritis can lessen his chances of coming down with the disease. Drugs are now available to reduce inflammation and pain and lessen the danger of crippling.

The foundation pointed out it was not known why the farmer, who spends most of his life in the healthful outdoors, should be the nation's leading arthritis sufferer. Exposure to the elements may have something to do with it, the foundation believes. Hard physical labor over the years without letup, and a lack of relaxation, may also be involved.

Spectators Stand, Applaud New French Fall Fashions

PARIS, July 26 (AP) — Spectators stood up and cheered today when Christian Dior, opening the French fall fashion showings, presented a group of tweed day dresses nearly ankle-length.

Prolonged applause marked the end of the showing. The style revolutionist of New Look fame seems to have carried off another sensationally successful coup.

After stringbean figures and flat chests, Dior has re-emphasized the bust, dropped necklines and stuffed the hips. If the hips are not actually padded, they are puffed out by skirts set in with soft folds at the natural waistline and narrowed at the hem. Dior calls them Dutch skirts, and they resemble a magnet with the rounded end upward.

Capes are an important and presistent note of the new collection.

Dior's "magnet line" rounds the shoulders and bust, fits neatly at the waist, and blooms out over the hips to narrow again at the hem. At least, this is the double magnet silhouette of most dresses and suits. Coats make a single magnet line, with bulkiness at the shoulder narrowing to the hem.

Black and a new mole gray for day in rough tweeds and hairy homespun woolens give way to a burst of brilliant color—reds, blues greens and pink—in extravagantly embroidered or lame satins, velvets and chiffons for evening.

Besides cape jackets and cape coats, there are cape collars and cape drapes. They may be waist-length or hip-length.

Dior goes in for two innovations with materials—winter chiffon for cocktail and formal dresses and suede leather draped like cloth for soft blouses, coats and hats.

His hats go to extremes—high-crowned stovepipe cloches and fur Cossack caps for daytime, huge umbrellas and tiny tambourines for evening. Shoes are needle-pointed.

Terse Radio Messages Tell Story Of Ship Collision

NEW YORK, July 26 (AP)—Brief, tense radio messages told the story today of the collision of the Italian liner Andrea Doria and the Swedish-American liner Stockholm in the foggy waters off Nantucket.

Here are some of the messages picked up by the Coast Guard:

11:22 p.m. EDT—From the Stockholm: We have collided with another ship. Please (stand by). Ship in collision.

12:09 a.m.—From Stockholm: Badly damaged. Full bow crushed. Our No. 1 hold filled with water. We have to stay in our position. Help if you can.

12:22 a.m.—From Stockholm to Andrea Doria: Lower your life boats. We can pick you up.

12:35 a.m.—From Andrea Doria: We are too bending (listing). Impossible to put boats over side. Please send lifeboats immediately.

1:05 a.m.—From Liner Ile de France to freighter Cape Ann; Vessels near the scene. We shall be at area at 1:45 a.m. What can I do to help?

1:12 a.m.—Cape Ann to Ile de France: We have dispatched two lifeboats.

1:35 a.m.—Stockholm to Andrea Doria: We are launching all available lifeboats.

2:25 a.m.—Apparently from Stockholm: The Adrea Doria has begun to abandon ship.

3:05 a.m.—Stockholm to Ile de France: Our foreship damaged. Our No. 1 hold flooded. Otherwise ship all right. Will try to proceed to New York at full speed. If you are going to New York with passengers from Andrea Doria can we keep company?

3:07 a.m.—Ile de France to Stockholm: Will proceed New York full speed when all rescued. Please ask another ship. My schedule imperative.

3:30 a.m.—Stockholm: Urgent message to nearest Coast Guard station. Have three serious casualties aboard our ship from Andrea Doria who need immediate attention. Please investigate. If possible send helicopter to our position.

3:45 a.m.—Ile de France to Andrea Doria: I intend to return full speed to New York as soon as you will release me. Are you abandoning ship or do you stay on board with party? How many persons have you still got on board to evacuate, more or less?

4:25 a.m.—Stockholm to Andrea Doria: Have approximately 425 survivors aboard.

4:34 a.m.—Stockholm to Coast Guard: It is desired to give Andrea Doria your medical assistance. We have helicopter on way for our injured.

6:10 a.m.—Unidentified ship to Coast Guard: Andrea Doria listing heavily. The main deckline is at the water.

6:47 a.m.—Stockholm to Coast Guard: No radio contact with Andrea Doria. Apparently unable to use radio further.

7:30 a.m.—Cape Ann to Coast Guard: Our count is 168 survivors. They are all over and it is difficult. Two seriously injured. Bruises and shock plentiful but two doctors in attendance. Released by Coast Guard and proceeding at best speed. Used all lifeboats, very proud of conduct of officers and crew. Arrive Ambrose Light 5 p.m.

7:40 a.m.—Military transport Pvt. William Thomas to Coast Guard: No communication with Andrea Doria. Has 45-degree starboard list. Large gash below standard bridge wing. List increasing. Seaworthiness nil. Last report captain and 11 crew still on board. No passengers.

7:47 a.m.—Coast Guard plane escorting two helicopters; Landing on Stockholm by helicopter not feasible. Will try rescue by basket.

8 a.m.—Plane reported injured child rescued in basket.

8:30 a.m.—Coast Guard advised five injured removed from Stockholm by Helicopter.

10:55 a.m.—Coast Guard cutter messaged Andrea Doria sank at 10:09.

Little Change In Food Price Level Forecast

WASHINGTON, July 26 (AP) — The current level of retail food prices will hold for the remainder of the year, the Agriculture Department forecast today.

It based its prediction on a combination of expanding consumer buying power and a slight downturn in supplies of some food. Recent increases in food prices helped push the cost of living to a record high level last month.

Group Is Attending Summer Assembly

Representatives of Grace Baptist Church attending the Maryland Baptist Summer Assembly at Hood College, Frederick, are Linda Schwallm, Nancy Taylor, Doris Crites and Sally Gay Runion.

Bride-Elect Is Honored

Miss Judith Hollern, fiancee of James Poland, was honor guest of Mrs. Robert Mitter and Mrs. Dennis Perrin at a miscellaneous shower and prenuptial party at the home of the latter, Camden Avenue. The shower motif was carried out in miniature pink and white umbrellas.

The marriage of Miss Hollern, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Hollern, Midland, to Mr. Poland, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clement Poland, RD 1, Frostburg, will be performed August 11.

A graduate of Beall High School, the bride-elect is employed as a secretary at Allegany Ballistics Laboratory. Her fiance, also a graduate of Beall High School, served two years in the United States Navy, is attending State Teachers College, Frostburg, and is a part time employe of Dr. Walter E. Jeffries as an optician.

Guests included Mrs. Hollern, Mrs. Poland, Mrs. Edison Kesner, Mrs. John Kesner, Miss Mary Winters, Mrs. Fred Robinson, Mrs. Edward Hess, Mrs. Charles Schultz, Miss Naomi Parks, Mrs. John Rephann, Mrs. James Brailer, Mrs. James Koen, Miss Marietta Boyle, Mrs. George Winner, Mrs. John Kauffman and Mrs. Joseph Haywood.

More Farmers Suffer From Arthritis

More farmers suffer from arthritis than people in any other occupation, according to the Arthritis and Rheumatism Foundation.

Stating that 23 per cent of American farmers know the aches and pains of the nation's leading crippler, the foundation added that every person with a tendency toward arthritis can lessen his chances of coming down with the disease. Drugs are now available to reduce inflammation and pain and lessen the danger of crippling.

The foundation pointed out it was not known why the farmer, who spends most of his life in the healthful outdoors, should be the nation's leading arthritis sufferer. Exposure to the elements may have something to do with it, the foundation believes. Hard physical labor over the years without letup, and a lack of relaxation, may also be involved.

Spectators Stand, Applaud New French Fall Fashions

PARIS, July 26 (AP) — Spectators stood up and cheered today when Christian Dior, opening the French fall fashion showings, presented a group of tweed day dresses nearly ankle-length.

Prolonged applause marked the end of the showing. The style revolutionist of New Look fame seems to have carried off another sensationally successful coup.

After stringbean figures and flat chests, Dior has re-emphasized the bust, dropped necklines and stuffed the hips. If the hips are not actually padded, they are puffed out by skirts set in with soft folds at the natural waistline and narrowed at the hem. Dior calls them Dutch skirts, and they resemble a magnet with the rounded end upward.

Capes are an important and presistent note of the new collection.

Dior's "magnet line" rounds the shoulders and bust, fits neatly at the waist, and blooms out over the hips to narrow again at the hem. At least, this is the double magnet silhouette of most dresses and suits. Coats make a single magnet line, with bulkiness at the shoulder narrowing to the hem.

Black and a new mole gray for day in rough tweeds and hairy homespun woolens give way to a burst of brilliant color—reds, blues greens and pink—in extravagantly embroidered or lame satins, velvets and chiffons for evening.

Besides cape jackets and cape coats, there are cape collars and cape drapes. They may be waist-length or hip-length.

Dior goes in for two innovations with materials—winter chiffon for cocktail and formal dresses and suede leather draped like cloth for soft blouses, coats and hats.

His hats go to extremes—high-crowned stovepipe cloches and fur Cossack caps for daytime, huge umbrellas and tiny tambourines for evening. Shoes are needle-pointed.

Terse Radio Messages Tell Story Of Ship Collision

NEW YORK, July 26 (AP)—Brief, tense radio messages told the story today of the collision of the Italian liner Andrea Doria and the Swedish-American liner Stockholm in the foggy waters off Nantucket.

Here are some of the messages picked up by the Coast Guard:

11:22 p.m. EDT—From the Stockholm: We have collided with another ship. Please (stand by). Ship in collision.

12:09 a.m.—From Stockholm: Badly damaged. Full bow crushed. Our No. 1 hold filled with water. We have to stay in our position. Help if you can.

12:22 a.m.—From Stockholm to Andrea Doria: Lower your life boats. We can pick you up.

12:35 a.m.—From Andrea Doria: We are too bending (listing). Impossible to put boats over side. Please send lifeboats immediately.

1:05 a.m.—From Liner Ile de France to freighter Cape Ann; Vessels near the scene. We shall be at area at 1:45 a.m. What can I do to help?

1:12 a.m.—Cape Ann to Ile de France: We have dispatched two lifeboats.

1:35 a.m.—Stockholm to Andrea Doria: We are launching all available lifeboats.

2:25 a.m.—Apparently from Stockholm: The Adrea Doria has begun to abandon ship.

3:05 a.m.—Stockholm to Ile de France: Our foreship damaged. Our No. 1 hold flooded. Otherwise ship all right. Will try to proceed to New York at full speed. If you are going to New York with passengers from Andrea Doria can we keep company?

3:07 a.m.—Ile de France to Stockholm: Will proceed New York full speed when all rescued. Please ask another ship. My schedule imperative.

3:30 a.m.—Stockholm: Urgent message to nearest Coast Guard station. Have three serious casualties aboard our ship from Andrea Doria who need immediate attention. Please investigate. If possible send helicopter to our position.

3:45 a.m.—Ile de France to Andrea Doria: I intend to return full speed to New York as soon as you will release me. Are you abandoning ship or do you stay on board with party? How many persons have you still got on board to evacuate, more or less?

4:25 a.m.—Stockholm to Andrea Doria: Have approximately 425 survivors aboard.

4:34 a.m.—Stockholm to Coast Guard: It is desired to give Andrea Doria your medical assistance. We have helicopter on way for our injured.

6:10 a.m.—Unidentified ship to Coast Guard: Andrea Doria listing heavily. The main deckline is at the water.

6:47 a.m.—Stockholm to Coast Guard: No radio contact with Andrea Doria. Apparently unable to use radio further.

7:30 a.m.—Cape Ann to Coast Guard: Our count is 168 survivors. They are all over and it is difficult. Two seriously injured. Bruises and shock plentiful but two doctors in attendance. Released by Coast Guard and proceeding at best speed. Used all lifeboats, very proud of conduct of officers and crew. Arrive Ambrose Light 5 p.m.

7:40 a.m.—Military transport Pvt. William Thomas to Coast Guard: No communication with Andrea Doria. Has 45-degree starboard list. Large gash below standard bridge wing. List increasing. Seaworthiness nil. Last report captain and 11 crew still on board. No passengers.

7:47 a.m.—Coast Guard plane escorting two helicopters; Landing on Stockholm by helicopter not feasible. Will try rescue by basket.

8 a.m.—Plane reported injured child rescued in basket.

8:30 a.m.—Coast Guard advised five injured removed from Stockholm by Helicopter.

10:55 a.m.—Coast Guard cutter messaged Andrea Doria sank at 10:09.

Bride-Elect Is Honored

Miss Judith Hollern, fiancee of James Poland, was honor guest of Mrs. Robert Mitter and Mrs. Dennis Perrin at a miscellaneous shower and prenuptial party at the home of the latter, Camden Avenue. The shower motif was carried out in miniature pink and white umbrellas.

The marriage of Miss Hollern, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Hollern, Midland, to Mr. Poland, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clement Poland, RD 1, Frostburg, will be performed August 11.

A graduate of Beall High School, the bride-elect is employed as a secretary at Allegany Ballistics Laboratory. Her fiance, also a graduate of Beall High School, served two years in the United States Navy, is attending State Teachers College, Frostburg, and is a part time employe of Dr. Walter E. Jeffries as an optician.

Guests included Mrs. Hollern, Mrs. Poland, Mrs. Edison Kesner, Mrs. John Kesner, Miss Mary Winters, Mrs. Fred Robinson, Mrs. Edward Hess, Mrs. Charles Schultz, Miss Naomi Parks, Mrs. John Repmann, Mrs. James Brailer, Mrs. James Koen, Miss Marietta Boyle, Mrs. George Winner, Mrs. John Kauffman and Mrs. Joseph Haywood.

Little Change In Food Price Level Forecast

WASHINGTON, July 26 (AP) — The current level of retail food prices will hold for the remainder of the year, the Agriculture Department forecast today.

It based its prediction on a combination of expanding consumer buying power and a slight downturn in supplies of some food. Recent increases in food prices helped push the cost of living to a record high level last month.

Murder Suspect Killed By Posse

Cole Slain In Gun Fight With Lawmen

Hid Out For Four Days After Killing On Preston Co. Farm

Wilson Cole, 44-year-old murder suspect was shot to death last night by law enforcement officers after he was trapped and opened fire on them near the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad station at Tunnelton, W. Va.

Cole was being sought in the murder of Mrs. Lena Lewis, 41, of Deep Creek, who was badly beaten and shot Monday on an isolated farm about five miles southwest of Terra Alta.

The shooting of Cole ended an extensive four-day search through the rough, wooded terrain of Preston County.

James T. Dailey, prosecuting attorney of Preston County and member of the posse, said last night Cole was trapped along the railroad by officers with bloodhounds.

Opens Fire

Cole apparently ran as far as he could, and after dodging among a number of empty boxcars, found he was trapped and opened fire. Officers returned his fire and killed him.

The shooting occurred about 300 yards east of the railroad station at 10:15 p.m. (EDT). Cole's body was found slumped on the ground with a pistol still grasped in his hand.

Dailey said a coroner's inquest would be held.

Cole had been seen twice earlier yesterday, and police at one time had fired warning shots at him, but he eluded the posse.

At 6 a. m. yesterday, a telephone caller notified the office of Sheriff W. R. Schooley, who was heading the posse, that Cole had been seen at the home of a brother, James Cole, four miles southwest of Kingwood.

Ignores Warning Shots

Warning shots fired into the air failed to stop him:

Later, at 1 p. m. he was seen in Tunnelton. The bloodhounds picked up his trail again, but lost it. Searchers then began working in shifts to try to confine Cole in a specific area. The plan bore fruit last night when the suspect was trapped in Tunnelton.

By the time Cole was killed, the searching party had grown to about 40 persons. Prosecutor Dailey yesterday had sworn in 12 Kingwood men as special deputies. Other searchers included police from West Virginia and Maryland. The bloodhounds were brought in Wednesday from the West Virginia State Penitentiary at Moundsville.

Last night, the searchers headed home, worn and tired after four full days of combing the rugged Preston County countryside. Dailey described the posse members as "footsore, legsore, and sore all over."

Details Not Certain

Details of the shooting of Mrs. Lewis remained uncertain last night. Dailey said he is not sure what happened between the time she and Cole left the country store they operated Sunday night and the time of the Monday evening killing on the farm of Cole's son Willard.

Mrs. Lewis apparently had been tied up and had been severely beaten before the murder. She was shot to death with a .22 calibre pistol.

Willard Cole's wife said the elder Cole had brought Mrs. Lewis to the farm in his car. She said she heard two shots, then saw him drag Mrs. Lewis from his car into the woods, where another shot was fired. Whether Mrs. Cole saw the actual shooting has not been established, Dailey said.

Clinic Is Planned

Touring Farmers See Twin Calves

Tourists And Coal Mines:

Kenney Suggests Industrial Expansion Plan For County

Promotion of the tourist and recreation industries, conservation of water resources, rehabilitation of the coal industry, improvement of highways and economic development of the eastern end of Allegany County were recommended yesterday as ways to increase jobs in the area.

The recommendation came from Francis A. Kenney, manager of the Cumberland office of Maryland Employment Security, speaking at a meeting of the Cumberland Kiwanis Club at Central YMCA.

Kenney said that in nine of the last 10 years Allegany County has received more in benefits than has been paid in unemployment taxes by county employers. Last year $649,620 was collected and $1,978,433 was paid out in benefits. The effect of the employment security program in this county has been the same as a major industrial payroll.

The worst record was in 1949, when $557,412 in taxes was collected and $4,469,227 paid out. The number of eligible claimants last year was 7,072, slightly lower than the 1954 figure of 8,004. The highest number during the past 10 years was 1949, when 14,432 individuals received benefit checks in the area.

A major effect of the employment security program, which began in Maryland and elsewhere around the country January 1, 1938, has been the elimination of the need for a federal relief program. Kenney said the employment program would be improved if more employers listed their job openings with the Employment Security office. That way "chiselers who really don't want to work" could be eliminated from the department rolls when they fail to accept offered employment.

Lamont Street Playground Names Queen

Officiating at the coronation scene was Sandra Twigg, the playground's 1955 queen.

With her attendants, Delenia Rhodes and Virginia Wilson, she will represent Lamont Street at the intra-city queen contest August 8 in City Hall, and in the city playground parade August 10.

The coronation ceremony followed an on wheels parade. Winners were Roxanne Stephens, most unusual; Lisa Stephens, smallest and best decorated, and Donald Rhodes, prettiest bicycle.

On Thursday, Hank Paige and Veida Clanagan won a cake walk.

A dance and cake walk will be held at the playground tonight following the city picnic. The best jitterbug dancers will be awarded prizes.

Last week's winners were Bob Cleggett and Sissy Wilson, and Jean Leath and Billy Peck.

Hat Show Held At Mt. Royal

Five prizes were awarded in a hat show held last night at Mt. Royal Playground.

Connie VanOrmer won the prize for the smallest hat; Karen McCormick, largest; Nancy Naughton, most original; Sally Creegan, most unusual, and Kay Lynn Dowell, prettiest.

Members of the playground who plan to attend the city playground picnic at Constitution Park should meet at the playground today at 9:45 a. m. with their lunches.

12 More Register

Talk about the impending November Presidential election apparently is providing only a mild stimulus to registration of new voters with the Allegany County Board of Election Supervisors in the Court House basement.

In the past six working days, Irvin J. Neat and William McDermott, the registrars, have signed up 12 more prospective new voters. They were equally divided, six being Democrats and six Republicans. Three men and three women registered with each party. Since the poll books were reopened May 17 the total of new registrants is 77—43 Republicans, 33 Democrats and one independent.

Wilbur Perrin Is Named To County FHA Committee

Wilbur L. Perrin of Flintstone is the new member of the Farmers Home Administration Committee for Allegany County, according to B. Beeson Snyder, FHA supervisor for the county.

Perrin succeeds Raymond M. Slider of Oldtown, whose term expired this year. Other members are Ralph W. Ferguson, RFD 2, city, and Marshall R. Porter, RFD 2, Frostburg. Perrin operates a livestock farm near Flintstone.

Each agricultural county in the country has a similar committee of three members responsible for determining ioan applicants' eligibility, certifying the value of farms being purchased or improved through FHA loans, and making recommendations on loan approvals and loan servicing actions.

The committee works with the county supervisor in connection with all types of loans. They include farm operating loans and loans to buy, improve or enlarge efficient family type farms in this area. They also include loans to farmers or their non-profit associations to establish and carry on approved soil and water conservation practices, including improving permanent pastures, terracing, soil erosion measures, farmstead water systems, irrigation, drainage and many other conservation practices.

No loan of any type can be approved for an applicant whose credit needs can be handled adequately by other credit sources.

Snyder is FHA supervisor for both Allegany and Garrett counties. His office is located in the Garrett National Bank Building, Oakland. He has office hours at the office of Allegany County Agent Joseph M. Steger at the Court House the first and third Monday of each month from 2 until 4 p. m.

Septic Tank Installation Rules Set Up

Health Department Lists Procedure

Builders and contractors are being notified by the Allegany County Health Department of a five-point program required for the installation of septic tanks.

The following, according to Dr. Winter R. Frantz, health officer, is absolutely necessary before a septic tank system is installed:

A permit to construct or reconstruct an excretia disposal system must be secured from the Health Department.

A building permit must be secured from the office of the County Commissioners.

Test Is Required

A percolation test must be made to determine the absorption capacity of the soil for septic tank effluent. This must be done by the Health Department, which will furnish the information to the builder.

All septic tank systems must be installed according to the laws of Maryland and the Allegany County Health Department.

Trenches must not be filled in until the system is checked and a certificate is issued by the Health Department.

Dr. Frantz said that raw or partially treated sewage cannot be discharged into any pond, lake or water course, and that where public sewerage systems are not available, an approved type of treatment system must be installed.

Asked By Lenders

This must consist of a septic tank and the underground disposition of the effluent.

Lending institutions, it was pointed out, are demanding that home sewage systems function properly before making loans against the property.

In all future developments, officials said, minimum lot requirements will be enforced. This calls for 20,000-square-foot lots where water is available without pressure or by drilled wells and half as much if water under pressure is available.

Second Rattlesnake Is Killed In City

A four-foot rattlesnake in the front yard of 901 Balmoral Road yesterday afternoon was killed by city police.

This is the second such snake killed in The Dingle in as many days. When Lt. Raymond Johnston and Officer Walter Crabtree reported to the residence they found the snake coiled around a small pine tree. They said it had five rattles and a button. S. Lua Sykes killed a rattlesnake near his home in The Dingle Wednesday night. It was about three feet long and had nine rattles.

Volleyball Champions Are Named

Penn Avenue Playground teams last night won two of three championship contests in the volleyball tournament being held on the city's 16 playgrounds.

The record games were played before a large crowd which turned up at North End Playground to cheer teams representing Northern and Southern divisions.

In the Pigtail league, a Penn Avenue team defeated its North End Playground opponents 15-6 and 15-1.

The team was formed by Barbara Largent, Cora, Eleanor and Betty Leatherman, Carol Kline, Barbara Joyce, Gerry Stevenson, Joyce Holshey and Barbara Shaffer.

Playing on its home grounds, the North End Playground volleyball team won a close match with a Penn Avenue team to win the Junior Division championship.

North End lost the first game 12-15 and won the next two games and the title by scores of 15-10 and 16-14.

In the North End lineup were Michael Mackert, Bernard Barbe, Carroll Wilt, Alan Kaplon, Gary Millegan and Raymond Fogle.

In the Senior Division, the Penn Avenue team, the Southern Division champion, defeated a West Side team 15-6 and 15-7.

Alan Largent, Charles Jankey, Thomas Joyce, James Beck, Charles Howe and Harold Shriver comprised the winning team.

Food Applications Will Be Taken

The Associated Charities will take applications for September surplus foods July 30 through August 3, according to Miss Jeannette Bonig, executive secretary.

Applications will be taken from 9 a. m. to noon and from 1 to 4 p. m. at the agency's office in City Hall.

Suffers Head Injury

Robert Ritchie, 48, of 303 Greene Street, was admitted to Sacred Heart Hospital about 5 p. m. yesterday for treatment of a head injury. He was found lying in front of the Dutch Kitchen on Lee Street but could offer no explanation to hospital attaches as to how he got there.

Jurors Decide For Defendant In $75,000 Suit

Mrs. Lepley Loses In Court Here

After deliberating only 38 minutes, a jury in Allegany County Circuit Court yesterday returned a verdict for the defendant, James H. Barrett of Newark, Ohio, in a $75,000 damage suit which had been brought against him by Mrs. Cora Lepley, 355 Bedford Street.

Mrs. Lepley contended that she suffered severe and permanent injuries to her head, arms, shoulders, legs and other parts of her body when struck by a car driven by Barrett along U. S. Route 220 in front of the Amcelle plant of Celanese on the night of April 16, 1954.

The suit originally also named Barrett's father, William V. Barrett, also of Newark, owner of the car, as a defendant. However, Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris, who presided at the trial, dismissed the case insofar as it concerned the elder Barrett.

Mrs. Lepley, who was employed in the spinning department at Celanese, had left a bus along U. S. Route 220 and was walking across the highway at the time of the accident. The bus had carried her beyond the cross walk on the highway, it was testified. Barrett was driving toward Cumberland.

Tfc. Lindberg Cook of the State Police, who investigated, was one of the witnesses at the trial. He testified that it was foggy on the night of the accident, which occurred about 10:20 p. m.

Harold E. Naughton was attorney for Mrs. Lepley, while W. Earle Cobey, this city, and J. Gilbert Prendergast of Baltimore represented the defendant. William J. Aumiller was foreman of the jury of 10 men and two women.

Testimony was given by Barrett, Tfc. Cook, Mrs. Lepley, Dr. N. L. Barger, local dentist, and Dr. James T. Johnson, local physician. A deposition made by Virginia R. Winkler, a passenger in the Barrett car at the time of the accident, was read into the record.

Randall Resigns Office Of Md. State Secretary

ANNAPOLIS, July 26 (AP) — Blanchard Randall Jr., the first man to hold the job on a full-time basis, resigned today as Maryland's Secretary of State.

The 62-year-old longtime power in State Republican politics took over the post in January 1955, when its salary was raised from $2,500 a year to $10,000.

Although the secretary and Gov. McKeldin had been reported at odds recently, the governor said he was accepting the resignation with reluctance.

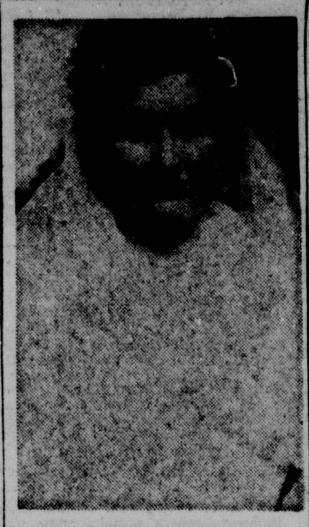
"He has done a good job," said McKeldin, "and I am sorry to see him go."

Randall agreed to remain in office until Sept. 1, when he plans to return to private business. Before becoming Secretary of State he had served as one of McKeldin's administrative assistants.

In 1935 Randall was the Republican candidate for mayor of Baltimore and in 1944 he was nominated to the United States Senate.

He was named secretary after a 1954 amendment to the State Constitution removed the $2,500 salary ceiling and a requirement, which had long been ignored by holders of the office, that the secretary reside in Annapolis.

Russell H. McCain, appointed by McKeldin as an executive assistant last Tuesday, is expected to assume some of the duties of the secretary's office.



MRS. ORSOLA MARINELLI

Local Family Awaits Ship Survivor

Bride On Way Here To Join Husband

Members of a local Italian family last night anxiously awaited word of Mrs. Orsola Marinelli, about 25, who was aboard the Italian Liner Andrea Doria, which sank yesterday morning in the Atlantic Ocean following a collision with the Swedish liner Stockholm.

They had received no word by late last night whether Mrs. Marinelli, who was married to Louis Marinelli, of 132 Grand Avenue, at her home in Italy last November, escaped injury in the tragedy.

Louis came to the United States about nine years ago to live here, and became a naturalized citizen several years ago.

They are expected to arrive in Cumberland this evening by bus, his sister reported.

At least five persons died in the collision, and about 50 are still missing.

Sunny Weather Shortlived As Rains Return

The weatherman just doesn't seem to want a good thing to last—the sunny summer weather of Wednesday, that is.

Typical rainy weather prevalent during the month of July was back again yesterday as a thundershower hit Cumberland about 5:20 p.m. However, the shower didn't last too long.

Forecast for today—you guessed it—cloudy and warm with scattered thundershowers likely in the afternoon or evening. Similar weather is expected to prevail in nearby West Virginia, Pennsylvania and Virginia.

Fire Radio Net May Drop Insurance Rate

Cities using two-way radio for communications between headquarters and equipment in the field will benefit by lower insurance rates, according to Fire Chief Virgil A. Parker.

He said the National Board of Fire Underwriters is revising its rating schedule for cities to reflect the use of radio for communications such as has been installed here.

For years, he said, fire insurance rates for cities have been partially based on a rating survey, held by the Fire Underwriters, which covered such items as water supply, building restrictions and fire apparatus.

Until recently, he said, no recognized weight was assigned to the use of two-way radio.

Street Oiling Program Will Begin Monday

Work To Start In East Side Section

Weather permitting, Street Department crews will begin oiling streets between Frederick and Bedford streets Monday morning, according to Street Commissioner William H. Buchholtz.

Work, he said, will include the grading, shaping and oiling of the thoroughfares intersecting with the two streets.

Commissioner Buchholtz said the streets are being oiled as a temporary measure, until ordinances can be prepared and passed for temporary surfacing of the area, if the people so desire.

He cautioned that the streets must be dry before the oiling program gets under way. Rain over the weekend might make it necessary to defer the work.

Plans have not been completed at present, he said, for other phases of the street oiling program.

As an alternative to the oiling, which must be done each year and is costly over a number of years, the City of Cumberland last year embarked on a program of light and more permanent surfacing of streets.

As a result, some nine miles of city streets and two miles of alleys were surfaced last year and will not need attention for a number of years.

Portions or all of 46 streets were improved last year, according to records of the City Engineering Department.

Evidence From Illegal Search Is Thrown Out

Trial Magistrate Donald W. Mason yesterday threw out evidence which he ruled was obtained in an illegal manner, but found Donal D. Thompson, 235 Elder Street, guilty of petty larceny on the basis of other evidence.

Thompson, charged with the theft of $3 worth of gas from a parked truck behind the B & O YMCA, was given a suspended sentence of 30 days in Allegany County Jail.

At the trial July 6, Edward J. Ryan, attorney for the defendant, asked that the charge be dismissed on grounds that Thompson had been illegally arrested and that his car had been illegally searched. Mason took this into consideration and reserved his decision until yesterday.

Thompson was arrested June 21 in a South End restaurant, was placed in jail for several hours and was booked as being held for investigation.

After he had been there for a short time, an officer searched his car. Evidence revealed that Thompson was not present when the search took place and a rubber hose was found.

Ryan pointed out that the charge was a misdemeanor and that the arresting officer did not have a warrant, as is required when the crime is not committed in the presence of the officer.

The piece of rubber hose which was found in Thompson's car was not admissable as evidence at the trial because of the illegal search of Thompson's car.

Mason ruled, however, that improper search or other action taken by authorities before a warrant is issued does not constitute a defense. He went on to find Thompson guilty on the basis of testimony of witnesses who presented other evidence to establish that Thompson had taken the gas.

School Workers Vote On Social Security

Some 145 custodial and cafeteria employes in the Allegany County public schools voted Wednesday and yesterday in the special referedum on Social Security coverage.

The ballots will not be counted until today but it was understood that the vast majority announced publicly in favor of the coverage before casting their secret ballots.

Heaviest voting yesterday was at the Board of Education office where 62 employes working in Cumberland schools voted.

Other totals yesterday included 24 at Beall High School in Frostburg, 12 each at Valley High School in Lonaconing and Bruce High School in Westernport, 10 at Mt. Savage, seven at Cresaptown, five at Barton and two at Midland. Joseph T. Downey, supervisor of maintenance in the county school system, went to all these points yesterday to collect the ballots.

Wednesday afternoon 11 ballots were received, seven at Flintstone and four at Oldtown. Downey said he could account for only 16 employes who had failed to vote in the special referendum, and most of them were away on vacation trips.

Murder Suspect Killed By Posse

Hid Out For Four Days After Killing On Preston Co. Farm

Wilson Cole, 44-year-old murder suspect was shot to death last night by law enforcement officers after he was trapped and opened fire on them near the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad station at Tunnelton, W. Va.

Cole was being sought in the murder of Mrs. Lena Lewis, 41, of Deep Creek, who was badly beaten and shot Monday on an isolated farm about five miles southwest of Terra Alta.

The shooting of Cole ended an extensive four-day search through the rough, wooded terrain of Preston County.

James T. Dailey, prosecuting attorney of Preston County and member of the posse, said last night Cole was trapped along the railroad by officers with bloodhounds.

Opens Fire

Cole apparently ran as far as he could, and after dodging among a number of empty boxcars, found he was trapped and opened fire. Officers returned his fire and killed him.

The shooting occurred about 300 yards east of the railroad station at 10:15 p. m. (EDT). Cole's body was found slumped on the ground with a pistol still grasped in his hand.

Dailey said a coroner's inquest would be held.

Cole had been seen twice earlier yesterday, and police at one time had fired warning shots at him, but he eluded the posse.

At 6 a. m. yesterday, a telephone caller notified the office of Sheriff W. R. Schooley, who was heading the posse, that Cole had been seen at the home of a brother, James Cole, four miles southwest of Kingwood.

Ignores Warning Shots

As members of the search party neared the farmhouse, Cole ran from the building, headed through some brush and dropped out of sight down a hill.

Warning shots fired into the air failed to stop him:

Later, at 1 p. m. he was seen in Tunnelton. The bloodhounds picked up his trail again, but lost it. Searchers then began working in shifts to try to confine Cole in a specific area. The plan bore fruit last night when the suspect was trapped in Tunnelton.

By the time Cole was killed, the searching party had grown to about 40 persons. Prosecutor Dailey yesterday had sworn in 12 Kingwood men as special deputies. Other searchers included police from West Virginia and Maryland. The bloodhounds were brought in Wednesday from the West Virginia State Penitentiary at Moundsville.

Last night, the searchers headed home, worn and tired after four full days of combing the rugged Preston County countryside. Dailey described the posse members as "footsore, legsore, and sore all over."

Details Not Certain

Details of the shooting of Mrs. Lewis remained uncertain last night. Dailey said he is not sure what happened between the time she and Cole left the country store they operated Sunday night and the time of the Monday evening killing on the farm of Cole's son Willard.

Mrs. Lewis apparently had been tied up and had been severely beaten before the murder. She was shot to death with a .22 calibre pistol.

Willard Cole's wife said the elder Cole had brought Mrs. Lewis to the farm in his car. She said she heard two shots, then saw him drag Mrs. Lewis from his car into the woods, where another shot was fired. Whether Mrs. Cole saw the actual shooting has not been established, Dailey said.

Testimony was given by Barrett, Tfc. Cook, Mrs. Lepley, Dr. N. L. Barger, local dentist, and Dr. James T. Johnson, local physician. A deposition made by Virginia R. Winkler, a passenger in the Barrett car at the time of the accident, was read into the record.

Randall Resigns Office Of Md. State Secretary

ANNAPOLIS, July 26 (AP) — Blanchard Randall Jr., the first man to hold the job on a full-time basis, resigned today as Maryland's Secretary of State.

The 62-year-old longtime power in State Republican politics took over the post in January 1955, when its salary was raised from $2,500 a year to $10,000.

Although the secretary and Gov. McKeldin had been reported at odds recently, the governor said he was accepting the resignation with reluctance.

"He has done a good job," said McKeldin, "and I am sorry to see him go."

Randall agreed to remain in office until Sept. 1, when he plans to return to private business. Before becoming Secretary of State he had served as one of McKeldin's administrative assistants.

In 1935 Randall was the Republican candidate for mayor of Baltimore and in 1944 he was nominated to the United States Senate.

He was named secretary after a 1954 amendment to the State Constitution removed the $2,500 salary ceiling and a requirement, which had long been ignored by holders of the office, that the secretary reside in Annapolis.

Russell H. McCain, appointed by McKeldin as an executive assistant last Tuesday, is expected to assume some of the duties of the secretary's office.

MRS. ORSOLA MARINELLI

Bride On Way Here To Join Husband

Members of a local Italian family last night anxiously awaited word of Mrs. Orsola Marinelli, about 25, who was aboard the Italian Liner Andrea Doria, which sank yesterday morning in the Atlantic Ocean following a collision with the Swedish liner Stockholm.

They had received no word by late last night whether Mrs. Marinelli, who was married to Louis Marinelli, of 132 Grand Avenue, at her home in Italy last November, escaped injury in the tragedy.

Louis came to the United States about nine years ago to live here, and became a naturalized citizen several years ago.

They are expected to arrive in Cumberland this evening by bus, his sister reported.

At least five persons died in the collision, and about 50 are still missing.

Sunny Weather Shortlived As Rains Return

The weatherman just doesn't seem to want a good thing to last—the sunny summer weather of Wednesday, that is.

Typical rainy weather prevalent during the month of July was back again yesterday as a thundershower hit Cumberland about 5:20 p.m. However, the shower didn't last too long.

Forecast for today—you guessed it—cloudy and warm with scattered thundershowers likely in the afternoon or evening. Similar weather is expected to prevail in nearby West Virginia, Pennsylvania and Virginia.

Fire Radio Net May Drop Insurance Rate

Cities using two-way radio for communications between headquarters and equipment in the field will benefit by lower insurance rates, according to Fire Chief Virgil A. Parker.

He said the National Board of Fire Underwriters is revising its rating schedule for cities to reflect the use of radio for communications such as has been installed here.

For years, he said, fire insurance rates for cities have been partially based on a rating survey, held by the Fire Underwriters, which covered such items as water supply, building restrictions and fire apparatus.

Until recently, he said, no recognized weight was assigned to the use of two-way radio.

Street Oiling Program Will Begin Monday

Work To Start In East Side Section

Weather permitting, Street Department crews will begin oiling streets between Frederick and Bedford streets Monday morning, according to Street Commissioner William H. Buchholtz.

Work, he said, will include the grading, shaping and oiling of the thoroughfares intersecting with the two streets.

Commissioner Buchholtz said the streets are being oiled as a temporary measure, until ordinances can be prepared and passed for temporary surfacing of the area, if the people so desire.

He cautioned that the streets must be dry before the oiling program gets under way. Rain over the weekend might make it necessary to defer the work.

Plans have not been completed at present, he said, for other phases of the street oiling program.

As an alternative to the oiling, which must be done each year and is costly over a number of years, the City of Cumberland last year embarked on a program of light and more permanent surfacing of streets.

As a result, some nine miles of city streets and two miles of alleys were surfaced last year and will not need attention for a number of years.

Portions or all of 46 streets were improved last year, according to records of the City Engineering Department.

Evidence From Illegal Search Is Thrown Out

Trial Magistrate Donald W. Mason yesterday threw out evidence which he ruled was obtained in an illegal manner, but found Donal D. Thompson, 235 Elder Street, guilty of petty larceny on the basis of other evidence.

Thompson, charged with the theft of $3 worth of gas from a parked truck behind the B & O YMCA, was given a suspended sentence of 30 days in Allegany County Jail.

At the trial July 6, Edward J. Ryan, attorney for the defendant, asked that the charge be dismissed on grounds that Thompson had been illegally arrested and that his car had been illegally searched. Mason took this into consideration and reserved his decision until yesterday.

Thompson was arrested June 21 in a South End restaurant, was placed in jail for several hours and was booked as being held for investigation.

After he had been there for a short time, an officer searched his car. Evidence revealed that Thompson was not present when the search took place and a rubber hose was found.

Ryan pointed out that the charge was a misdemeanor and that the arresting officer did not have a warrant, as is required when the crime is not committed in the presence of the officer.

The piece of rubber hose which was found in Thompson's car was not admissable as evidence at the trial because of the illegal search of Thompson's car.

Mason ruled, however, that improper search or other action taken by authorities before a warrant is issued does not constitute a defense. He went on to find Thompson guilty on the basis of testimony of witnesses who presented other evidence to establish that Thompson had taken the gas.

School Workers Vote On Social Security

Some 145 custodial and cafeteria employes in the Allegany County public schools voted Wednesday and yesterday in the special referedum on Social Security coverage.

The ballots will not be counted until today but it was understood that the vast majority announced publicly in favor of the coverage before casting their secret ballots.

Heaviest voting yesterday was at the Board of Education office where 62 employes working in Cumberland schools voted.

Other totals yesterday included 24 at Beall High School in Frostburg, 12 each at Valley High School in Lonaconing and Bruce High School in Westernport, 10 at Mt. Savage, seven at Cresaptown, five at Barton and two at Midland. Joseph T. Downey, supervisor of maintenance in the county school system, went to all these points yesterday to collect the ballots.

Wednesday afternoon 11 ballots were received, seven at Flintstone and four at Oldtown. Downey said he could account for only 16 employes who had failed to vote in the special referendum, and most of them were away on vacation trips.
